THE Source Gymnastique.—Among the various schemes for mercy, originated by our noble Sanitary Commission, none has been better imanaged than the Soirée Gymna stique to come off at the Academy of Music on the 12th of next month. This pleasant exhibition has been projected by Dr. Jansen, the admirable educator in physical training, at the special request of their Committee on Exhibitions, Benefits and Entertainments, and has been suitably kept before the public by adverisement in our columns. The Doctor's pupils are in excellent drill, and are glad and proud to exhibit their proficiency for the sake of our brave and suffering soldiers. A number of proficients in the heavier and more difficult gymnastics will add their feats to the enterzainment, and a magnificent orchestra of thirtygix, or more, pieces will assist the whole with selections from the greatest operas.

A FAIR will be opened at Concert Hall, on Wednesday evening next, by the "Ladies' Union Association," for the benefit of sick and wounded colored soldiers. Contributions in Brokey, confectionery, fancy and other articles are solicited. They may be sent to the Presiment, V. E. Dorsey, 615 Clifton street, or to pther officers; also to the anti-slavery office and to the Rall during the week of the Fair.

THE IDANO EXPEDITION .- General Sully, the commander of the Idaho expedition, to Dacotah and Idaho, against the Indians, has shipped gind Idano, against the Indians, has shipped from St. Louis one hundred tons of provisions for Fort Benton. A company of one hundred soldiers, with two mountain howitzers, went on soldiers, with two mountain nowitzers, went on the same boat. The impression prevails that the boat will be attacked by the Indians before reaching her destination. The emigrants to Idaho will probably have some trouble in get-ting through to the mines, as the Indians are said to be on the route in great numbers, and are very hostile.—St. Louis Democrat, 23d.

NEW IRON BRIDGE AT COATESVILLE .- We understand the Pennsylvania Railroad are making arrangements for the construction of an Iron Bridge over the Brandywine. The trustle work was erected last season, and as soon as the spring opens the work will be pushed rigorously forward. When completed it will be one of the finest structures in the United States, about 80 feet in height and about 1000 in length.-Phanix.

R. J. H. SCHENCK can be found at als principal Office, No. 39 North SIXTd Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, and at 22 BOND Street. New York, every Tuesday. All persons who stand in need of his Advice (for which no charge is made) are invited to call on him. For examination of the Lungs with the Respirometer, he charges $3. It is very important that the doctor should know the precise state of the lungs, and it is a great satisfaction to the patient to have correct information on this subject. It is well, therefore, for every one who can afford the expense to have a thorough examination. There is so much variety thorough examination. There is so much variety in cases of Consumption, that a different treatment in cases of Consumption, that a different treatment may be required, according to circumstances. The three great mealcines of Dr. SOZENCK are adapted to all cases, but sometimes one or two of them will be sufficient. Occasionally a box of MANDRAKE PILLS alone (costing 25 cents) will indicate the sufficient of the disecse is merely abad cold or an obstruction of the Liver. The PULMONIO SYRUP is always required when there is any considerable disorder of the respiratory organs indicated by cough, pains in the breast or side, difficulty of breathing, &c. This SYRUP partities the blood, from which it separates the blood are healthy condition; and this is a very considerable part of the cure. The SEA-WEED TONIO, in connection with the PULMONIC SYRUP, is a most important remedy in almost every case of most important remedy in almost every case of Consumption—it remoyes that debilitated state of the system which always accompanies pulmo-nary disease, and which very often causes it. SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIO strengthens SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIO strengthens the appetite and improves the digestion; and the patient, ine end of being confined to a low, scanty diet, according to the absurd out on which generally prevails, is enabled to digest the most rourishing food and thus to gain strength; and this is all that is necessary to complete the care. No mutter how fut or rich the tood may be, the Sea-Weed Tonic will make it digestible, and by this means the whole body is nourished and invigorated. Where persons feel weak and debilitated, a wineglass of the Sea-Weed Tonic will revive and strengthen the patient at once. It is a pleasant stimulant or bitters, perfectly harmless. Freely taken, it is a certain runedy against Christ and Fevers. Fevers. MANDRAKE PILLS are intended to remove obstructions and carry off the diseased matter. And thus it appears that all three of DR SCHENCK'S Medicines are used in a majority of consumptive cases; and, if used according to direction, they are invallible, provided the disease is not advanced toe far to make a cure possible, as it certainly is if the lungs are nearly destroyed.

direction, they are invallible. Provided the disease is not advanced toe far to make a cure possible, as it certainly is if the lungs are nearly destroyed.

Patients will please to take notice that when circumstances make it impossible for them to have a personal interview with Dr. Schenck, they will know how to procred with the use of his medicines, as each bottle is accompanied by full directions in English. French, German, and Spanish, and these directions are so explicit that whatever may be the form of the disease or the condition of the patient, no mistake in the use of the medicine will be possible. Each bottle of PULMONIO SYRUP is accompanied by a pamphlet describing the different forms of consumption, and the symptoms are so accurately described that every one may know which of the medicines is adapted to his own particular case.

Several things are to be especially observed. The patient must use the medicines according to directions; he must avoid taking cold, and he must ext nourishing food, taking care to chew it well; and he need not be apprehensive of too stronk or rich a diet," for the SEA. WEED TONIO will empower the stomach to digest anything which may properly be called food. If these simple railes are observed, Dr. Schenck promises a certain cure, provided there is enough of the lungs remaining to carry on the operations of nature.

All who are skeptical on this subject are invited to call at Dr. Schenck's rooms, in New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Baltimore, and they will senot only a vast amount of written and printed evidence which proves the efficacy of Dr. Schenck's may hear from the hips of these patients a declaration of the benefit of they have invariably received from Dr. Schenck's Remedy Skeptics may hear from the hips of these patients a declaration of the benefit of they have invariably received from Dr. Schenck's reatment, nearly all of tham being in excellent spirits and in confident expectation of a cure.
