which speeches are expected from several gentlemen. The whole will conclude with a display of fireworks.

The feature of the celebration will be the parade of the military in the morning. The different organizations in the city have almost unanimously responded to the invitation of Brigadier-General Ferry, and the turn-out will be the largest and most imposing ever witnessed in the city. It is estimated that there will be at least five thousand men in the line. The arrangements for the procession have been completed and the official order of General Ferry was issued last evening by Capt. Cyrus S. Haldeman, Assistant Adjutant-General of the post. THE WASHINGTON GREYS.—This old and popular military company will take part in the parade on Honday next, under the command of Lieutenant F. W. Ralston. The Greys have established a claim upon the popular favor by their patriotic services since the war began. In September, 1602, when the State was invaded, they were among the first to go to the border. When Lee made his great invasion last summer, they again went into the field and served for two months. There are now over one hundred members of the company commissioned officers in the United States service; the excellent school of practice which the members enjoy in the company making them admirably qualified for the duties of officers; and the mere fact of applicants for commissions being members of the Washington Greys is a recommendation with the military anthorities. SHOCKING SUICIDE.-Mrs. Ellen Springfield, Showned Suight.—Mrs. Ellen Springfield, residing at No. 2212 Hamilton street, committed suicide, yesterday, by cutting her throat with a case kaife. She cut out a piece of the flesh with the knife, and as this piece hung by the skin she clipped it off with a pair of selssors. She was taken to the Pennsylvania Hospital and died in a few hours. The deceased was about 50 years of age. Her only son is in the army. Another son was drowned some time since, and her daughter was burned to death. For two or three days past she has been in a melancholy mood. She was expecting money from her son, and being disappointed, was in rather destitute circumstances. She lived alone in a room, and there was neither fire nor food.

THE TWENTY-NINTH PENNSYLVANIA. — Mr. Charles Baum, of this city, has just issued a well-executed plate, representing the reception of the gallant 29th Pennsylvania Regiment, on the 23d of December, 1863. The plate is published for the benefit of the Cooper Shop Soldiers' Home, on Race street and Crown, and not only gives a correct representation of the regiment as it appeared on the day it received the ovation, but also of the various organizations which participated in the ceremonies. The deceased, who lived alone, was last seen alive on Wednesday afternoon. He was under the influence of liquor at that time. Not only will our citizen soldiery parade, and many of them have participated to some extent in the excuing and sanguinary seenes incident to the war, but the veteran Philadelphia regiments will also be present, thus adding unprecedented celet to the occasion. Many of these participants will present a more than usually pleasing and attractive appearance, and wherever such a contrast may be noticed, the observers may be convinced that their uniforms have been purchased from Warmanker & Brown, S. E. Corner of Sixth and Market. Such is the extent of their establishment, and the number of their employes, that they are enabled to supply the soldier without delay to the civilian, and as "promptness and cheapness" is their motto, it is not supprising there is such a demand for goods of their employers. of surprising there is such a demand for goods of LUBRICATING OILS.—We have already had LUBRICATING OILS.—We have already had occasion to speak approvingly of the excellent Lubricating Oils sold by Messrs. Hulburt & Co., No. 240 Arch street, as being in many respect superior to any others in use, while their cost is moderate. They have been tested, and are now in use by most of our city railroads, and are found to answer better than ally other lubricator in the world. They ought to be universally adopted. Messrs. Hulburt & Co.'s Signal Oils, Oarringe Oils, Sewing Machine Oils, and Oils for Illuminating purposes, are also unsurpassed by any others in existence, and their prices are unusually low.

GREAT BARGAINS IN WINTER CLOTHING .-Mesers, Somers & Son, No. 625 Chestnut street, under Jayne's Hall, are now selling off their splendid stock of fine fashionable winter clothing at greatly reduced prices, preparatory to opening their Spring stock. THE NEW PHOTO-MINIATURE.-Messrs. Wenderoth & Taylor, 912, 914, and 916 Chestnutstreet, are now executing the new style of picture (which we think destined to unusual popularity) entitled the "Photo-Biniature." For artistic merit this picture excels anything that Photography has hitherto produced. The specimens at their galleries are much admired by the best judges of

EXCELLENT SMOKING TOBACCO.—It is a very difficult matter to obtain at anything likes fair price, a good quality of Smoking Tobacco, but we have recently tried an article sold by E. H. Hunt, No. 511 Chestnut street, which is equal to the very best we have eyer placed in a pipe. It is the Kin-ne-no-ne-aw, originally prepared by the Indians, from fine tobacco, mingled with roots and odorous herbs. Its flavor is pungent yet delicious, and floats through the air like incense. It lights easily and retains the fire a long time without incessant drawing, and in every way it is worthy of the reputation it has attained. We commend it to all who remember the departing glories of "Lynchburg" and "Scarfalatti," and who wish to obtain an article of the first quality at a reasonable rate. The continuous hings-back with which it is made, and for which Messrs. A. & with which it is made, and for which Messrs. A. C. So popular are these albums becoming that publishers generally now offerthem for sale. Martin & Randall, pub lishers, 29 South Sixth street, on announcing the above work ready for sale, state on the verhighest authority, that its value is not only to the Medical Students, but to the public at large Every one who values hearing will find in it golden rules for its preservation, and how to protect its organ from all the malades which often, from a want of such knowledge, assail, it. Those who are already so unfortunate as to be afflicted with any malady of the Ear, will find all its diseases so clearly described, their symptoms given so accurately, that they cannot fall of conceiving a correct idea of their condition, and whether their case is a curable one or not; and if curable, its apperpriate mode of treatment. The work will undoubtedly protect its readers from falling into the hands of those self-puffing quacks who undertake the treatment of that delicate organ, and whom the able author so justly describes as: Ear Poisoners. (Call at the Publishers and examine the work.) Read the following from the able Critic of the Philadelphia Press—

"The work is elaborate without being obscure, and, we are confident, will be found useful to all who have occasion to study or consult it. The remarks on Dietetics should be studied by all who have charge of children." THE EAR, ITS DISEASES AND THEIR TREAT-

THE mercury in the thermometer still con-THE mercury in the thermometer still continues to fluctuate between zero and fifteen or twenty above. The Schuylkill is daily visited by thousands of skaters, and the Delaware above the city bids fair, if no change in the temperature takes place, to offer inducements not surpassed by its sister upon the other side of the city for the lovers of pleasure and amusement. The skating parks are crowded day and night; the streets, from early morn till late at night, are crowded with pedestrians who are surprised at their own speed; the places of amusement fail to attract their usual admiring crowds; railway trains are temporarily impeded in their rapid pregress; and the mails fail to come to time with their usual regularity. But as Thomas Tusser, the poet of the sixteenth century, said:

And consequently we find the extensive Clothing establishment of Messrs. IMPORTANT DECISIONS.

Legal Tender Notes and the Constitutionality of the Act of Congress of Feb. 25, 1862.

A GROUND REAT NOT A DEBT.

This morning, in the District Court and Common Pleas, decisions were rendered touching the Constitutionality of the act of February 25, 1632, anthorizing the issue of legal tender notes and the question whether a ground rent is a debt. In the Common Pleas the case originated in this wise:

Robert Patterson, being the owner of two separate lots of ground, each of which is subject to the payment of an annual ground rent, tendered to the respondents, who, as trusteer, are the owners of the rents reserved out of said lots of ground, payment of the principal thereof, and he prays, that the respondents may be required to make conveyance of the same to him, so that they shall merge and be forever extinguished.

The tender was made in the paper currency of the United States, issued under the authority of the act of Congress of the lith of July, 1862, which currency, by the terms of said act, is made a legal tender. for all debts, public and private, except duties on imports and interest on the public debt.

The rents is question were, by the covenants contained in the deeds, by which they were created, made extinguishable, on the payment to the grantor, his heirs and assigns, of a specified number of dollars, lawful silver money of the United States, "the present legal standard, fineness and weight."

This raised the question: Is a ground rent a debt?—as the paper currency is a legal tender for debt and for nothing else. Judge Allison, on delivering the opinions of the Court, decides that a ground rent is not a debt, and for this reason the Court declined to consider the question of the constitutionality of the act of July 11th, 1862.

In the District Court, in a case raising directly the econstitutionality of the act of July 11th, 1862.

In the District Court, in a case raising directly the econstitutionality of the act of Congress of February 25, 1662, Judges Share and Stroud delivered opinions affirming its constitutionality, while Judge Sharewood read a dissenting opinion. All the opinions were lengthy and discusse

AMUSEMENTS.

GERMAN OPERA.-Flotow's beautiful opera of Stradelia is to be performed at three o'clock this afternoon at the Academy of Music. For Monday evening a great novelty is announced. Weber's grand opera of Oderon, which we think has never been played in America, is to be produced, with all the artists in the cast. This opera was written for the Covent Garden Theatre in London, and was produced, under Weber's own direction, on the 12th of April, 1825. Miss Paton-afterwards Mrs. Wood-and Braham, the great English tenor, played the principal parts. Its success was immense. It was Weber's last opera, for his health failed soon after its production, and he died in the following year, in London. The overture is well known to our musical public, and all of the music is regarded as well worthy of the composer of Der Preyschits.

The Chestnut.—The andience at the Chestnut last evening forgot the coldness of the weather in the genial company of "The Fine Old English Gentleman." Mr. Harry Pearson's transformation from the Lancashire lad to the old squire was as complete as it was sudden, and all who witnessed the latter impersonation heartily enjoyed it. Mr. Knight performed the part of Horace very well. Miss Sophie Gimber is a very promising actress; with more study she will prove a valuable artists her voice is flexible and sweet and only requires a little more cultivation. Mrs. Chapman acted the pleasing lady-like housekeeper to perfection—there seemed to be nothing assumed in her performance. The afterpiece, was "The Lottery Ticket," and it created much merriment. Chas. Dickens would have recognised his own Quilp in Ticket," and it created much merriment. Chas. Dickens would have recognised his own Quilp in the character of Wormwood as Mr. Lennox gave it. To-night "The Fine Old English Gentleman". Will be repeated, with "All That Glitters is Not. Gold." There will also be a matinee this afternoon, with an excellent bill.

THE ARCH —This evening that exquisite opera, "The Bohemian Girl." will be given by the Richings troupe. The entire company appear in the east. The afterpiece is "Dick Turpin and Tom King," with Hill, Robson, Aiksn and Miss Price in the various parts.

THE WALRUT.—This evening, as we are pleased to announce, Miss Western appears in a new character. viz: Naucy Sykes, in "Oliver Twist." The farce is "The Picket on Duty."? THE MORRIS MINSTRELS appear in a capital bill to-night at Concert Hall.

THE ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE WILL doubtless be crowded this evening, as a superb Saturday night's bill is offered.

Signor Blitz.—Necromancy has been above par this winter. The Signor has played an unusually long engagement and the season has been eminently successful. A few nights more and the Temple of Wonders will be closed. This is the last opportunity.
