"G. H. M., VA."—Very glad to hear from you.

Hope you will be able to send as some of the games referred to. Löwenthal's Book of the Congress has not yet made its appearance. "RUSTICUS."—We cannot answer you better than by referring you to the WEERLY BULLETIN, which furnishes a large amount of Chess matter for $1 per "TELEGRAM."-There were to have been two games played, but, at the suggestion of the New York players, the match was decided by the first "M. J. H."—We have written to you by mail in reply to your interesting letter.

ERRATA.-In Game No. 681, White's 34th move should be P to K Kt 4, instead of P to K Kt 3, and his 36th move, Kt to K 3, instead of P to K Kt 4 The difference is quite material.

LADIES' CHESS CLUB.—The ancient rural suburt of Philadelphia, known as Germantown, is a most enterprising and spirited place. Chess Clubs, Whis Clubs, Music Clubs, Union Clubs, Field Hospital Clubs, &c., are all the rage; in fact, Clubs are trumps. But at last has come a novel sensation and to the ladies of Germantown belongs the honor of establishing, so far as our knowledge goes, the first Chess Club for ladies in America, if not in the

The Ladies' Chess Club was organized last week, with a dozen members, who are to meet weekly at the residences of the members. No gentlemen are admitted until the hour when their services as escorts are required.

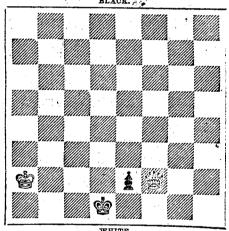

Several rules have been adopted, hitherto unknown in Chess. No player is to be considered mated unless she has first captured a Knight, and at the conclusion of every game there must be left a Queen on each side of the table. Smoking, that inseparable feature of all other Chess Clubs, is strictly

We compliment the fair denizens of Germantown on their spirit in starting this novel enterprise, and wish them a great deal of pleasure and success in it.

- Our readers will probably remember the arrival in New York, last fall, of Mr. George H. Mackenzie, an English Chess player, who had acquired an excellent Chess reputation in London. Mr. Mackenzie made most creditable scores with several of the strongest players in New York, and is now engaged in the great game being played by our government against the Southern rebels. We were glad to receive a letter from him this week, dating from Virginia, and signing himself with the honorable title of "Captain 10th Regiment U.S.C.T." In referring, to his games with Mr. Lichtenhein, which have been a good deal quoted in New York, Captain Mackenzie says: "Mr. Lichtenhein was so much out of practice, that I look upon the result of the games played as no test at all of what he can do when in play." A valuable hint, if they would but see it, to many Chess players who build reputations upon chance successes, won from the carelessness or want of practice of superior players.

"This mode of play is the most dull and tedious imaginable."—New York Albion. What could have put it into Perrin's skull Twas not like Perrin. to be so invidious As thus to designate us "dull and tedious." But he, in play with us, has twice been floored; No wonder then, that Perrin should be bored.

1 UST OUT—FAMILY COFFEE ROASTER.

HYDES'S Patent.

Families using these machines will save more than its cost in six months, besides having a stronger and pleasanter coffee. Being constructed with propeters, the coffee must be roasted uniformly, and having a patent Trier, you can see its state at sny moment without stopping the machine, and so prevent all liability to burn. And yet it is so simple, a child can operate it. It will roast all the substitutes for coffee equally well. Prices $2, $3, and $5. Hotel and Grocer's sizes from $25 to $100. For sale at the House Furnishing Hardware and Stove Stores. Grocers find a ready sale for them. For sale wholesale and retail, by the Coffee Roaster and Mill Manufacturing Company, Pennsylvania avenue and Fifteenth street, Philadelphia.

Fakal. 115 Acres, near West Chester, CHESTER COUNTY, PENNA. On TUESDAY, February 9th, 164, at 12 o'clock, Noon, will be sold at Public Sale, without reserve, at the PHILADELPHIA EXCHANGE, all that valuable farm, situate 1½ miles west of West Chester, and ½ mile from the Brandywine, Chester county, Pennsylvania; containing 115 acres in the highest state of cultivation, the late owner having (during the four years he occupied it), spent his whole time, and a large sum of money in making improvements.
The improvements consist of a stone mansion, situate on a lawn surrounded by well-grown trees and shrubbery; a good tenant house, a barn reconstructed two years since, in which were introduced all the modern improvements: a carriagehouse, spring-house, ice-house, and all other necessary out-buildings. It is well watered with several never-failing springs of pure-water, from cessary out-buildings. It is well watered with several never-failing springs of pure water, from one of which the mansion and barn are supplied with water forced by a hydraulic ram to a tank in the upper story of the mansion, a goon orchard of choice apple and pear trees, and a garden stocked with strawberries, raspberries, and all other small fruits grown in the climate. There is also a vine-yard containing a variety of choice grapes. About 90 acres of the farm are under cultivation—the remainder lawn and groves of timber.

West Chester, situate about 27 miles west from Philadelphia, is connected with it by two railroads, on which three or four trains are run daily in each direction.
