XXXVIIITH CONGRESS-FIRST SESSION,

WASHINGTON, March 7, 1864. HOUSE.--Mr. Holman (Ind.) said, after three years of war they were now brought face to face with the issue offered by the President, as to the basis on which the Union shall be reconstructed. He denied the President, either as Commander in Desis on which the Union 'shall be reconstructed. He denied the President, either as Commander.in Ohief of the army and navy, or as a civil officer, has the power to fix the terms of reconstruction. It was his duty to execute and not make the laws, net to assume all the functions of government, for it was reserved to Congress to admit new States, and to guarantee a republican form of government. The new State governments, according to the President, were to be composed of not less than one-tenth, on conditions prescribed by himself This was, indeed, a beautiful pian for perpetuating the grand old Republic of Washington. It would not be a Union of free and equal States. To say the fundamental principles of government, tend-ing to the utter subversion of republican liberty. The bill reported by Mr. Davis, of Maryland, was to carry out the doctrine of reconstruction, exclud-ing the institution of slavery. Though this was objectionable, he would if he had to choose, prefer it to the plan of the Presi-dent, which laiter was based on the mitor.

ing the institution of slavery. Though thus was objectionable, he would if he had to choose, prefer it to the plan of the Presi-dent, which latter was based on the will of the President alone. States thus constructed would be the States of Abraham Lincoln and not of the American people. The sending of an official youth to Florida, having in view such reconstruction, and the withdrawal of a part of Gillmort's forces to that quarter to engage in hostilities which re-sulted so disastronsly, merely to gratify the base ambition of unworthy favorites of the President, were sufficient to stamp the whole policy with condemnation. If it were not for the president, sufficient to stamp the whole policy with mnation. If it were not for the persistent efcondemnation. If it were not for the persistent er-forts to abolish slavery, Tennessee and other States would be brought back by loyal men, and thus a great moral power would be employed against the rebellion. Mr. Hubbard (N. Y.) argued that as the institu-

States would be brought back by loyal men, and thus a great moral power would be employed stainst the rebellion. Mr. Hubbard (N. Y.) argued that as the institu-tion of slavery has proven to be a source of South-ern strength, and a means of protonging the war, and it follows as a military necessity that we have a right to remove it, they should therefore smite the great cause which has bronght upon us our present troubles. British military commanders, as far back as the Revolution. issued proclama-tions declaring slaves free. Washingtion and others of that day did not question the exercise of this beligerent right. If such proclamations could be issued then, why military head of the army of the Union, and the Constitution imposes upon him the responsibility of conducting the war, prescribing no r strictions, but rendering him subordinate only to the laws of nations and of war. He quoted numerous anthori-ties in support of his position. God, he said, has opened the door to four millions of slaves, and enabled them to walk in the light of liberty. It were better for a man he had never been born, than make an issue between slavery and freedom, and to argue that free men must bereturned to bondage. The aame of such a one would become a hissing and reproach, and his name be clothed with infany. By the bonest wisdom of Abraham Lincoln, and the providence of God, all the slaves? If he parchment may be destroyed, but the decree has passed beyond the control of man, and will continue as long as the sun and moon endure. Mr. Dumont (Ind.) noticed the remarks of the genuteman who had heretofore complained that the dead, and it a man from a loyal State should have occasion to curse the day of his birth, and call on the rocks and mountains to hide him from deserved infamy. There were traitors in the free States, some of them runaways from the should have occasion to curse the day of his birth, and call on the rocks and mountains to hide him frem deserved infamy. There were traitors

Mr. Cox said he was tired of hearing such slang

Mr. Cox said he was tired of hearing such slang uttered here to a slim house. Some one reminded Mr. Cox that the speech to which he objected was from a Democrat. Mr. Cox replied that Mr. Dumont was a rene-gade Democrat. He then referred to gentlemen coming here like schoolboys and rehearing the slang and trash picked up during the week, and sending it to the country as grand speeches. It was a farce. The same old stuff was reiterated abour what he wrote when he was a boy. It did not prove he favored the political and social condi-tion of the negro. None but an idiot or a fool would draw such a conclusion. The chairman, Mr. Dawes, called Mr. Cox to order, and required him to observe the rules. Mr. Cox said he would do so, but why did not the Ghairman call the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. Dumont) to order for his gross personalities 1 officers and promised to recognize the legitimate (Spanish) authority. This information comes through an interested channel. Ship Lady Washington, Sigsbee, sailed from San Francisco 12th inst. for Baker's Island. Bark Lucy Frances, Berry, hence at Boston 12th

Bark St Marys, Bryant, remained at Remedios BEIGADIER-GENERAL SEYMOUR. An officer who knows General Seymour assures us that the declaration of the New York Evening

Post, that he is opposed to negro troops, and that to his repognance to them was owing his late defeat at Olustee, Florida, is wholly incorrect. An editorial article in the Army and Navy Gazette speaks of General Seymour as follows:

speaks of General Seymour as follows: General Seymour entered the army from the Academy in 1846 in 1847 he was brevetted for meri-torious service; in 1860 he was promoted to the rank of Captain in the 5th Artillery; as we have before inbimated, he was one of the defenders of Fort Sumter; subsequently Battery O, of the 5th Artillery, under his command, was assigned to General McCall's divisior; in April, 1862, he was appointed a Brigadier-General of Volunteers, serving with his brigade with much distinction on the Peninsula and af Antietam; after this he was sent to the Department of the South, where he was welcomed as an accomplished soliter and a high-minded and thoroughly loyal gentleman. In the attack under General Gillmore, on Fort Wagner, though unsuccessful, as has been the case with nearly every officer in nearly every assalt upon regular works, he won additional renown among military men, and continued to gain the confidence of his Commandur General of all the confidence military men, and continued to gain the confidence of his Commanding General and of all his fellow-

This is a brief review of General shad of all his fellow-officers in the Department. This is a brief review of General Seymour's re-cord. It has everywhere been honorable, and one to which he can point with just pride. In view of it, let us stop a moment before we venture to condemf.

by Which he can point with just pride. In view of it, let as stop a moment before we venture to condemf. One of the charges brought against him by a daily newspaper of this city—a journal of such high standing that we are at a less to understand how it could so readily, and with such violence, join in assalling General Seymour—is, that he is not an advocate of the employment of negro troops, and has always regarded them with suspicion. The same paper attacks General Gillmore on the same ground. We believe the charges to be wholly without foundation. The fact of the em-ployment of negro troops has been accepted by every true soldier, whatever his prejudices, as part of the declared policy of the Govern-ment under whose anthority he serves, and to whose commands he owes strict obedence. Pro-iessional soldiers like Generals Gillmore and Sey-mour cire the last to attempt to combat positive orders, and the true history of the Department of the South will show that they have obeyed not only the letter but also the spirit of their instruc-ions with reference to negro troops. We have seen the camps of the celored regiments in the Department of the South, and have witnessed their nspections, and, we know that none have been more ready to give them credit for their efficiency and soldierly bearing than the two general officers whom the Events Posity so unjustly assails. We do not write in defence of Gen. Seymour's conduct in the affair on the Olustee. It may be our duy to speak of it in severe condemnation; but we ask for him justice, and a hearing.

(Mr. Dumont) to order for his gross personalities I Since he made his former speech he had received more proof of the progress of miscegenation, and said such men as Oheever and Ohanning, who pro-fessed so much love for negroes, excluded them from their church news.

ressed so much love for negroes, excluded them from their church pews. Mr. Bliss (Ohlo) spoke of the Democratic party administering the government for so many years, adhering strictly to the letter and spirit of the Constitution; and thus securing to the nation the blessings it was so competent to bestow. He attributed our troubles to the election of a sectional candidate by concentrated fonzies. attributed our troubles to the election of a sectional candidate by concentrated fanaticism which sought to abridge the South of their constitutional rights. In expressing his views against the President's plan of reconstruction, he said it was as anti-republican, as it was absurd and imprac-tionable

Mr. Grinnell noticed a remark which Mr. Cox had made concerning him, namely, that he would express his astonishment at anything decent from him (Mr. Grinnell). He (Mr. Grinnell) never raised his arm to assault a man in his life, but he now, repelled as a foul slander the audacity and hase remark of that member.

Cost was not in his seat.
Mr. Holman reminded Mr. Grinnell that Mr.
Cox was not in his seat.
Mr. Grinnell said he knew that, but had left the hall like a coward.
Mr. Holman said the gentleman might not use such terms if Mr. Cox was present.
Mr. Grinnell said the lance of General Dumont had severly pierced the seatleman from Object

All. Grinnell said the mance of General Diumont had severely pierced the gentleman from Ohio, who recently had appeared in Brooklyn to sup-port the speech of an apostate petticoat against Miss Dickinson. Mr. Grinnell said Mr. Dumont had exposed the Democratic renerations that was the sore point.

Mr. Grinnell said Mr. Dumont had exposed the Democratic renegades, and that was the sore point; they had opposed soldiers voting. Mr. Holman controverted that point; but Mr. Grinnell said Mr. Holman belonged to a very small party, the War Democrats. Not so with the larger portion of them. He briefly spoke in derogation of McClellan, who, with his Demo-cratic friends, were leagued with slavery, and would go down to hell together. The Committee rose, and at five o'clock the House adjourned.

The Spanish vessels Almogobar and Berenquez had arrived, with reinforcements for the army of Antilles. The Havana papers contain copious extracts from late Mobile papers, showing that General Sherman's expedition had created the greatest alarm there. The Federal troops are charged with having committed incredible outrages. The steamers Fannie and Syren had arrived at Nassau, on the 29th ult., with cargoes of cotton from Wilmington, having run the blockade there. The advices from Yera Oruz are to the 1st inst., and from the City of Mexico to Feb. 26th. Zacatecas has been occupied by two thousand Imperialists, who are directing their military ope-rations against General Ortega. He is intenched at Gundalajara and the Imperialists had declared this place in a state of size. The people of Zaca-tecas received the invaders with rejoicings. The imperialist garrison at Tabaseo has been be-sieged by the Juarists, and unless reisforced will have to surrender.

General vidaurri has declared openly against Juarez, and has abandoned his cause. The French have also had a naval success. Their war corvette Oordilliere captured and took into San Blas the Mexican steamer San Francisco, formerly the English steamer Lord Raglan, with despatches from Juarez.

Aspatches from Juarez. At the latest accounts Juarez was at Santa Cata-lina, and Doblado at Monterey. A rumor prevails that Gonzales Ortega gives in his adhesion to the new Government. From'all parts of the country comes the intelli-gence of the occupation of various towns by the French the occupation of various towns by the Jualo and Minatilian. After making all allowance for the fact that the news from Moxico comes from French sources, it is evident that the national cause is rapidly losing ground. The Juarez Government is now reduced to four of five States.

FROM SAN DOMINGO. The steamer Quintin had arrived at Eavana, from San Domingo, with news to the 29th ult. She brought General Goudara, the Spanish leader in the present war against the revolted Islanders. He came to Havana to arrange an expedition sgainst Montecriste, and was received with full military honors. The news from San Domingo is favorable to the The news from San Domingo is favorable to the Spanish. A battle had taken place at Molnoco, at which the royalist troops surprised the rebels, rushed upon, them, destroyed their camp, and put them to flight. The revolters had received cammuniton and supplies from vessels floating the Exclusion for English flag. This fact had aroused some ill-feeling in Caba against England. It is alleged that many families and individuals, despairing of success in the rebels tion, have presented the uselyes to the Spanish
