GENERAL SIGEL'S DEPARTMENT. HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT WESTERR VIR-GINIA; March 23, 1864.—The wife of the rebel Senator Henry S. Foote, arrived within our Ifnes, and had an interview with Gen. Sullivan Mrs. Foote says she is disgusted with the Confederacy, cannot live there, and has come with in our lines to take the oath and go North. Mrs. Foote has her child and a nurse with her.

She was, however, sent back again into Dixie Hon. Pierre Soule has married the beautiful relict of Robert Stannard, and the two have passed through our lines and gone Northprobably on their way to some foreign country. The lady is the owner of some property in West Tennessee, and took the oath under the President's amnesty proclamation.

Hon. C. J. Faulkner, ex Minister to France, came as far as Winchester, with a view to coming within our lines and taking the oath. At Winchester he was met by his brother-in-law, who persuaded him from his purpose. The brother-in-law is strongly opposed to the Union government authorities, because he was arrested a short time since and held as a hostage for the safe and speedy return of a loyal citizen carried off by the rebels, named Dooley.

Mr. N. DeBree, the telegraph operator who was at Green Spring, is under arrest at Cumberland. I believe the charges preferred against him are of his having showed his wife military despatches—she being considered

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT WESTERN VIRGINIA, March 24, 1864.—My latest despatches from the Kanawha contain important

Major Rucker, of General Crooke's staff, was sent from Charleston, on the Kanawha river, to the headquarters of this department, with important despatches for Gen. Sigel. The Major left Charleston in the steamer Victress, Capt. Cox. When about twenty-five miles from Charleston Capt. Cox stopped the steamer and informed Major Rucker that, owing to the prevalence of a high wind, he considered it safe to go through the "shoot," this latter being about twenty-eight miles from Charleston. The Major insisted on making as much speed as possible; but it was decided to await a more favorable opportunity.

After a great deal of trouble, and the wind having lulled, the Major succeeded in having the vessel put out and headed for its destination. The perseverance of the Major deserves great credit, and the escape of the vessel was fortunate indeed; for that very night a body of rebel cavalry dashed into Windfield, where Captain Cox had gone to see his wife, and captured nearly the whole of a Company of the 3d

Virginia cavalry.
Considering that Major Rucker was the bearer of highly important despatches, it would have been quite a fortunate thing for the rebels if they had succeeded in capturing him.

FOREIGN MISCELLANY. The number of accidents to pedestrians in the streets of Paris from the reckless driving of coachmen and carters is every year increasing. The last returns show 969 accidents, of which 99 were fatal. This increase in the number of accidents is naturally explained by the increase of the number of carriages which traverse Paris, and which at present amount to 75,000.

One of the most curious farming customs in the heights of Thibet is that of stuffing quantities of hav among the higher branches of trees: the snow in winter lying five or six yards deep, and the sheep, which abound in these districts, being then able to get at the hay.

A young man between twenty and 30 years of age committed suicide at Paris recently by throwing himself from the top of the column at at the Place de la Bastile. No papers being found on the unfortunate man to show his identity, he was conveyed to the Morgue. The London Danish Relief Committee has now sent to Copenhagen £5,000. Amongst the House of Commons, and £250 from the members of the London Stock Exchange. The aristocracy are largely represented in the list. Among the novelties of the day are Quakers with moustaches. The bearded may be seen going into their house of Meeting at the back of the National Gallery, and in the House of Commons there are examples.

The London Daily News says: Sir Rowland Hill retires from the Post Office in consequence of ill health. The Telegraph hints that something more than coolness has existed between Sir Rowland and the Post-Master-General. The British Army Estimates show that in the

During last year 70,718 coolies had arrived at Ceylon and 61,765 had left that island. Mr. Thackeray's income, for many years before his death, averaged £4,000 per annum. It is stated that the Times receives £225,-

The United States Christian Commission hasseized the precent goiden opportunity of rest for the Army to extend its wirk for the good of the Soldiers. Soldiers.
STATIONS have been multiplied, each with its chapel and store tents, free writing tables, and clothing, comforts and reading matter for gratuitous distribution.
VOLUNTARY DELEGATES, in numbers greater than ever before, have been sent to preach the Gospei at the stations and in regiments, bar-teries and camps without Chaplains, distribute reading matter and stores, and labor for the good of the Neddiars.

Still a large part of the Army remains unreached, and double the number, both of stations and delegates, are needed to meet the urgent demand to them.

The Christian Commission offers to the people a perfectly reliable and wonderfully economical channel to reach the entire army in all its various fields. The money given goes in full measure, in benefits for body and soul, directly to the Sidders, and stores also, immediately from the bands of and stores also, immediately from the bands of delegates from home, who add words and deeds of

The Committee on Finance and Donations of the The Committee on Finance and Donations of the Great Central Fair, appeal for contributions in money, to those of their fellow-citizens who do not propose sending to the Fair the products of their skill and industry. By far the larger portion of the money received on the occasion of the Fairs held for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission in Cincinnati, Boston, and Brooklyn, was derived from direct donations in cash and not from the proceeds of the sale of articles exposed. What the Sanitary Commission needs to afford relief to the sick and wounded soldiers is money, in large amounts and from the Sanitary Commission needs to afford relief to the sick and wounded soldiers is money. in large amounts and from all sources. We call, then, upon all backers, corporations, capitalists, persons living upon incomes, professional or otherwise; in short, upon all who will not be represented in the Fair by their productions, to imitate the example of those who will, and to contribute liberally in money for this great object. In New York, although their Fair is not to be held for two weeks, contributions of more than $200,000 in cash have been already received, a single department of trade, that of dry goods, having made up more than helf that sum. Brooklyn and Cincinnati have each contributed as much in money, and certainly the wealth, liberality and pariotism of Philadelphia can bardly be considered as less conspicuous than that of these communities. Contributions will be thankfully received by any of the members of the Committee.
