PHILADELFHIA, April 7, 1864. CIRCULAR TO LOANHOLDERS.— NAVIGATION OF THE LEHIGH COAL AND MAVIGATION COMPANY, PHILADELFHIA, March 19, 1664. To all holders of Certificates of LOAN or FUNDED DEBT of "THE LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION COMPANY," secured by their Mortgage of March 7, 1842: The LEHIGH COAL AND NAVIGATION COMPANY have determined, under authority conferred by Legislative enactments, to issue a new Mortgage Loan, having twenty years to run, from the first of April, 1864, and bearing interest at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, payable quarterly:

giver is that his name be kept secret. It is fully set forth in the following letter, recently read before the Committee of the Sanitary Fair.

Fair: "PHILADELPHIA, March 14, 1564.—CALER COPE, Esq.: My Dear Sir: I enclose you two donations for the great Central Fair for the Sanitary Com-mission-first a check for fifty dollars. A word or two in reference may induce others to do likewise. "The second donation is the Deed for a lot of pround in the Fifteenth Ward. You may ask, "What are we to do with a donation of this kind ?" What are we to do with a donation of the proceeds of this lot will do them more good than it will me or my children. But sell it for what it will bring, and I will make the title when the sale is effected, and that God may bless you in your noble work, and preserve our coun iry, is the prayer of "A MEMBER OF THE UNION LEAGUE." It is with the greatest pleasure, Mr. Editor, that I use your journal as the medium of giving to the public this noble instance of liberality, since, if I mistake not, it was about the time this letter was dated that the suggestion was made in your columns that all who had the interest of the Fair at heart should do as this gentleman did-examine their garrets and lumber rooms, and sell off such useless articles as they had, for the benefit of a great cause. In connection with this subject, let me note that the Handel and Haydn Music Society of Philadelphia have generously volunteered their services for a musical entertainment, to take place for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission. But indeed the examples of lavish kindness for this object, which have been brought before me, are literally beyond record. I should be pleased however if those who have it in their power to communicate any interesting instances of generosity or sacrifice for the good cause of the Sanitary, would do so to me, that they may be recorded in the newspaper which will be issued during the Fair in this city. Yours, CHARLES GODFEY LELAND, Chairman Editorial Committee.

There are various theories in regard to the cause of the explosion, but the matter will, no doubt be thoroughly sitted during the legal investigation which is about to take place. It will then be shown who, if any one, is to blame for this frightful loss of life and the great destruction of property. Coroner Trylor has determined to investigate fully the cause of the disaster, and for that pur-pose has formed a jury of genuemen who are ia-miliar with steam bollers, and who have considera-ble practical knowledge upon the subject. The family removed subsequently to Geneva, where Miss Stansbury married Professor Kirk-land, of Hamilton College. Since 1813 Mrs. Kirk-land has lived for most part in New York, teach-ing at times in the best temale schools, but engaged chiefly in writing for the reviews and magazines. She published in 1639 'A New Home-Who'll Follow?' which was a record of her own expe-riences, and written with such freshness and vi-vacity as to gain her at once a high and almost world-wide reputation. In 1642 she put forth ''Forest Life,'' and in 1866 ''Wesrern Clearings,'' all of similar character, and under the as-um-d name of ''Mrs M'rry Clavers.'' In 1853 appeared ''Fireside Talk in Manners and Morsis,''' in 1853, ''A Book for the Home Circle,'' and in 1853, ''Personal Memoirs of George Washington.'' Mrs. Kirkland was among the most original and vigorous of all our female authors; her sketches of Western life have never been surpassed for indeity of detail and liveliness of humor; they exaggerate, perhaps, the traits of character and the incidents of the rude life of the border, but they are con-ceived in the most kindly spirit, and only likely to pive offence to those who feel themselves satir-ized by her pen; but her powers of reflection were equal to those of her observation, and her more serions essays areal ways full of sound, instructive and profitable thought, which was expressed in a forcible and graceful way. Her conversation, however, was even more agreeable than her wri-ting and attractive. During her residence in this city ebe had gathered about her the most eminent men and -women of the metropolis-di-vines, authors and artists.-Evening Post.

ENGLAND AND THE FREEDMEN.

Notwithstanding the feelings of mutual distras now so apparent among the nations, it is exceed ingly gratifying to see such an evidence as is herewith presented, of interest on the part of the British public in efforts for the relief of the great suffering now prevailing among the freed negroes of on country, and their appreciation of the enormou efforts of our Government and fellow-countrymen in meeting the heavy responsibility thus thrust upon us. The annexed Circular has been placed in our tands by the Publication Committee of the Friends' Freedmens' Aid Association'' of this city, (whose Treasurer is Richard Uadbury, No. 117 Chestnut street), who have been elected to dispense the funds thus liberally contributed, and who, we are glad to add, have, with their accustomed promptitude, taken measures to turn to immediate account a remittance of £500 sterling, received from the Liverpool Committee by the last steamer: [CIRCULAR.] LIVERPOOL, Feb. 27, 1564. — Owing to the war now in progress in the United States, a great amount of suffering has been entailed upon multi-tudes of the negro race in that country. It has been computed that behind the United States armices at least haif a million of persons, lately held in slavery, are now tree. The state of depen-dence in which they had been from birth has been suddenly and unexpectedly exchanged for freedom. This in itself will, no doubt, ultimately eventnate in good; but in the mean time, owing to the sudden and violent disruption of former ties, and owing to the fact that no means could be taken beforehand to provide for their necessilies, either upon their own part or upon that of others, destitution to a sad ex-tent has accompanied freedom. Daily, hundreds of men, women and children augment the number alt, ady to be provided for.

of men, women and children augment the number alr ady to be provided for. The refugees are in districts of the country over which opposing armies have frequently passed and repassed, destroying every where the necessaries of life. Under the most favorable circumstances the transition from slavery to freedom must be accom-panied by individual cases of suffering. With peaceful emancipation, however, the master re-mains to hire with his capital the labor of the former slave. Here the master has not only dis-appeared, but with him the fruit of long-continued years of labor. Capital has been destroyed, and cannot be reintroduced until peace return. In flying, the master has not unfir-quently taken the able-bodied males with him, while in other districts the United States authorities have incorporated the United States authorities have incorporated them with their armes. Thus, from opposite quar-ters, the mainstay of the population has been plays a game of cards, and wins. During the game a bell is touched every one or two seconds, and he gives the number of times it has been touched. A man stands behind and throws little pebbles one by one against his back; these, too, he counts; and after the games are told he recites a poem in perfect rhyme which he has composed during the sitting. Mr. Boucicault has finished a new Irish

The latest Paris fashion in ladies' dress is for out-of-doors, a garment cut very like a man's great coat, fitting close, and covered. with brass buttons-buttons not only for use but for ornament, some of them even being stuck on the shoulders.

The liberty of the Paris theatres is not complete. The entire lot of the managers was summoned to the Prefect of Police the other day, to consider the prices of admission to the theatres and also the present manner of advertising the prices.

A French priest has refused to baptize a child with the name of Ernest, as that is the Christian name of Renan.

The Poles in London seem to know more about what's going on than any of the newspapers. An influential man among them states that 80,000 stand of Enfield rifles are now being shipped on board of four vessels, in which from four to five thousand men will also be sent out, and that at the proper time Prince Napoleon will be proclaimed King of Poland. They say that it has all been "squared" with Austria, who, in her usual loyal manner, is to leave Prussia in the lurch, and has expressed her willingness to give up Galicia for a consideration.

Some experiments have been made on the shore at Crosby,near Liverpool, with a wrought-iron gun manufactured by the Mersey Steel and Iron Company for Mr. Mackay, of that town. The weight of the gun is about nine tons and the bore 8.12 inches. The gun is rified, but the projectiles are plain cylinders and have no corresponding adaptation, although a rotation is produced sufficient to insure accuracy, for seven shots went through the target at distances of 1.000 and 1,500 yards. The projectile weighs 100 lbs., and the charge of powler is 20 lbs., which gives an initial velocity of 1.508.

The experiments ordered at Woolwich to test the merits of Montstorm's breech-loading rifle have proved very satisfactory, and the veapon is expected to be adopted to some extent in the service. This rifle is fired with the ordinary leaden bullet, without a greased wad, and, being on a simple principle, is not liable to get out of order. Baron Lenek, the inventor of gun-cotton, has visited Paris by invitation of the Emperor Napoleon, who has conferred upon him the Cross of Commander of the Legion of Honor, and presented him with a gold snuff-box set with diamonds, in token of his appreciation of a scheme which promises to effect an important change in artillery practice.
