THE

TORPEDO PATENT SUIT

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer

The following is the decision rendered by Judge McKennan, at May Term of the Circuit Court, in the above case:

In the Circuit Court of the United States, in and for the Western District of Pennsylvania.—In Equity.

Roberts vs. Nicholas Geyer.—No. 1.—May Term, 1873.—In Equity.

November 21, 1872. Bill filed and subpœna issued.

Subpœna and notice of application for preliminary injunction served.

December 13, 1872. Motion for preliminary injunction heard, and the Court being duly advised of the premises, the injunction ordered as prayed for and decree filed.

January 14, 1873. Injunction issued, returnable 20th day of January instant, served personally and by copy.

May 22, 1873. Rule issued for defendant to show cause why an attachment should not issue for contempt in violating injunction and duly served.

June 23, 1873. Rule on attachment in this case came on to be heard, and after argument of counsel pro and con, the Court being fully advised in the premises, the rule is made absolute and the decree of the Court is, that the said defendant, Nicholas Geyer, be imprisoned in the common jail of Allegheny County for and during the term of 30 days, and that he pay the costs of this proceeding.

June 24, 1873. Commitment issued.

The injunction in this case was for infringement of the Roberts' patent of No.—(called the Roberts' cut), for increasing the productiveness of oil wells. The act of infringement for which the defendant was committed for contempt, consisted in the use by Alexandra Hamar in exploding torpedoes in oil wells being the same act of infringement for which Hamar was also committed in the case No. 2, November Term, 1873, as before stated.

The Court McKennan, J., after delivering his opinion in the Hamar case, proceeded to sentence Nicholas Geyer for contempt, and delivered the following oral opinion:

In the case of Nicholas Geyer charged with the same offense, I am entirely satisfied that the [illegible] did present, in the form which it takes, as it is intimated to the counsel in the course of the argument, the presence of fluid in the well [illegible] altered or not, is an infringement of the patent, but such if the injunction of the Court.

Mr. Roberts, by his patent uses as one of the principal elements of his invention fluid [illegible] whenever there is fluid sufficient in a well, at the time of the explosion of a torpedo, to create a tamping which will retain it temporarily in the bore artificially, his patent is infringed. It is clearly the case in regard to the Venango well.

But Mr. Geyer seems to have been misled by Hamar, who told him that [illegible] would make an experiment, and [illegible] during the first time, that he might be only [illegible] punished.

He also is adjudged guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the costs of this proceeding and to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail of [illegible] I hope that will be the last of the matter, and if the rule proposed to [illegible] consistent to impose such punishment as will be sufficient to make the decree of the Court effective.
