Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKennan, at May Term of the Circuit Court in the above case:

In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania.—E. A. L. Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—No. 1.—May Term 1873.—In Equity.

November 21, 1872. Bill filed and subpœna issued.

Subpœna and notice of application for preliminary injunction served.

December 13, 1872. Motion for preliminar injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised in the premises; the injunction awarded as prayed for, and decree filed.

January 14, 1873. Injunction issued, under the 29th day of January indictment served personally and by copy.

May 22, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction and duly served.

June 24, 1873. Rule for attachment in this case came on to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised in the premises, the rule is made absolute and the sentence of the Court is, that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of six days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.

June 30, 1873. Committ issued.

The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No.—, and the Bay Tree oil well, for her using the principles of said patent, in the Penn well at least. As I have intimated to the counsel in the course of the argument, the presence of fluid in the well, whether it is oil or not, is an infringement of the patent, and not one of the ingredients of the invention of the Court.

Mr. Roberts, by his patent uses as one of the principal elements of his invention fluid tamping, and wherever there is fluid sufficient in a well, at the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to operate as tamping whether it goes there naturally or is put there artificially, his patent is infringed. This was clearly the case in regard to the Beals well.

But Mr. Geyer seems to have been misled by Flanner, who told him that he merely wanted to make an experiment; and I do not think that having the first time, that he ought to be very severely punished.

He also is adjudged guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding and undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for ten days. I hope this will be the last of the sentences; because, if the matter comes to our notice again we will be constrained to impose such punishment as will tend to make the decree of the Court effective.
