PERSONAL.

Captain Thomas M. Saunders, of the Third Regular Artillery, died at St Paul's, Minnesota, on the 20th ult., of pneumonia. Capt. Saunders was a native of Virginia, and entered the army in June, 1856. Since the breaking out of the war, he has occupied successively the positions of chief quartermaster, disbursing and mustering officer, and provost marshal general of the State of Minnesota. Just before the firing on Sumter, he received a commission of high rank from Jefferson Davis, which he returned with an indignant refusal, and suffered the confiscation of valuable estates in Virginia rather than betray his flag.

The remains of the late Lieut.-Col. Thomas S. Brenholts, of the 50th Regiment, Penna. Volunteers, who died at Evansville, Indiana, on the 19th of August, last, of a wound received in an engagement near Jackson, Miss., were brought to Reading on Tuesday last, and re-interred on Thursday afternoon, with appropriate demonstrations of respect and honor. The funeral was attended by Major-Gen. Sigel and the officers of his staff, and by a number of Army officers.

Mr. Jno. C. Boggs, who has for a long time acted as Auditor in the office of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad office in Erie, has been promoted to the post of Chief Accountant, and will in a few days remove to the eastern end of the road to assume the duties of his position.

Lieut. Hogan, of the 8th Michigan infantry, was killed at Camp Nelson, Kentucky, on Tuesday, by Capt. Crandall, of the 13th Kentucky cavalry.

Capt. Sbirk, of Erie, is in charge of the fleet of gunboats traversing the Tennessee River.

Major-Generals Rosecrans, McCook, Crittenden, Hunter, Cadwalader, and their staffs, were announced to attend the Louisville Theatre on last Friday night.

FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

THE RAPIDAN AGAIN CROSSED BY SOME OF OUR TROOPS.

[Correspondence of the New York Herald.]

CULPEPER, Va., Feb. 7.—Yesterday commenced another epoch in the history of the war The Army of the Potomac moved. Let the nation rejoice.

The order came the night before, although nearly one thousand wives of the officers and men were in camp. Notwithstanding that, after two or three weeks of remarkably pleasant weather for the season, the morning was foggy and cloudy, portending rain, never did troops make ready for a march with greater alacrity or trudge off through the mud in higher spirits than did the officers and men of the invincible Army of the Potomac. The whole movement was under the command of that gallant and popular soldier, Major General John Sedgwick. Whether the movement was devised or planned or advised by him, it is not in the power of your correspondent to state. Whether it was well or ill advised, at the present time it is not within his province to state. Time will determine and history will record the verdict on these points.

In the morning the roads in the open country were tolerably dry and good; but in the woods they were so wet that the artillery cut them up into mud a foot deep at least. Of course, in moving so large a force on all the roads named a rebel can have no advantage of, and consequently some portions of it had very heavy marching. In addition to this about noon a drizzling rain set in, which soon made the best of the roads anything but favorable to locomotion.

One Division crossed the river with but little opposition. Batteries were planted on the heights which opened furiously after the crossing. This, however, elicited no reply from the "Johnnies" until near night As darkness and rain and a heavy fog enveloped the scene a sharp artillery and musketry fire commenced, and continued for an hour or more.

CULPEPER, COURT HOUSE, Va., Feb. 7—9 P. M.—The Army of the Potomac is again back at winter quarters.

General Kilpatrick crossed at Culpeper Ford and scoured the country from Jacob's Ford to near Fredericksburg, finding nothing but cavalry pickets of Hampton's division, nearly all of whom they captured. A detachment of the 3d New York cavalry went up to Jacob's Ford, where they had learned there was a sergeant and nine men. They captured three of them Kilpatrick's command, having accomplished the purpose for which it was sent, returned to camp to-day at noon.

Gen. Warren crossed the 3d Division of the 2d Corps at Morton's Ford yesterday, with little or no opposition. Last evening the 2d Division of the same corps crossed, and attempted to join the 3d in a piece of woods at the left of the ford. The rebels then opened upon them with musketry from the right of the ford, where they had been concealed in other pieces of woods. The night was dark, rainy and foggy, and the firing of each party was directed by the flash of the guns of their opponent. During the night, after firing had ceased, our men were ordered to return across the river, which they did without molestation. The loss in killed, wounded and missing is reported between one and two hundred; but this is not official, and cannot be relied upon. Our troops have lain just this side of the river all day. Our pickets were on the bank this side of the river, and the rebels just on the other side of Morton's Ford.

General Humphreys went down this evening and ordered all our troops back into their quarters, as the whole object of the reconnoissance had been accomplished. Accordingly all the forces are back in camp to-night, the 2d corps being the only one which has met with any loss.

CULPEPER COURT HOUSE, Va., Feb. 7—10 P.M.—Merritt's 1st Division of Cavalry, which went to Brandt's Ford, towards Madison Court House, met some of Stuart's cavalry last evening and skirmished with them this morning, the whole division excepting those left on picket being on hand. Our forces advanced and found the rebel cavalry backed by infantry. General Merritt pitched in, and drove the whole force before him across Robertson's river to Madison Court House. The command held the ford all day, and then, in obedience to orders, came back to headquarters, having captured eight or ten prisoners.

Our troops were ready and eager for a fight with the enemy. They would have followed their leaders anywhere. Nothing but cheering could be heard all the way, both in the advance and the return, and the commander of the army of the Potomac must feel flattered by the conduct of his troops. The 3d Division of the 2d Corps waded across Morton's Ford, although there was a corps of engineers ready to lay a bridge. They waded up to their waists in water to cross. Who can whip such men as those?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—It was reported at Brandy Station this morning that General Caldwell, with his own division and another brigade of the 2d corps, had captured a rebel captain and twenty-five privates of the picket force on crossing at Morton's Ford, and that the prisoners informed him there were only two brigades of the rebels within ten miles of that point. Thereupon General Caldwell determined to storm the rebel works where a ten or twelve pieces of artillery were in position. He drew the fire of these batteries, discovered that the works were swarming with the enemy, and deemed it prudent to fall back to the protection of his rifle pits. There he remained; but towards night the enemy opened upon and endeavored to force him to retire from that position. He held his ground, losing about thirty-five men killed and wounded, and rested his command in the rifle pits during the night.

The crossing of the Rapidan was effected by fording the river, the men wading to their armpits; but this did not dampen their ardor, as they preferred this method of crossing rather than the delay of waiting for the pontoon trains to come up. The troops moved in light marching order, without knapsacks.

Captain Martin, of the 4th Pennsylvania cavalry has returned to Manassas from a reconnoissance to Occoquan, where he charged through the town, discovering no enemy, but learning that a considerable force of rebel infantry was there the day previous.

Lieutenant Paul captured four prisoners about three miles from the town. That section of the country is infested with guerilla parties, and is evidently the grand highway for blockade runners both from Alexandria and the Maryland shore.

A scouting party to Aldie and Middleburg returned to Fairfax last evening, and report all quiet and no enemy to be seen.

They encountered eight guerillas while absent, with whom they had a brisk fight, capturing three of their number and their leader, who proved to be Wm. E. Ormsby, a deserter from the 2d Massachusetts cavalry. Two men of the 2d Massachusetts and three of the rebels were wounded. Five citizens, whose loyalty is doubtful, were arrested. On their return to camp, Ormsby was tried by a drum-head court-martial.

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUTHWEST.

A despatch from Louisville says: Gen. Parke, on the night of the 4th, was at Knoxville, in command of the 9th Army Corps, and had no communication cut off this side of Cumberland Gap.

Another despatch, dated Powell's River Bridge, five miles east of Cumberland Gap, says: Citizens report that the rebels are communicating at New Market and Doddridge.

Gen. Schofield has assumed the command of the Department of the Ohio, vice Gen. Foster, relieved. Gen. Boyle's resignation has been accepted, and he has resumed the practice of the law in this city; and Gen. Hobson has been temporarily put in command of the forces of Kentucky, Gen. Ammon having been placed on court-martial duty at Cincinnati.

Brigadier General Judah has arrived in East Tennessee, and is assigned to the command of his old division, the 2d and 23d Army Corps, relieving Brigadier General Manson, who, it is reported, goes to Kentucky to take command of the Department just vacated by the resignation of General Boyle.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE "DAVENPORT BOYS" continue their spiritualistic exhibitions at the Assembly Building during the present week.

MORRIS MINSTRELS.—This evening and every evening during the week, the famous Morris Minstrels will appear at Concert Hall. They come among us with a splendid reputation and will doubtless meet with good success, particularly as they play entirely new pieces.

THE WALNUT.—This evening begins the last six nights of Lucille Western at the Walnut. She will continue to present "East Lynne," as there is not only no abatement in the desire to see it, but rather an increase in the attendance nightly.

THE ARCH.—This evening "Little Fadette" will be given at the Arch, with Miss Charlotte Thompson as the heroine, supported by Hill, Robson, Griffiths, Miss Price and Miss Carr. This is a beautiful play and is exquisitely given by Miss Thompson.

THE CHESTNUT.—"The Ticket-of-Leave Man" is still the great attraction at the Chestnut, with every prospect of its filling the house for weeks to come. It has never been better cast and has never been more beautifully placed on the stage than at this theatre.

PHILADELPHIA AND ERIE RAILROAD.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of this Company was held this morning at their office, No. 230 Walnut street. Henry Buhring, Esq., presided, and Philip M. Price, Esq., acted as Secretary.

Col. Wm. C. Moorhead, President of the Company then read the Annual Report of the Managers. The report states that the Directors have been disappointed in their anticipations of having the road completed, owing to the great difficulty in procuring laborers, and in inducing them to remain. At the eastern end of the road the track has reached the town of St. Mary's, and at the western end as far as Wilcox, leaving but twenty-four miles of track yet to be laid to connect these points, which will complete the entire line of road, 288 miles in length. On these twenty-four miles of road yet remains to be done of grading a portion of five different sections, in all less than forty thousand cubic yards and on change of grade and strengthening banks about fifty thousand yards. The masonry of the bridges on the twenty-four miles of road yet to be finished is all ready for the superstructure and these are nearly framed and can be raised at an early day in the spring. With the present force on the line, all the grading can easily be prepared to receive the track during the next three months from the present time, and the track finished and in readiness to be run in the early part of the month of June next. Fifteen hundred and sixty-three men (chiefly from New York) were sent on the line of the road during the year, by the contractors, at a cost of over $13,000. This number of laborers were quite sufficient to have completed the road had they remained on the work, but a large portion left after working a few days, and some actually deserted before reaching their destination.

The extraordinary yield of the oil wells in Northwestern Pennsylvania still continues and arrangements are in progress for such additional connections with the oil region as will, it is believed, secure to the road and to this market a large share of that important traffic at the earliest practicable moment after the completion of the main line.

The balance of the floating debt contracted prior to February 1, 1862, amounted to $118,376, which has since been reduced to $32,895. The whole of this amount the Company is prepared to pay as soon as the claims are presented.

The business on the finished portion of the road under the care of Col. Jas. D. Potts, general manager for the lessee, has been conducted during the past year in the most satisfactory manner, and the receipts therefrom have increased so largely, taking into consideration the unfinished condition of the road, as to satisfy the expectations of its most sanguine friends.

The following statement exhibits the receipts for the last four years with the annual increase:

	Receipts.	Increase.
1860	$939,418	——
1861	1,230,430	$81,012
1862	443,419	92 987
1863	727,669	284 250

For the accommodation of the Lake business the Company are now constructing an extensive pier in the harbor of Erie, upon which will be erected (as soon as the pier is sufficiently advanced) a commodious warehouse and grain elevator. Arrangements have also been made jointly with the Lakeshore Railroad Co., for the erection of a new and capacious passenger station house at Erie and the work of preparing materials for the structure has already commenced.

The reports of the Treasurer and Chief Engineer were also submitted and read. They were ordered to be printed in pamphlet form with the report of the Board of Directors.

The meeting then took a recess to go into an election for Managers for the ensuing year.

The following was the ticket elected:

Managers—Wm. C. Moorhead, Ellis Lewis, Henry Buhring, D. K. Jackman, C. B. Wright, Edward F. Gay, J. D. Whetham, P. Metcalf, S. G. Thompson, W. A. Galbraith.

THE ENLISTMENTS OF A WEEK.—Capt. Wm. B. Lane, the Mustering Officer in this city, mustered into the United States service during the week ending on Saturday, 1,059 men, as follows: Old regiments, 289; new regiments, 294; colored regiments, 61; regular army, 6; by Provost Marshals, for old regiments, 409. Of that number there were credited to Philadelphia 52, as follows: First Ward, 8; Second, 17; Third, 47; Fourth, 28; Fifth, 5; Sixth, 4; Seventh, 48; Eighth, 32; Ninth, 148; Tenth, 7; Eleventh, 58; Twelfth, 57; Thirteenth, 39; Fourteenth, 9; Fifteenth, 16; Sixteenth, 6; Seventeenth, 13; Eighteenth, 18; Nineteenth, 36; Twentieth, 57; Twenty-first, 56; Twenty-second, 28; Twenty-third, 30; Twenty-fourth, 18; Twenty-fifth, 2.

FUNERAL OF A NAVAL OFFICER.—The funeral of Lieutenant Commander A. Boyd Cummings, whose body arrived from Key West on Friday, took place yesterday afternoon, from his late residence, No. 1924 Chestnut street. The remains of the gallant officer were interred at Laurel Hill. Captain Alden, Dr. Henderson, Dr. Laws and Dr. Evans, all of whom are attached to the United States Navy; Judge Thompson, Major Scovel and Mr. Landis were the pall bearers. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Dr. Breed, of the West Spruce Street Presbyterian Church. The funeral was a private one, the members of the family of the deceased and a few friends, alone accompanying the remains to the grave.

CITY MORTALITY.—The number of interments in the city during the past week was 377, an increase of 60 over the previous week, and an increase of 87 over the same period last year. Of the whole number 165 were adults and 212 children—51 being under one year of age, and were males and 175 females; 114 boys and 98 girls. The greatest number of deaths occurred in the Nineteenth Ward, being 27, and the smallest number in the Twenty-second, where only five were reported. The principal causes of death were croup, 14; congestion of the brain, 21; consumption, 36; convulsions, 15; diphtheria, 9; debility, 23; drowned, 7; spotted fever, 12; malignant typhus fever, 14; typhoid fever, 12, and inflammation of the lungs, 38.

RELIEF OF THE FREEDMAN.—The attention of the patriotic and charitable throughout the North, is now actively stirring in reference to the condition, moral, and physical, of the Freedmen of the South and West. Pennsylvania never has been behind her sister States either in patriotic or charitable movements, and we are sure that she will not be so now. A meeting is called for Tuesday evening, Feb. 16th, at the Academy of Music, by the Pennsylvania Freedmen's Relief Association; and let no other engagement prevent those who love their country's welfare from attending. Gentlemen will be present who will give their latest experiences in the South among the Freedmen.

PASSING TROOPS.—The 19th Massachusetts regiment which has re-enlisted for the war passed the city on Saturday on their way home, and was entertained at Cooper Shop Saloon. The 11th Massachusetts battery also reached Philadelphia on Saturday and was escorted to the Union Volunteer Saloon by Hasting's Battery, of this city. HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Before Alderman Beitler on Saturday Wm. McGoulrick and A. Curran were charged with highway robbery.
