FROM WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, March 9.—The President of the United States this afternoon formally presented to Major-General Grant his commission as Lieutenant-General. The ceremony took place in the Cabinet Chamber, in the presence of the entire Cabinet General Halleck, Representative Lovejoy, General Rawlins and Colonel Comstock, of General Grant's staff, the son of General Grant, and Mr. Nicolay, private Secretary of the President.

General Grant having entered the room, the General Grant having entered the room, the President rose and addressed him thus:

"General Grant: By the nation's appreciation of what you have done, and its reliauce on you for what remains to do in the existing great struggle, you are now presented with this commission constituting you Lieutenant-General in the Army of the United States. With this high honor devolves upon you also a corresponding responsibility. As the country herein trusts you, so, under God, it will sustain you. I scarcely need to add, that with what I here speak for the nation, goes my own hearty personal concurrence."

To which Lieutenant-General Grant replied as follows:

"Mr. President: I accept this commission with "A". President: I accept this commission with gratitude for the high honor conterred. With the sid of the noble armies that have fought on so many fields for our common country, it will be my earnest endeavor not to disappoint your expectations. I feel the full weight of the responsibilities now devolving on me, and I know that if they are met it will be due to those armies, and, above all, to the favor of that Providence which leads both nations and men." leads both nations and men."

The President then introduced the General to all the members of the Cabinet, after which, the company were seated, and about half an hour was spent in pleasant social conversation.

General Grant, on his return from Secretary Seward's dinner, was serenaded at half-past twelver o'clock, by the band of the 17th Infantry, which played "Hail to the Chief," "Massa Lincoln's Chyphoto Company".

The large crowds cheered for several minutes, and called for Grant. Hon. E. Washburne, of Illinois, came to the window of his room and said that he desired to thank them for this compliment, on behalf of General Grant, but he could not make them a speech, as he was a fighting man and not a man of words. The crowd kept on cheering, however, voci'erously, and calling for Grant, who finally came to the window, and said: "Gentlemen, you will have to excuse me from making a speech to-night."

At which the crowd again cheered and hurrahed for the man who never was defeated. A large fire having broke out near by, the crowd dispersed. Major General Warren was before the War Committee to-day, and narrated his knowledge of the battle of Gettysburg, and subsequent events. His testimony sustains and corroborates that of General Meade, and is conflicting with that of others. General Warren was formerly General Meade's Chief of Staff, and was succeeded by General Humphreys.

LATE SOUTHERN NEWS.

From the Richmond Whig of the 5th, and the Dispatch of the 7th, we select the following:
ADDITIONAL PAIRICULARS OF THE CAPTURE OF DAHLGREN'S PARTY.

From information derived from a reliable source, it appears that the credit of the capture of the 'Dahlgren party' is mainly due to Captain Wm. M. Magruder, and a squadron of Robin's battalion under his command, who have for some time past been posted in King and Queen county, as a corps of observation. Learning that the enemy was moving down the north bank of the Matapony by the river road, with the evident intention of reaching Gloucester Poirt, Captain Magruder determined to anticipate him, and with this view reaching droucester Foil 1, Captain Magrider de-termined to anticipate him, and with this view left his camp with about one hundred of his com-mand, and Lieutenant Pollard and seventeen men of the Ninth Virginia Cavairy, making for a point on the river between Mantua Ferry and King and Queen Court House, which he succeeded in reach-on the river between Mantua Ferry and King and Queen Court House, which he succeeded in reaching in advance of the enemy.

Posting his command at an eligible point along the road, in ambush, he had not long to wait before the enemy made his appearance, headed by Dahlgren himself, slowly and cautiously approaching, as if apprehensive of their impending fate. As the head of the column neared the point of concealment, Dahlgren's attention was arcested by a sMght rustling in the bushes, occasioned, doubtless, by the movement of some of our party:

Drawing his pistol, he called out, 'Surrender, you — rebel, or I'll shoot you.'' In an instant private McCloy sprang into the road, and, leveling his piece, shot the miscreant dead. A general volley was then poured into the enemy's ranks, which had the effect of emptying three saddles and killing as many horses, and throwing the rest into inextricable confusion.

Then ensued a scene of the wildest panic, which was heightened by the intense darkness of the aight. Each man looking to his own personal safety, all sought refuge in flight, and, spurring their jaded horses over the bodies of their wounded and over each other, the whole body broke pellmel over a ditch and, watting fence, which the most adverturous fox-hunter would hardly have essayed in the heat of the chase, into a small field. Captain Magruder immediately disposed his force ess yed in the heat of the chase, into a small field Captain Magrader immediately disposed his force around the field so as to prevent all egress, and quietly awaited the approach of daylight, when the whole party surrendered without resistance.—

Whig.
The Examiner says that Colonel Dahlgren wa: filled at Walkerton. He had two bullets through the head, one through the hand, and two in the body. He was stripped naked, and left lying on A number of our men were captured, and the Whig says "they should not be treated as prisoners of war, but this day's sun should not go down before every scoundrel taken is blown from the cannon's mouth."

The body of Colonel Ulric Dableren, killed in the swamps of King and Queen, by the 9th Virginia Cavalry, was brought to the city Sunday night and laid at the York River denot during the night and laid at the York River depot during the greater part of the day yesterday, where large numbers of persons went to see it. It was in a pine tox, ctothed in a Confederate shirt and pants, and shrunded in a Confederate blanket. The wooden ieg had been removed by one of the soldiers. It was also noticeable that the little finger of the left hard had been cut off. Dahlgien was a small man thin, pale, and with red hair and a goatee of the same c.ior. His face wore an expression of agony. About 2 o'clock P. M., the corpse was removed from the depot and buried—no one knows, or is to know, where.

About 20 clock R. M. the corpse was removed from the depot and buried—no one knows, or is to know, where.

NEGRO SOLDIERS.

Four Yankee, negro soldiers, captured in James City county, were brought to this city yesterday and delivered at the Libby, where they were distributed as far as they would go, into the solitary cells of the Yankee officers captured during the recent raid. This is a taste of negro equality, we fancy, the said Yankee officers will not fancy oversuch The nexroes represent themselves as James W. Corn, Company C. 5th United States Volunters; P. F. Lewis, Company I, 5th United States Volunters; R. P. Armistead, Company H, 6th Unit d States Volunteers; John Thomas, ditto.

It was also reported, but so far has not been confirmed, that Gen. Matt Ransom has succeeded in reaching Deep Creek, near Norfolk, and thus gained the rear of the enemy at Bowers's Hill, midway between Suffolk and Portsmouth, and captured several hundred of the vandals, including many negroes.

ADDITIONAL FROM THE SOUTH.

The Richmond Dispatch, in its account of General Kilpatrick's retreat down the Peninsula, says:—

'Badley Johnson's troops followed closely on Kilpatrick's column until the force sent from be-Kilpatrick's column until the force sent from below were met, when he suddenly found Dahlgren's party in his rear. He turned upon them, but Dahlgren's men succeeded in cutting their way through with the loss of twenty-one men.''

The rebel troops had been ordered back to Richmond, and an order of thanks for their conduct issued by General Hampton.

The accounts of General Custer's expedition are not main similar to those already given, and tate that General Lee had been absent from the strmy for ten days, which caused a delay in its movements, but he returned at three o'clock P. M. cn Monday, and ordered the infantry forward to Maoison Court-House, which they reached within Their casualties in the engagement with Custer are stated at infleen killed and wounded. Among are stated at fifteen killed and wounded. Among them are Lieutenant Parker, 2d Virginia Cavalry. I hay also acknowledge the destruction of property as heretofore published.

The letter of Judge Ould, refusing to recognize General Butler, has not been withdrawn, nor have the difficulties with reference to the negro troops been overcome.

The Fayetteville Observer reports that seven Yankee deserters, who were sent to work in the mine near that place, had again deserted on the night of their arrival. Five of them had been retaken.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Journal says that a boat load of Yankees, from the blockading squadron, went to Smithville on the 27th ult., and carried off captain Kelly, of General Herbert's Staff, and also negro.

A large fire had occurred in the government stables at Richmond, a number of horses being burned. The loss amounted to $20 000. After describing, in an editorial, the suffering and heroism of the prisoners at Point Lookout, $52 of whom had arrived at Richmond for exchange, the Sentinel says: "Those who remain at Point Lookout are of the same sort. We hope to see them soon. Will not the citizens of Richmond take some little interest to manifest those feelings which possess us all, the next time that prisoners arrive.

which possess us all, the next time that prisoners arrive.

"The waving handkerchief and the rousing cheer, the hospitable welcome, small as these things are, will gladden the hearts of our returning brethren. We heard one say, almost with tears in his eyes, that the prisoners landed at Rockwille, yesterday, amid silence. 'Oh!' said he, 'it was not what they expected.' We could only plead a surprise as the cause on this occasion. We will plead it no more. These are no common men and it is no common merit that we call on you to applicat as well as to admire and loye them."

and it is no common merit that we call on you to appland as well as to admire and love them."
The Raleigh (N.C.) Standard has been revived, and its editor, Mr. Holden, announces himself a candidate for Governor.
The Confederate officers captured near Frederick Hall, while sitting on a court-martial have all escaped or been recaptured from the enemy.
The Examiner, of the 8th says: We have just learned the particulars of a very dashing and successful descent upon the enemy on the Eastern Shore of Virginia by Thaddeus Fitzhugh, of the 5th Virginia Cavalry, and thirteen of his men. Captain Fitzhugh was at home, in Matthews county, on a furlough. Getting together fourteen men of his command, he crossed the Chesspeake Bay to Cherrystone Wharf, in Northampton county, and there surprised and captured a Yankes picket of twenty-nine men, and destroyed a large picket of twenty-nine men, and destroyed a large commissary and quartermaster's tores and six wagons. One schoorer and two steamers were lying at the wharf. He burned the schooner, bonded one the wharf. He burned the schooner, bonded one of the steamers and ran the other across the bay, and beached it high upon the Piankatank River, with the design, if possible, of saving the machinery, which is very valuable.

Captain Fitzhugh would have extended his raid beyond Cherrystone, but one of his men having deserted he felt sure that the information he would furnish the enemy would very soon bring down an overwhelming force upon his little party. He returned safely to Matthews, without any other casualty than the desertion mentioned.

Three several conflagrations, occurring in almost opposite compass points from the city, within several hours of each other, lead to the belief that they were kindled by skulking Yankees, who, perhaps, being separated and lost in the late raid, adopted this method of signalizing each other and getting together. getting together.

We have had much talk of a county patrol to protect the farmers of Henrico from such visitations as lighted up the country on Friday night, but we do not know of anything that has come of it. "The raiders concerned in the last On to Richmond," had been cooped at the Libby to the number of three hundred and twenty-one up to last night, with about fifty more to be heard from.
