Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKennan, at May Term of the Circuit Court in the above case:
In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania.—R. A. Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—No. 1.—May Term 1873.—In Equity.
November 21, 1872. Bill filed and subpoena issued.
A subpoena and notice of application for preliminary injunction served.
December 13, 1872. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised on the premises, the injunction awarded as prayed for, and decree thereon.
January 14, 1873. Injunction issued, and on the 20th day of January return thereon served, personally and by copy.
May 22, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction served.
June 24, 1873. Rule for attachment in this case came on to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised on the premises, the Rule is made absolute, and the sentence of the Court is, that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of ten days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.
June 25, 1873. Commitment issued.

The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No. — (called the "Boat Patent"), for increasing the productivity of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in using Alexandra Harzer in exploring torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Harzer was also committed in the case No. 2, No. —, November Term, 1872, as before stated.

The Court McKennan, J. after delivering the opinion in the Harzer case, proceeded to sentence Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following and opinion:
In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with contempt, I am entirely satisfied that there was a contempt in the case, and that the defendant is liable to the costs of the case, and that the presence of fluid in the well, whether by accident or not, is an infringement of the patent, and is a breach of the injunction of the Court.

Mr Roberts, by his patent uses as one of the principal elements of his invention fluid tapping, and wherever there is fluid sufficient in a well, at the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to operate on tapping, whether it gets there naturally or is put there artificially, his patent is infringed. This is exactly the case in regard to the Harzer well.

But Mr Geyer seems to have been misled by Harzer, who told him that he merely wanted to make an experiment, and I do not think that he has the first time that he ought to be very carefully punished.

It is also adjudged guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding, and to be imprisoned in the county jail for ten days. I hope it will be the last of the season; but if the matter comes to court next spring, we will be constrained to impose such punishment as will be made the decree of the Court effectual.
