EVENING BULLETIN THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1864.

SECRET SOCIETIES AT THE SOUTH. We have had at the North the secret organization known as the Knights of the Golden Circle, whose known purpose was the overthrow of the Federal Government, through the triumph of the South. It has, however, either quietly gone out of existence, or has become powerless. As the work of suppressing the rebellion has advanced, the Knights have become helpless, and their ranks have been much thinned. We are not aware that there is now any other secret society at the North which has a political object.

But at the South, secret organizations are becoming quite numerous. The despotism of the Government at Richmond has made it necessary for Union men to be very cautious in all that they say and do, and also to band together for their common safety. We have often heard of secret Carolina, in Tennessee, in Texas, in Louisiana and even in South Carolina. The Richmond papers now announce the discovery in that city of a secret organization "having for its object the forcible release of on Belle Isle, the assassination of the President, and the destruction of Government Heinz has been arrested as the reputed ringleader. Probably this discovery, together with the recent panic in Richmond on Gen.

A recent letter from Chattanooga says: "Descriters coming in all reiterate the pre-viously well-founded stories of demoralization in the army, and the determination to desert on the first favorable opportunity that presents itself. It is asserted that in Joe Johnston's army there exists a society, embracing fully three-fourths, the members of which are sworn to serve the Confederacy no longer than their mustered in time. They have pass-words and signs, and are sworn to assist each other in getting away. If members are on picket, on receiving the sign and pass-word, the deserter is allowed to run the gauntlet and escape. So numerous is the society in regiments from Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Georgia, Tennessee and Alabama, that they are never trusted on picket. All the picketing is now performed by Virginians, North and South Carolinians, Texas, &c. A new rebel society has also been formed, called the Sons of the Southern Cross,' I believe, who swear never to cease fighting until the Contederacy is independent. is independent. They have a big job on hand.

It must be a pleasant state of affairs in an army, when three-fourths, or even onefourth, of the soldiers cannot be trusted for picket duty. No wonder that deserters by hundreds are continually reported. It will be no more than retributive justice if "the Confederacy," which was created by secret treasonable plots, should receive its last and fatal wounds from secret organizations among its people and soldiers.

TOOMBS.

General Robert Toombs has come to gricf. General Robert Toombs was formerly the Honorable Robert Toombs, United States Senator from Georgia. The Henorable Robert Toombs once expressed an intention of calling the roll of his slaves from the top of Bunker Hill Monument. Preliminary to this monumental roll-call, Honorable Robert Toombs, in January, 1861, resigned his seat in the United States Senate and started for the South. In the following month Jefferson Davis made him his Secretary of State, but a few months later he had to quit that office to make room for R. M. T. Hunter. Then Toombs became a Brigadier-General, but we have never heard of his distinguishing himself as a warrior.

The other day Toombs ventured to attempt the exercise of one of the privileges of a Southern freeman and make a trip by railroad from Savannah. He was asked by an officer of the Richmond government to show a passport. He had no such document; said that he would not get one; that he was a citizen of Georgia, which State did not require her railroad passengers to show passports, and uttered other equally monstrous and treasonable things. Thereupon he was turned out of the cars, and General Beauregard, being informed of the circumstances, had him arrested, and General Toombs was consigned to the Tombs. An old lady, who witnessed the arrest, jeered at him in his misfortune. "Well, well, well," said the old lady, "they have got Bob Toombs. I heard him say he'd swallow the blood of all he Yankees that came South. Well, well, well, he can swallow all he sheds." The remarks of the old lady caused a burst of laughter, in the midst of which the train moved off.

General and the late Honorable Robert Toombs has thus been treated to a fine specimen of the liberty that is accorded to the people of the Southern States under the glorious rule of the power he helped to create. In an address to the Georgians, dated December 23d, 1860, he said "Secession should be thundered from the ballotbox by the unanimous vote of Georgia. Such a vote will be your best guarantee for liberty, security, tranquility and glory." Fine samples he is enjoying of liberty, security, tranquility and glory! Sent to jail for wishing to ride in a railroad car, and then jeered at by an old woman, whose ridicule is echoed by the crowd assembled to witness his discomfiture. What will be done with Toombs for his "treasonable" conduct in wishing to travel by railroad without the permission of Jefferson Davis? Will he receive the ordinary punishment for treason-hanging? There would probably be little grief, either North or South, if he met with such a fate. But, after all, it is a little ungenerous in Beauregard to put Toombs in jail before he is able to carry out the roll-call programme at Bunker Hill. It is unkind to have him enjoy Southern "liberty, security, tranquility and glory" in the society of thieves and jail-birds of all descriptions.

SPIRITUALISM AND BLASPHEMY. We always go for the largest liberty in the discussion of all questions, whether of religion, politics, or of real or pretended science; we go upon the principle that error is harmless where truth is left tree to combat it. But there are exceptions to all rules, and the pretended Spiritualism that is now nightly exhibited at the Assembly Buildings | justice which is the fate of all criminals. is one of those exceptions. There is no denying the right of any man or woman to adopt spiritualistic views, if he or she feels sodisposed; and lecturers upon the pretended mystery have always enjoyed full license to descant upon their science, and to practice it with such aid from the invisible world as their ghostly assistants may think proper to vouchsafe them. Such believers in spiritualism as Professor Hare and Judge Union organizations in Virginia, in North | Edmonds gave respectability to even this strange delusion, and the persons named never made their belief an agency to bring morality or religion into contempt. Andrew Jackson Davis was a skillful adept in his art, whether the latter was based upon the Yankee prisoners held at the Libby and truth or falsehood, and intelligent persons could listen to his ravings without absolute buildings and workshops." A man named cult to form any theory of how the thing was managed.

The "Davenport Boys," who are exhibit-Wistar's advance up the peninsula, has led other hand, mere impudent charlatans. ing in this city at present, are, upon the to the determination to remove the prisoners | They have themselves shut up in a box obviously made for the performance of a We hear also, through deserters from the mere trick of sleight-of-hand, and by some adroit management, that any professor of legerdemain could readily excel, in respect to sleight, they contrive to get rid of the cords with which they are tied, and to ring a dinner bell, rap upon the sides of their box, and play some barbarous tunes upon a violin and a tambourine. The medium Fay, who gives a supplemental performance in an adjoining room, first plunges the apartment into absolute darkness, and with known confederates scattered about the room, the table is rapped upon, a dinner bell is rung, guitars are played upon and then flung about the room in all directions, and this wretched piece of foolery, that any two or three men with an ounce of brains between them could perform just as well, is called a "Spiritual Manifestation." If these men or "Boys" were showmen of ordinary capacity, we should not object to the credulous or the curious spending money to witness, or rather to hear their tomfoolery; but they are mere bunglers, and impudent imposters; while their agent and lecturer, Mr. Lacey, is the most atrociously illiterate ignoramus that ever attempted to address sensible men publicly.

What we object to in these exhibitions is the scandal given by them to religion and to sacred things, that all persons who possess a sense of common decency, show at least an outward respect for. These imposters placard upon the dead walls of the city, in huge flaring type, and impudently announce it orally in their blasphemous exhibitions, that the spiritual agency-which ties and unties the common showmen in a wooden box, which rings dinner bells in the dark, and which plays a wretched tune upon a banjo and then sends the instrument flying across the room, is the same as that which rent the veil of the temple in twain at the time of the Crucifixion; that released Paul and Silas from prison, and wrote upon the wall at the time of Belshazzar's feast. If there is no law to stop this shocking exhibition of blasphemy, public opinion should put it down. Since Saturday night last, when the spectators in the audience revolted at the indecent imposition that was practised upon them, policemen have been stationed nightly in the hall to preserve the peace. If the Mayor would find it in the line of his duty to compel these imposters to keep within the legitimate line of their profesion as showmen, or to close their doors, he would be sustained by almost universal public sentiment. THE MALDEN MURDER. About ten years ago the people of Massachusetts and of the country were horrified at receiving tidings of one of the most diabolical murders ever recorded upon the pages of the criminal calendar. The murderer and the victim were both men of high standing in Boston, and money the motive which prompted the deed. Within a few days another tragedy has appalled the same Commonwealth-a tragedy which assimilates not a little to the Webster and Parknan murder. The perpetrator and the slaughtered victim were both well-known citizens, occupying positions of trust, and respected in the communities in which they resided, and money, the root of all evil, was the object to be gained by the crime.

Edward W. Green, the Postmaster of Malden, a thriving town within a few miles of Boston, made desperate by debts which had accumulated, it is said, by his own recklessness, devised a plan by which he could secure an amount sufficient to cancel his obligations. Purchasing a pistol, he proceeded to the Malden Bank, and seeing that no one was there but young Converse, the clerk, he drew his weapon, and placing the muzzle within a foot of the head of his victim and friend, fired, the ball taking effect back of his ear. He instantly discharged a second barrel, the shot from which took effect in the temple. The deed having been consummated, Green seized the bills in the drawer, amounting to about five thousand dollars, and returned to his

For nearly two months no suspicion attached to the perpetrator of the deed, until at length the sleepless vigilance of experienced detectives was rewarded by the discovery that Green was the murderer. His reserve while others were excited, his disinclination to speak of the tragedy, and the fact that he had, in order to hide delinquencies in his accounts with the Government, attempted, a few weeks previous, to burn the Post Office, induced suspicion, which was confirmed by his own confession after arrest.

Few more deliberate murders have been perpetrated in this country; but the early discovery of the author in the person of a respectable member of society, is convincing evidence that the man who thus outrages the laws of God, be he rich or poor, must, sooner or later, meet with that retributive

TENTH WARD

The Executive Committee of the Tenth Ward, appointed to selicit subscriptions to the Bounty Fund, whereby the quota of the Ward may be filled by Volunteers instead of drafted men, would urgently call the attention of those who have not subscribed to the necessity of so doing immediately. The Committee have been obliged to suspend en listing men for want of funds. Six thousand dollars, if new subscribed, will enable the Ward to fill its quots under both calls of the President. The great majority of those who are subject to the drait and the ones most particularly interested, have not contributed to this fund. It now remains with them to supply the deficiency or take their chances of being drafted. These are, therefore, particularly urged to come forward and subscribe. The object is one which appeals to the benevolent as well as to the patriotic, and is one to which all classes of society should nobly respond. Subscriptions may be left with or forwarded to any of the Executive Committee, or either of the following named gentlemen:
