Dr. W. H. Witmor resides at 928 Filbert street, Philadelphia. He remits us his photo and an advertisement with a request to publish the same for six months and he will at the expiration of that time pay the little indebtedness. Dr. your frontispiece is shaped too much like the Peter Funks of Chatham street, to admit of our being guided by you. None of the people here, Dr., are troubled with dyspepsia, melancholy, aberration, rheumatism, epilepsy, piles or salt rheum, consequently have no use for your medicated jacket. They can use crude oil to better advantage and stand a better chance of living than by using your wonderful resurrection grease. Nobody has a tape worm in this vicinity, and the nearest approach to a picture of one of those "antimiles" we ever saw is the handle on the ugly looking mug of yours. If cheek will introduce your wonderful ointment it will be done, and the people may expect to die faster than yellow jack took them off at Memphis. That cheek of yours, Dr., as represented in your photo, bears a close resemblance to the flank of an army mule. Below we give a correct picture of the Dr. taken from the photograph. Gaze upon it ye sick and afflicted and think of the virtues of Witmor's pomade of life which is alike good for the toothache or rheumatism:

Where is the next patient?

OIL NEWS.—A new well was completed on the Pearce farm, upper Bennehoff Run on Saturday last, which when the tools were drawn had over six hundred feet of oil in the hole. The well has 30 feet of fine pebbly sand rock as the region affords. It adjoins the Bailey & Gilmore tract, and is owned by Imel, Andrews, Lukins and others. Will undoubtedly prove a good well. It was to have been tubed yesterday. No. 1, Watson tract, Storey farm, is a dry hole.

Bailey and Gilmore well No. 1, Hamilton farm, is doing 12 barrels daily; No. 2, same farm, 8 barrels; Bailey & Gilmore No. 3, Young Tommy Hamilton farm, doing nine barrels; No. 4, same farm, just commenced drilling.

Irwin Woods & Egbert well, Pearce farm, is doing about 8 barrels daily. Columbia boys well, also on the Pearce farm, is doing 12 barrels per day.

A few new wells are drilling, and should oil command a decent figure again, a good many more would be commenced, as there is undoubtedly a good deal of good territory thereabouts.

The beauty of the wells on the upper Bennehoff territory is their length of life. Well drilled nearly a year ago are pumping as much to-day as when started.

A Lost Husband Returned.

A man named T. Deitrich, a German, and a shoemaker by trade, who formerly resided in Petroleum Centre, but lately lived in this city, left here mysteriously in January last, leaving behind a wife and two children. The deserted woman searched everywhere for her lost husband, advertised for him, and used every endeavor to learn of his whereabouts. At last she gave up all hope of ever seeing him again, and believing him dead, about two months since married again this time to a man named Lew Smith, a laborer, and is keeping house in this city. Last night her former husband arrived in Tuscarora, with the expectation of meeting his wife and children. He did not know of her second marriage until he visited her house last evening, and the meeting of the two can be better imagined than described. Deitrich, when he left the oil regions, went to New York, where he was taken sick and was closely confined to his bed the most of his time during his absence. He says he has written to his wife several times, but never received any reply from her. She has visited New York in search of him, and says she has never received any letters or word from him. Her second husband is not inclined to give her up; in fact Deitrich, last evening, after having an interview with his wife and Smith, was rather timid, on account of the actions of Smith, and called on a Police to go with him to a hotel where he could obtain a bed, saying he was afraid of Smith. Deitrich was accordingly shown to the American Hotel, where he retired for the night. He intends to investigate the matter further to-day, and will secure his wife again if possible. The woman seems inclined to show more affection to her first husband, and is desirous of claiming him again as her own.

We find the above in the Titusville Courier of this morning. The circumstances of the desertion of Deitrich, leaving his wife and children in an almost starving condition, are well known here. The woman had subsisted by charity a long time before Deitrich left. The case has something of an Enoch Arden romance about it.

Ed. SUTHERLAND.—We noticed a day or two since, that a report had been circulated that Ed. Sutherland had died of heart disease. The Sand Pump, published at Millertown, was led into the error of announcing his death, and retracts as follows: Mr. Ed. Sutherland, whom we killed yesterday with heart disease, was in our sanatorium last evening, and asked as a special favor that we would not bury him for a few days as his business was in an unsettled condition. We are constrained, very reluctantly to comply with his request, but we now give notice that we are not to be bamboozled in that way very often. When we write a man down as dead, denude, played-out corpse, we want him to distinctly understand that he has to abide by it. However, the story of Ed. Sutherland's death was told us in good faith, and the tears we sopped over his silent grave were the genuine article.

Dr. J. H. Heivley, of Oil City, desires us to inform the public that he has left town for a short time to attend the Susquehanna Dental Convention to be held at Williamsport. He will be on deck again to attend to business on Monday, Nov. 17, 1873. The Dr. is gaining a deserved reputation as a dentist and is building up a good business in the oil region.

GRAND CONCERT.

On Wednesday evening next, the Plumer Choral Union, of Plumer, will give another grand concert in the U. P. Church, on which occasion they will be assisted by Mrs. M. Brandon, of Franklin, Miss Bonner, of Cambridge, Prof. Clark Sidmonds, of Oil City, J. Waddell of Petroleum Centre and others. A choice programme is prepared consisting of Choruses, Anthems, Quartets, Duets, Solos, &c., &c. Prof. F. P. Boynton, Conductor. Prof. C. Sidmonds, Organist. Concert for the benefit of the Society. Admission 35 cts. Doors open at 7 o'clock. Commence at 7 1/2.

The woman Anna Patten, who was arrested several days ago on the charge of forgery, but has since been under the care of Dr. Frank, of this city, was yesterday turned over to the police authorities. She is charged with forging James S. McCray's signature to notes to the amount of several thousand dollars. [Titusville Herald.]

In Troy, on Wednesday last a bunch of shiggins fell from a wagon on the ferry boat and struck fairly on the head of a colored woman, who exclaimed: "Youghterder b' shame to mure a cullud woman's har dat way I wish de shiggins fell ovahboard!"

The Chautauque News tells of an old lady who died from the effects of an accident in Mayville, and closes with the remark that she lived "forty-eight hours to a minute." Got the time down pretty fine, or did the old lady postpone her fall until the reporter arrived with a stop watch?

TOOK NOTICE.

Taking into consideration the dullness of the times and the low price of oil, not speaking of the scarcity of money, I have concluded to reduce the price of BENZINE delivered at the wells to $1.00 per barrel. My motto is live and let live. Pay me a call before going elsewhere and I will satisfy you as to quality and price of Benzine. Old stand Railroad track on Fourth Street.

W. A. LAZIER. Petroleum Centre, Oct. 23, 1873.

There is a just one of the peace in Iowa before whom a citizen had presented his daughter's lover for ejecting him from his own parlor the Sunday evening previous, who solemnly decided as follows: "I 'pear' that this young feller was courtin' the plain-tiff's gal in plaintiff's parlor, and that plaintiff intruded, and was put out by defendant. Courtin' is a necessity, and must not be interrupted. Therefore the laws of Iowa will hold that a parent has no legal right in a room where courtin' is afoot, and so the defendant is discharged and the plaintiff must pay costs."

Fire at Triumph City.

The drug store of Webb Allen, including the entire stock, was destroyed by fire Sunday evening at 10 o'clock. The loss is $3,500, upon which there was insurance of $2,000. The buildings on the opposite side of the street was considerably scorched, but none destroyed.

Last night at 8 o'clock a son of J. W. Coe, about twenty years, caught a young girl, aged fourteen years, daughter of Ed. Ward Seelye, by the throat as she was entering her home in the upper part of Tid-joute. Her cries aroused the neighbors, who gave chase and found the guilty party. He was arrested this morning and held under $100 bail to appear at the next term of Court.

Why is a solar eclipse like a woman whipping her boy? Because it's hiding of the sun.

The Mayor of Bacon Vista, Butler county, has agreed that the saloon keepers may keep open on Sunday, if they will keep their liquors out of sight. This arrangement is satisfactory, for their customers cheerfully assist them in hiding their liquors.

Major Pauline Cushman crowded a young man by Six Francisco a few days ago for talking about her. After the affair she went to the individual from whom she had borrowed the whip, and said: "Mr. Ingalls, I have ruined your whipstock, but it was in a good cause. I want you to give me its dimensions and I will purchase another for you, and will have it silver mounted, and it shall bear the inscription: 'Presented by Major Pauline Cushman (the scout of the Chamberland) to N. P. Ingalls, in return for one she broke over the back of William Sayres, September 26, 1873, for aspersing her reputation.'"

Twelve years have passed since specie payments was suspended, and it is estimated that, at this time, at least one-third of the population of the United States are wholly unacquainted with the national coin.

We believe the universal cry of hard times, indulged in by the newspapers, is out of place, and has much to do with depressing the public feeling. Keep a good show in front, and where you see a ray of sunshine capture it, and then crow.

For the Ladies.

Head trimming is coming into fashion again with great rapidity. Dark blue cloth redingotes over black silks are graceful and stylish. In door costumes have very little trimming and are made with trains. Chinese silk dresses are the newest. They appear to illustrate the animals of Noah's yoke on a wide surface of white silk.

Black net veils are worn by many young ladies. They are not made with a hem and do not venture to hand lower than the nose.

Wax flowers are used to ornament the new bouquets. Wax flower parties promise to be a feature of the coming fashionable season.

Imitations camel's hair shawls are very cleverly made and difficult to detect from the genuine. The former cost $100 and the latter $1,000.

A necklace of small gold beads sewed on black or blue velvet is very elegant and of itself is the only jewelry necessary for full evening dress.

Black Japanese buttons with gilt or silver figures in the centre are exhibited on redingotes. They are exceedingly odd and pretty.

Waists are now made in the English style with broad back devoid of seams, as there are no side bodies. This is peculiar, to say the least.

Old-fashioned black velvet mantillas will be worn next winter. They are covered with exquisite raised embroidery, sprinkled with jet.

Embroidery has never been as popular and fashionable as now. The new designs for raised embroidery are in the Oriental style.

PITTSBURGH, November 10.

The United States Commissioners to inquire into the causes of steam boiler explosions, who met in New York on Saturday, will meet in Pittsburgh on Tuesday, November 18. Experiments will be made on Wednesday, the 19th, upon three new boilers, each being twenty-four feet long by forty inches in diameter, with two fourteen inch return flues in each. Two of the boilers are of iron and one of steel, and they were constructed especially for this test.

GOOD ADVICE.—The following item we clip from the Pittsburgh Commercial in regard to employment in that city: "We hear that, already, quite a number of operatives who have been discharged from the suspended industries in neighboring districts, are beginning to flock into this city. To people of this class our advice is keep away, and we call upon the press of other localities to give currency to our admonition. Instead of being able to furnish employment to idle workers, our industrial establishments have generally been compelled to reduce the pay of their own employees, in order to avert the necessity of discharging them."

A writer in the Californian delivers a Sunday school address of which the following passage is an example: "You boys ought to be kind to your little sisters. I know a bad boy who struck his little sister a blow over the eye. Although she didn't fade and die in the early summer time, when the June roses were blowing, with the sweet words of forgiveness on her pallid lips, she rose up and hit him over the head with a rolling pin, so that he couldn't go to Sunday School for more than a month on account of not being able to put his best hat on."

The foxglove bells are tolling autumn hours,

The hours of ever-shortening silver day;

The hours that see the moon in full array

Rain on the earth her radiant rippling showers;

The twilight hours that hear the robin's lute;

The morning hours that see the spider's line

From branch to branch in dewy splendor shine;

The colder hours that see the bramble's fruit

Blush on its purple path, as Winter's foot is heard approaching on the sighing pine.

A Pennsylvania clergyman has made a hit by introducing 'personals' in his prayers. For instance: "Lord, have mercy on John Sheehan, who keeps a saloon next the old red bridge. Either lay him on a bed of sickness or have him removed from this town."

"Does one woman in fifty fill the lower half of her legs with air," is the stern inquiry of a sanitary exchange. If he had ever heard the voice of an infuriated mother-in-law, he wouldn't be annoying the world with such conundrums.

The purchaser will take another thousand on the same terms. Here is a chance for you if you have a thousand barrels of oil spoiling on your hands.
