by the Musical public, to be the finest Planos in America.

The attention of the Musical public is called to these recent great improvements in Piano Fortes. By a new method of construction, the greatest yossible volume of tone has been obtained, without any of the sweetness and brilliancy for which these Pianos are so celebrated, being lost, and which, with an Improved Touch and Action rener them Unequaled.

These Instruments received the Price Medal at the World's Fair, held in London, as well as the Highest Awards over all competitors, from the first Fairs and Institutes in this Country. Warerooms, 722 Arch street below Eighth, Philada.

EVENING BULLETIN TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1864.

TO THE FIELD. Recruits are going forward to the armies in the field with considerable rapidity, but not so fast as is deemed necessary by the Government. It is of vital importance that the forces in Virginia should be able to move in great strength and at an early day. There are enough re-enlisted veterans at home, and enough new recruits, to bring the army nearly up to the strength required for the contemplated forward movement. But delays in organization and other difficulties intervene to keep many of them away from the field longer than is proper. All such obstacles may be overcome by energy and earnestness on the part of regimental officers; and the people, who are paying enormous bounties to put men into the field promptly, expect all officers to do everything possible to accomplish this

The rebels know the vital nature of the struggle of the coming campaign, and their sweeping conscription is filling up their ranks very rapidly. We must not only surpass them in numbers, but in celerity. We should be able and ready to anticipate every movement of theirs, and do it with superior forces. This cannot be while scores of old regiments are away from the field, and while thousands of new recruits are scattered over the country in squads, companies, battalions and regiments. The time for the draft is approaching. Every detachment of troops sent to the field at this time will lesson the number of men required to be drafted; and the sooner they are sent, the shorter will be the term of service required for all. The Government needs men now, and every nerve should be strained to furnish them.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Dr. St. Clair, the newly-elected Republi-Indiana district, took his seat in the State. inducements. That the soldiers of the rebel Senate yesterday evening, and that body proceeded to business. The factious Democrats who have, for eight weeks, refused ground that the election of a speaker was necessary. But the majority regarded. Speaker Penny as their properly elected presiding officer, and the other officers were re-elected without delay. On every other matter brought ferward, the Democrats voted in a body in the acceptive. Thus they will probably atter apt to defeat legisla-tion throughout the same apt to defeat legislamen have a quoru a among themselves, and all opposition w. III be ineffective. Besides, there are or tain Democratic Senators who are expected to do cortain jobs in the way of passing bills, out of which money is to be made. They will have to vote on these and will thus be compelled to recognize the legality of the present organizations, or the proposed speculations will fail. The people must watch these opposition Senators, who have wasted thus far about half of an ordinary session, just because a patriot Senator was a prisoner at Richmond.

GENERAL SEYMOUR.

If the reports from the South are correct, Brigadier-General Truman Seymour, who commanded the late unfortunate expedition in Florida, ought to be court-martialed. He is already said to be under arrest, and there s good reason for this. The march seems to have been made with a total disregard of the ordinary precautions of warfare, and the troops were pushed into an ambuscade that any decent and honest soldier would have avoided. It could hardly have been ignorance that caused this, and we are therefore constrained to accept the following explanation of General Seymour's conduct, which we find in the New York Evening Post:

"General Seymour is a virulent pro-slavery man, an habitual contemner of the race on whose good will and friendly services we can alone rely for a knowledge of the movements of the enemy when we penetrate into his terri-tory. His contemptuous treatment of Robert Smalls, the gallant colored pilot who brought ns the steamer Planter out of the harbor of Charleston, and who is one of the heroes of our war, has already been recorded in this paper. He is not the man to avail himself of the service of the African race in the capacity for which they are most admirably adapted, that of scouts in the rebel country, or if he should attempt to avail himself of them, he is one who, because of his supercilious and unconcilating behavior toward them, is not likely to be served by them with any degree of readi-

The concluding sentence of this paragraph does not do justice to the negro soldiers who were in Seymour's little army. Letters received here since the battle say that they fought as well as any men could have fought who were placed in such a position. The extent of our losses-amounting to about one-fourth of the whole force-shows the desperate nature of the struggle. If Gen. Seymour wantonly thrust the negro regiments into a position where they were sure to be cut to pieces, he deserves the severest and most degrading punishment known to the military code. A searching investigation is imperatively demanded.

community men who, while they profess a laudable desire to secure an early peace by repeated victories, and the consequent relinquishment by the rebels of their designs against the Union, invidiously criticise the efforts of the Administration to that end. These cynics are few in number, but have some influence within their own immediate business and social circles, and as might be anticipated, are among those who, previous to the rebellion, enjoyed a profitable Southern trade, and who at the last Presidential election voted for John Bell. It is not surprising that their pockets should have some effect upon their impressions and opinions; but where so much loyalty is prolessed outwardly, they should surely not inwardly wish the operations of the Government to be impeded. In time of civil war, more especially such a contest as that which s now desolating a great portion of our once proud and prosperous Republic, the Administration and the Government must be regarded by patriots as one and indivisible, and abuse or unjust criticism of the former can but be regarded as intended for the latter.

There are but few of those who trafficked formerly with Southern merchants and manufacturers who have not found that their cash receipts have vastly increased within the past three years, although their ledgers may not require the same number of pages to record the daily sales during the semi-annual "busy season;" and we doubt if a single merchant anticipates the ultimate loss of the entire indebtedness which now appears upon his books. It is time these gentlemen appreciated their position and for the time being forgot their purses. No man can serve God and Mammon; neither can any man during the rebellion be a true patriot and at the same time regulate his daily walk so as to retain profitable relations with men who, whatever may have been their former social and business status, are now traitors in arms against the Union and the Constitution. Let these critics and censurers stand up manfully for the Administration, as the large majority of the representatives of their honorable vocation are doing, and not only will their present and future prosperity be guaranteed, but the indebtedness, which may have now every appearance of repudia-tion, will be liquidated entirely or in part.

REBEL RE-ENLISTMENTS. The Southern journals assert and exult over the statement that, while enlistments and re-enlistments in the loyal States are promoted solely by a desire to secure can Senator from the Armstrong and ing their patriotism without such mercenary service are re-enlisting is doubtless true; but when such a tyrannical and iron rule conto allow any business to be done, do otherwise? They have the choice to rerefused to vote for the Chief Clerk main in the army voluntarily, or to be and the subordinate efficers; taking the forced to shoulder the musket. In the North a veteran can renew his pledge to continue in arms against the enemies of his country; or he can; upon the expiration of his term of service, retire from the ranks, and, surrounded by the comforts of home, repose upon the laurels he has gained during a protracted and sanguinary campaign. In rebeldom the matter is, however, vastly different. To refuse voluntary service there is to ensure the contempt of his fellow-citizens, and his ultimate re-appearance as a soldier, forced into the ranks at the point of the bayonet. Neither old nor young are spared by the sweeping laws which have been enacted by the Congress of the Confederacy, and, bounty or no bounty, every man is expected to aid the Richmond authorities in their infamous schemes, and will be compelled, if necessary, to give the requisite assistance.

Under such circumstances it will not do for the rebel journalists to claim superior patriotism for men who re-enlist without bounties.

EMOKING ON THE RAILWAY CARS. We are glad to learn that the Board of Presidents of the city railway companies have taken action with a view to putting a stop to the nuisance of smoking either in or on their cars. A resolution was introduced some days since forbidding the toleration of the practice, and a majority of the members of the Board expressed their willingness to vote for it. It will come up for final action at the next meeting of the Board. It will no doubt carry, and if any inc refuses to domply with the rule regulating the whole, for the sake of making a bid for the patronage of "the man who smokes in the railway cars," citizens who are opposed to the practice should avoid the smoking cars, and patronize the lines where the nuisance is not permitted.

MR. MUBDOCH'S LECTURE FOR THE "SPE-CIAL BELIEP." On Thursday evening, Mr. Murdoch, the distinguished elocutionist, will deliver a lecture at the Academy of Music, in aid of the "Special Relief." The purpose of this fund is to afford relief to the families of soldiers (widows and orphans having the preference), by giving them, not alms, but work at remunerative wages. When the relief was established, it found the wife of a crippled and paralytic soldier making drawers at seventy-five cents a dozen. She was literally starving to death, and was but a type of many others. The Relief comes to the aid of such persons, and pays twenty-five cents a pair for drawers, and for other work, such as bed-sacks, shirts, &c., the same. All of these articles, thus made up, are afterwards given to the army. It is to replenish the exhausted treasury of the Relief that the lecture of Mr. Murdoch is to be delivered. We ought to state that, in every instance, where families have been visited, and the Relief gives out no work without visiting, the cry has been, "we do not ask for alms, we ask only for work." Such a cause, with se eloquent a lecturer as Mr. Murdoch, should fill the Academy of Music on Thursday evening
