 CHANTS OF PENNSYLVANIA.
 On behalf of our sick and wounded soldiers, in

On behalf of our sick and wounded soldiers, in the camps, hospitals, and on the battle-field, the undersigned appeal to the Wholesale Dry Goods Merchants of Pennsylvania to lend their powerful aid to the GREAT CENTRAL FAIR OF THE SANITARY COMMISSION, to be held in this city on the first of June next. The labors and achievements of this great na-tional organization are too well known to you, and to the world, to need any detailed description a this time.

to the world, to need any detailed description a this time. The Sanitary Commission was recognized by the Government anthorities at an early stage of this war, and has silently but faithfully and most effi-ciently, continued its labors from that time to the present.

Infortuging character in its spirit, compact in its organization, and systematic and practical in its workings, established especially for the benefit of our own sick and wounded soldiers, at the same time it extends aid to those of either army, recog-nizing them all as brethren and citizens of a common country. Its field of labor embraces the whole theatre of the war from New Orleans and Texas along the Mississippi valley, across the bloody plains of Tennessee and Virginia, to Antietam and Gettys-burg, and every other battle-field on the Atlantic oast. Such vast operations require correspondingly vast resources to sustain them, and the approach-ing Fair is intended to aid in providing and main-ing Fair is intended to aid in providing and main-taining these resources. We appeal to you confidently for liberal contri-butions, under the belief that all who are following their accustomed. business pursuits in security at home will esteem it a privilege to do all in their power to alleviate the sufferings of those who are nobly sacrificing their ease, and r'sking life itself in behalf of their country. We will also receive thankfully small donations from any in your em-ploy, earnestly requesting that you will encourarze them and others over whom your influence extends to contribute to this noble charity. Contributions are earnestly solicited in money or merchandise, which may be sent to the Chairman or either of the committee.

Third st. ap2-s, w&s3tø HALF PILOTAGE TAX. -Mr. Editor: The member of Covgress who made the re-marks at the meeting of the Corn Exchange Asso-ciation concerning the high rate of pilotage and half pilotage taxes must be very ignorant of the laws of Pennsylvania relating to those subjects. It is a well known fact that no vessel engaged in the Pennsylvania coal trade is compelled to take a pilot or pay half pilotage. Government vessels are of course not required to emrloy a pilot or pay haif pilotago if they do not engage one, and if they do employ one, they are only required to ray what they pay in all other States, viz., $5 per foot. Coastwise vessels are not compelled to take a pilot or pay half pilotage outward bound. As regards the high rate of tonnage, we have

As regards the high rate of tonnage, we have nothing to say, we do not suppose that the rates are higher than in any other city. Yours, very respectfully, WILLIAM JEFFERIES.

FORBIGN ITEMS. A corresp writing from St. Petersburg on the 11th ult

As the Russians can neither dance nor marry during Lent, hundreds of couples rush to the altar before the fast begins, and those who are fond of dancing—and they seem to form a numerous class—take their fill during the carnival week, as they literally dance from morning till night and from night till morning One would think a dejeuner dansant enough for one day, but it is frequently followed during this short season of folly by a ball in the evening. The season will be closed by a dejeuner dansant on Sunday morning, and a ball in the evening of the same day at the Winter Palace. Preparations have been made to close the harbors of Stockholm and Carlscrona by means of rafts which will be bound together by iron chains. The rumor gains credence that an army corps of twelve thousand or fifteen thoui men will be assembled at Schonen. Great activity already prevails in the naval departments, and several screw line-of-battle ship and steam-corvettes will be fitted out and armed.

The Papal Government has authorized hunt ing in the Campagna, which had been strictly forbidden for some years in consequence o accidents that had occurred, although tolerated since the commencement of the last season.

A very interesting discovery has been made in continuing the excavations in the narthex of the old Basilica of San Clemente-a painting, representing our Saviour seated and in the act of giving the benediction to two personage: kneeling before him, presented by angels. The outstretched hand of the Saviour is placed according to the Greek form, i, e. the thumb and third digit united. The head is very good, surrounded by a deep nimbus. On either side are full length figures of St. Clement and St. Andrew, with their names, and a long inscription, almost illegible hitherto, underneath.

The military correspondent of the Presse of Vienna, shows that if the allies wish to take Friedericia as well as Duppelu, according to the usual mode of attacking fortresses, they will undertake a work which will cost many millions of gulden, and will require at least two months, for Friedericia is defended by two hundred guns, possesses a front line of five thousand paces, has the sea in the flank and rear, and can continually draw supplies from the Island of Funen. Field-telegraphs are laid throughout the entire circle occupied by the besieging force, and a line is also completed from Gravenstein to Broacker, and in consequence the method of communicating between the two places by means of ship signals is now abolished. Broacker is particularly important for the Prussians in this respect, as from a steeple there they can overlook the Danes as far as Sonderburg. This steeple has now been in a steeple in the steeple has now been in converted into a complete observatory, charge of an officer of engineers, and already it has been found so useful to the allies in making themselves acquainted with country that they accurately know the dis-tance of the batteries and of other important features in the landscape.
