GOLD MEDAL GRAND,

SQUARE UPRIGHT PIANOS are now considered the best in Europe, as well as this country, having received the first Prize Medal at the World's Exhibition in London, 1862.

The principal reason why the Steinway Pianos are superior to all others is, that the firm is composed of five practical pianoforte makers (father and four sons), who invent all their own improve every part of the instrument is manufactured.

EVENING BULLETIN MONDAY, MARCH 28, 1864.

THE BAILROAD MONSTER.

Part of the plan of the conspirators who are trying to push the "Union Passenger Railway" bill through the Legislature is to suppress all reports of the proceedings concerning it in the Harrisburg papers. Hence there has been no statement of the votes of the members on the subject. We learn now, with pleasure, that four Philadelphia members, besides Mr. Cochran, whom we have already named, have opposed the bill from the start. These are Mr. O'Hara, of the 6th District; Mr. Schofield, of the 14th; Mr. Lee, of the 16th, and Mr. Miller, of the 17th. We congratulate these gentlemen on they position the have assumed.

Doubtless there will be an effort made to push the bill through the House this evening, as its supporters are determined to allow as little time as possible for opposition or remonstrance. But our citizens may yet defeat it, and we expect them to lose no time in drawing up and signing remonstrances. The better portion of the country members are disposed to resist the passage of the bill; but they expect to hear from Philadelphia that their course will be approved. We believe there is urge that the true friends of the city go to work vigorously to get up remonstrances.

THE RAID IN WEST KENTUCKY. The rebel General Forrest has lately made one of the boldest of his many raids. First advancing on Union City, part of his command attacked the small garrison of about 400 men, under Col. Hawkins who was compelled to surrender. This occurred on Thursday, March 24th. Forrest then, with about 5,000 men, marched to Paducah, Ky., and attacked that place on Friday, taking possession of most of the town and destroying much property. The fort below the city, commanded by Col. Hicks, with a garrison of 800 men, was then attacked, but the rebels were repulsed with a terrible loss, anyounting to three or four hundred killed and twelve or fifteen hundred wounded. Among the killed was a General Thompson. The gunboats in the river materially assisted the garrison of the fort, but their fire was very destructive to property in the city. After this repulse, Forrest was compelled to retreat, with his force terribly reduced and crippled, and it is believed that he fled beyond the Ten-wounded in our hands. It is not likely that he will again venture to return into Kentucky.

THE WARD BOUNTY FUNDS. The citizens of most of the Wards of the city are working manfully to fill their quotas before the 15th of April, the time at which the extra bounty offered by the Government will cease. There is no difficulty in procuring men, provided the money is on hand to pay the extra Ward bounties, and every consideration of patriotism and city pride should prompt citizens to contribute to these funds, and save Philadelphia from a draft. Even where no more worthy motive than self-interest exists, persons who are liable to the draft should contribute. The share of each draftable person in a fund sufficiently large to free the city from a conscription is but about five dollars. What better investment can be made by those who are unwilling to shoulder a musket, or to pay three hundred dollars commutation money ? To contribute to these Ward funds is effecting an insurance from the draft upon the easiest terms possible, and we wonder that any one can hesitate about doing what is not only prompted by patriotism, but also by self-interest. Most of the wards have already published the names of the contributors to their bounty funds. These lists show us who are the publicspirited citizens, and who are the narrow, the selfish, and the miserly. Men who have already given with princely liberality to the good cause, are shown to continue to give freely while others, who have abundant means, and who have not unfrequently made large profits out of the Government, dole out their contributions with a miser's hand. It has been proposed in some of the wards to publish the names of those who refuse to give at all in aid of the cause. We are not quite sure of the legality of such an act; but those who are most interested in such a publication have certainly no more right to complain that they should be put fairly upon the record, as being among those who have either no stomach for the war, or no disposition to lighten their pockets to aid in its effectual prosecution.

DEATH OF HON. OWEN LOVEJOY. The Hon. Owen Lovejoy, member of the United States House of Representatives, from Illinois, died at midnight on Saturday, in Brooklyn. He had been suffering with disease of the liver and kidneys since January last, but did not leave Washington until the middle of the present month, when his disease became aggravated by his atttention to his official duties. He was born in Albion, Kennebec county, Maine, on the 6th of January, 1811, and until he was eighteen years of age, labored on a farm. He subsequently taught school, and by the money received as remuneration for his labors, was enabled to be educated at Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine. Studying theology he received a call in 1838 to the charge of the Congregational Church at Princeton, Illinois, and officiated there for sixteen years, until, in 1854, he was elected a Representative in the Illinois Legislature, and resigned his pastoral duties. Two years later he was elected a Representative in Congress, and has been re-elected at the expiration of each succeeding term. Always a fearless advocate of freedom, his views upon the slavery question were made more decided, and his batred to the institution more intense, by the murder of his brother, the Rev. E. T. Lovejoy, the editor of Particles of the control of the an anti-slavery newspaper at Alton, Illinois, by a pro-slavery mob.

Mr. Lovejoy was an amiable gentleman. exceedingly popular in the district he represented, an able debater, and an uncompromising op ponent of traitors and treason.

VENTILATION IN CHURCHES. The beautiful weather of Easter Sunday had the effect to fill the churches of various denominations with dense throngs of worshippers, and the solemn services of the festival were participated in by masses of people who could not fail to be deeply impressed. The constant stream of church-goers also filled the sunshiny streets with a flowing panorama of life. color and motion which made the day a bright and memorable festival. Within many of the sacred edifices, however, one could not fail to observe that the air was close and unwholesome, the freshness of the street being rigorously excluded by over-careful sextons, who kept every window closed, just as they would do had the thermometer been at zero. The flushed and languid countenances of those who filled the pews could not move these enemies of ventilation, and carbonic acid gas was allowed to accumulate in every cubic foot of atmosphere, to the detriment of health-and the destruction of comfort. This evil is one of long standing in churches, but it was more strongly apparent than usual yesterday, owing both to the freshness and warmth of the air in the streets and to the densely crowded condition of the churches in all parts of the city. Can we not have a reform in this respect? Scarcely anything, merely material, could so add to the fervor of devotion as a bountiful supply of pure air in constant circulation through every part of any well-attended church.

We find it stated in the Scientific Americana good authority in such matters, that a combination has been entered into amongst the owners of several valuable patent rights now about to expire, and for which extensions are yet time to give full assurance of this, and we asked, "to push their cases through if money will do it." The principal patents referred to are the Goodyear India Rubber patent and Woodworth's planing machine.

We hold it to be a matter of simple justice that an inventor should have the benefit of his invention for a certain period. But after a reasonable time has elapsed, the invention belongs to the public. The probabilities are very strong that during that term some one else would have made the discovery. In the use of the two inventions just mentioned, the public has paid millions of dollars, and has now the fullest right that they shall be thrown open for general use. The Goodyear patent, and we believe the Woodworth, have each had an extension, and ample opportunity for remuneration has been given and availed of. At the present time, a reduction in the cost of India lubber blankets would be very desirable for army purposes, and a termination of the Woodworth patent would be very valuable to the building business, now so much interfered with by the want of hands. Every one who rents house is interested in the termination of a patent which interferes so much with the extension of the application of machinery to the nessee, leaving his dead and most of his working of lumber.

WILLIAM B. NORRIS, Esq., Paymaster in the United States Army, died at Memphis, on the 22d inst. Mr. Norris was a citizen of Philadelphia, where his family now reside. He held the office of Surveyor of the Port during the Taylor-Fillmore Administration. He was a gentleman design character and many amiable qualities, and is death is sincerely deplored by a large circle of friends.
