XXXVIIITH CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION.

CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE .- Mr. Summer (Mass.) introduced a bill to exclude disloyal persons from the public lands of the United States. Referred to the Committee of the United States. Referred to the Committee on Public Lands. The bill not only forbids the exercise of the pre-emption right, but excludes them from the benefit of judicial rights in reclaiming mining lands, or re-ceiving damages to such property. Mr. Hale reported the bill to amend an act enti tled, An act to established and equalize the grade of line officers in the United States navy, with an amendment intended to remedy the oversloughing of valuable officers by the Retiring Board, and es-sentially the same that failed to become a law last session.

Mr. Wilson introduced a bill which provides that hir. Wilson introduced a bill which provides that in future, enlistments in the regular army shallbe for three instead of five years; and that soldiers in the regular army who enlisted prior to July 22d, 1861, shall have the privilege of re-enlisting until the 1st day of May, with existing bounties and that officers absent from duty with leave for a pe-riod mot exceeding ten days shall receive full pay and allowance for such neriod; that enlisted men and allowance for such period; that enlisted men employed as laborers at the Military Academy, or detailed as clerks in military offices in Washington or at Geographical Department Headquarters, may receive the extra pay allowed by law prior to March 3d, 1963; that Chaplains absent from duty by reason of wounds or disease shall receive full By reason of wounds or disease shall receive full pay, without rations, and for other causes "alf pay, with rations; that Uhaplains shall be placed on the same footing in respect to pensions as First Lacutenats; that there shall be allowed to the bat-talion of regular Engineers, one Adjutant, one Quartermaster and one Commissary, to be selected from Lieutenants on duty with said "attalion; also, one Sergeant-Major and one Quartermaster's Sergeant.

Sergeant. On motion of Mr. Lane (Ind.), it was resolved that the Committee on Military Affairs be in-structed to inquire into the expediency of so amending the Articles of War as to prohibit to all military commanders below the President of the United States the power of relieving from daty any general officer, except when placed under ar-rest upon charges, or when wounded, or on sur-recon's certificate of disability, or upon limited leave of absence, or when captured by the enemy, leaving to the general-in-chief and the different department, and corps commanders to change the department, and corps commanders to change the command of their respective general officers. On motion of Mr. Lane (Kansas), the President was requested to furnish to the Senate any pro-tests of Governors of States in reference to the re-moval of General Schofield from the Department of Missouri. of Missouri.

of Missouri. Mr. Morrill introduced a bill to regulate pro-ceedings in cases between landlords and tenduts in the District of Columbia. Beferred to the Ju-diciary Committee. Mr. Collamer called up the bill to remove all disqualifications on account of color in carrying the mails, with an amendmentproviding that in the Courts of the United States there shall be no ex-clusion of witnesses on account of color.

Clusion of witnesses on account of color. Mr. Lane (Ind.) said he should vote against this bill. In the Courts of many of the States, among which was his own, colored persons were ex-cluded from the State Courts. If this law was passed there would be a conflict of authority be-tween the Courts of the United States and the State Courts, and besides there were plenty of white persons capable of doing the work or carrying the mails. He believed the radical prejudices exhi-bited for several days here against the public senbited for several days here against the public sen-timent of the country would do harm instead of good. Emancipation was going on well enough now, and he would give no vote which would have a tendency to do more harm than good. He thought that blacks and whites should be kept separate, and he was unwilling to go into legislation for the benefit of the blacks as against white men. Mr. Lane (Kansas) was proud to say that he re-presented a State where the people had intelli-gence and justice enough to listen to the trath, without regard to color. Mr. Saulsbury thought the remark of the gen-tleman from Indiana would have a good effect throughout the country. Where was the practical good to be subserved by this bill ! Has the public service been injured in the past by the exclusion of service been injured in the past by the exclusion of colored persons from carrying the mails? Our legislature has already gone far enough in favor of the negro without absorbing every day of the ses-sion in their behalf. When passion had subsided, the passage of this bill would be regretted by many of those who favored it now.

the passage of this bill would be regretted by many of those who favored it now. Mr. Summer alluded to the origin of the legisla-tion now proposed to be stricken from the statue books, and quoted from a letter of Gideon Granger written in 1822, wherein the passage of a law anaking the disqualification was suggested in con-sequence of alleged danger from the colored mail carriers in the South. Up to that time there had been no legislation of this sort. Mr. Saulsbury approved the spirit of Mr. Granger's letter, as indicating the friendly feeling of the old days between the North and South.

Mr. Powell opposed the amendment allowing colored persons to testify as witnesses in courts of the United States. If we have one rule in the State courts and another in the United States State courts and another in the United States courts, it would inevitably create confusion. Though he knew that nothing he could say would prevent this fanatical legislation, he would raise his voice against it. Mr. Hendricks could not see the propriety of connecting with a bill regulating the mail service a question of the competency of witnesses before the courts of the United States. The matter should go to the Committee on the Judicary. If the negro's intelligence is so much as to introduce him as a witness not only against white men, but in fact to impeach the white man's integrity, why not place him in the jury box and make him the peer of the white man. peer of the white man. From the course of the debate here for a few days past, the fact has been established that the negro was the peer of the white man, and was entitled was the peer of the while man, and was entitled to poluical and social equality with the white man. Now we go one step further, and say that he shall be allowed to impeach the white man in our courts. Let us have fairly and squarely the issue before the country. We might say here that the negro is the equal of the white man, but you can-mot make him so by any legislation of yours. Our race has gone upwards for a thousand years, and the colored race downward when depending upon its own ability to raise itself. Under such a estate of the case, he was loth to believe in negro Mr. Harlan inquired of the gentleman if equality was created by the fact of negroes being allowed to ride with the Senator in a rail-road car? Was that the Senator's criterian of r equality? r Mr. Hendricks replied that he did not conside-that that was a criterion, but when the Senate cont ferred such high privileges on these people as i had within a short time past, he did consider it a criterion, and that the facts brought before us by this legislation showed the purpose of the major-ity to place the negro on an equality with the white race. Mr. Harlan inquired if the fact of the carrying a musket in the same branch of service would place them on social equality. If they were engaged in carrying packages, or be found laboring in any capacity for the Government, did that tend to establish social equality, or did the fact of their receiving the Same pay, or allowing them to tes-tify in the Courts establish their social equality? We should be governed by the physical amount of labor performed in regard to pay, and he sup-posed a black man could tell the truth as well as a white man. But because colored men were wit-nesses it did not follow that they should be jurors. Mr. Saulsbury referred to the difference in know-ledge of the colored race among southern and northern men, and went on to picture the evils of such legislation as this, and declaring that he regarded the authors of it as the worst enemies of the race. Mr. Powell offered an amendment limiting the Mr. Hendricks replied that he did not conside My and the autors of the mendment limiting the proc. Mr. Powell offered an amendment limiting the provision for negro testimony to cases of robbery or violation of the mails. Mr. Conness staid that in voting for the bill he wished to extend the rights of colored people to testify in all cases in all the courts of the United States, and instanced that in the States of New York and California this policy had worked well.

enlisting Ohio troops in this neighborhood. He was informed by a colleague that Ohio regime at in the southwest were enlisted as Teanessee troops. There was no doubt that the richer States, like New York, are offering and paying more bounties than the border States could give. He read a letter from an officer, showing that recruit-ig officers from Troy, New York, had induced the 11th, 12th, 17th, and other regular regiments, to re-enlist, and give credit to Rensselaer county, N. Y. The bounty is eight hundred and fifty-two doilars. In the regulars were several hundred from Ohio and the greater part from the West. This is a swindle on the West. We are, he said, etatled to the greater part from the West. This is a swindle on the West. We are, he said as Tennessee troops, these same troops having their lamilies supported by the localities to which they beiong. Mr. Rhar (Mo.) said the evils of which the gen-they belong. Mr. Blar (Mo.) said the evils of which the gen-tleman (Mr. Cox) complained had nothing to do with this bill. If the Secretary of War discredits the law, there was a way to make him respectit. He knew that thousands of men were recruiting in

He knew that thousands of men were recruiting in Muse uri and subsequently credited in Illinois, from which State they came. Nir Wadsworth (Ky.) expressed his dissent from this bill. They ought not to give States the pri-vilege or right to purchase men in other States. The States which have no money thus to spend must furnish their quota from their own people. He plotested agaalst the whole policy of arming megroes and bringing them into the contest. They were commanded by white officers, and denied all claim to political and social recognition, and yet claim to political and social recognition, and yet were required to fight. In fact it was exchanging were required to fight. In fact it was exchanging, one stare of slavery for one far more odious. He repeated that while the negroes were called upon to defend the national integrity, they were denied all the rights, and claims of cinzenship. If he called upon the negroes to help him to fight, they were fit to vote for him; hence he repudiated the whole policy, and called upon his State (Kentucky) o send her freemen into the field and not her slaves.

while bolie y, and called upon his State (kentucky) o send her freemen into the field and not her slaves. Mr. Blair (Miss.) did not regard this as a war be-ween some States and other States. It was a war between the government and men in rebellion sguinst if He believed they could as well employ men of the South in Massachusetts regiments as elsewhere. He did not concur in the remarks of he gentleman from Kentucky. He knew from what he had seen that there are thousands of men n the South anxions and willing to enter the ervice of the government, but as yet no provision his been made by which their families can be ared for. Thousand, of loyal men can be obtained here if provision be made for the support of their amilies. We should, therefore, avail ourselves of his opportunity. It was more their battle that: that of Massachusetts, and they had more interest in upholding the government than the North, for in upholding the government than the North, for they had suffered to a great extent the evils and horrors of war. The view which the gentleman from Kentucky had sought to inculcate was the Stele rights dogting a run med.

State rights doctrine run mad:

State rights doctrine run mad: Mr. James C. Allen, (III.) suggested whether it would not be better to let the Union men in the South remain where they were, to form a nucleus for the Union sextiment, instead of attaching them to the regiments from various States. Mr. Blair (Mo.) replied that that was being done now in North Carolina and Alabama, but the measure pending would be more efficacious. He was in favor of having their families provided for and arving the largest bounty.

and giving the largest bounty. Mr. Garfield (Ohio) speaking from practical knowledge, said that the only white regiments reised in the South were raised by himself in the summer of 1562. While his command was lying in the forests near Decatur, he learned that the Sand mountain cayes, and all parts of the moun-tains, were filled with Union men, sternly holdtains, were filled with Union men, sternly hold-ing out against conscription and resisting every attempt to force them into the rebel service. He sent out Col. Streight (who he hoped has made his escape from Libby prison), and that officer in three days raised four hundred men. The women from the mountains obtained his consent that these men might be enlisted, and one woman brought in thirty-five men, and he (Mr. Garifeld) would say he had never seen Union men like those Union men of the mountains, swarming from the sand hills of Mississippi to Western Virginia. No pro-position before the House had so much solid sense in it as this, and evidenced such far-reacing and wise statesmanship.

in it as this, and evidenced such far-reacing and wise statesmanship. Mr, Ccx (Ohio) offered the following amend-ment, which was agreed to, namely: Provided, further, that no enlistments shall be made of any soldier, either in or out of his own State, except those enumerated herein, unless full credit is given to the State to which the enlisted soldier belongs. The bill, as thus amended, was then passed—solider belongs.

The bill, as thus amended, was then passed—yeas SI, nays Id.
Mr. Finck (Ohio) submitted a resolution, which was agreed to, calling on the President, it not incompatible with the public interests, to report what number of veteran volunteers have re-entered the service, how many from the several States, and from what particular States non-residents have been recruited.
Mr. Dawes (Mass.) called up the Virginia election care, and the Honse proceeded to the consideration of the resolution that Lewis McKnzie is not entitled to a seat as representative from the several bayes, who could not satisfy themselves. There has been such a freedom of election in that district as to warrant the conclusion that Mr. McKenzie is not the choice of the legal voters of the whole district.
