Penn, waiting orders from the Government. Thus the Committee have raised five regiments with the fund estimated as necessary to organize three. It has also recently opened a Free Military School at its headquarters, 1210 Ohesth ut Street, moer the care of J.hn H. Taggart, late Colonel of the 12th regiment Pennsylvania Restryes and has at this time 161 scholars. All the students that have been sent before the Examiners at Wash-ington have parked and are now officers of Colored hegiments. Two additional Preceptors have been engaged for the School ry: an Assistant to teach Tactics and Army Regulations, and a Professor to review the students in arithmetic rule the higher mathematics, geography and history. The Committee having nearly exhausted the funds entrusted to it, and believing its power to recruit colored troops economically is by no means at an end, has asked and received permission from the War Department to continue its work. It therefore solicits from citizens, and from the Banks, Insurance Companies, Railroad Compa-nies ard other public institutions reaewed aid. The Committee feels confident that it is only necessary to call public attention to this matter to insure its full accomplishment.
