GREAT CENTRAL FAIR.

At a Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Philadelphia Branch of the U. S. Sanitary Commission, held April 6, 1864, a petition numerously signed was presented, proposing "that the avails of the Fair (the great Gentral Fair for the Sanitary Commission) should be equally divided between the two societies?" (the Sanitary and the Christian Commission); whereupon the following resolution was adopted, and ordered to be published:

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Committee, the application in aid of the Christian Commisthe application in aid of the Christian Commission has been made under a misapprehension, both of the power of this Committee and the necessities of the Sanitary Commission. This Committee con-

of the Sanitary Commission. This Committee con-ceive that they have no power to divert any por-tion of the funds to be raised at the approaching Fair, to any objects distinct from that originally announced to the Public, and if they had such power, in view of the Sanitary wants of the Armies of the Union, they would not feel at liberry to exercise it, even in favor of so excellent an organization as that of the Christian Com-mission. mission.

In order to show the true relations existing between the two Commissions in the matter of army stipplies, and to dispel any apprehension which may be felt, lest the Christian Commission should be deprived of whatever aid these supplies the control of its special work. may give it in the prosecution of its special work the following extract of an order issued to each Inspector of the Sanitary Commission in the field, by F. 'You are instructed, whenever the delegates of the Christian Commission offer to give you their aid for battle-field relief operations, or in other emergencies, to accept it gratefully, and, for the time being, you will deal with them, as far as possible, in the same manner as you would if each individual had been sent to you for special battledividual had been sent to you for special battle-field duty by officers of the Sanitary Commission. FTHE GREAT CENTRAL FAIR. OF THE STATES OF PENNSYLVANIA, NEW JERSEY AND DELAWARE.

THE COMMITTEE in the Department of LOOKING GLASSES, PICTURE FRAMES, &c., &c., earnessly invite the co-operation and contributions of all interested in this branch throughout the United States. It has now become such a prominent feature in manufactures and such a prominent feature in manufactures and trade, and its fabrics enter so largely into the luxuries and even the necessities of life, that its importance should be fully sustained by the liberal assistance and hearty encouragement of all directly or indirectly connected with the business. Such a really beautiful, peculiar and profitable display could be made, as would entitle this branch to great consideration, and the responses already received to a circular forwarded to other cities, are so favorable as to lead the committee to hope for very large donations.

Hardly a plea need be urged for the noble object of the Sanitary Commission, for which the Great Central Fair is to be held. The wide-spread beof the Sanitary Commission, for which the Grat Central Fair is to be held. The wide-spread benevolent operations and extraordinary assistance rendered our brave soldiers in almost every position, by the Commission, are now "household words," and to enable them to continue these operations; and to render them even more effective, under creater expenses and more pressing downed.

tion, by the Commission, are now 'nousehold words,' and to enable them to continue these operations; and to render them even more effective, under greater expenses and more pressing demand, is the purpose in view in the Fair.

It would be difficult to make any specification of the articles which may be contributed; but, anything manufactured or sold, in any way appertaining to this branch, would be most acceptable. Looking-glasses, framed or unframed, frames for glasses, picture, portrait or photograph frame, gilt or stained, tables of every character, brackets, cornices, or gilded ornaments. The productions, also, of those who manufacture only for the trade, in the shape of moulding, ovals, frames ready for the gilder, in a word, everything which is convertible into cash for the treasury of the Commission. Donations in money may be handed to any gentleman of the Committee, at any time.

As much time and labor is required of the Committee, in the collection and arrangement of the arlicles—a speedy response to this call is desirable. As early in May as possible, contributions should be placed at their disposal. Mark Goods 'Great Central Fair, Philadelphia,' and send by any Railford, or Experient Commitmations in the city, it the chairman is advised, will be promptly obtained. GEORGE SAND.

The eyes of all Paris are just now turned upon George Sand, who has burst into a recrudence of popularity to which the promulgation of the secret of her age has given a new feature. To the great surprise of the public, she is proved to have been born in 1804, thus making her sixty years of age, which declaration adds another motive of astonishment to the success just obtained by the "Marquis de Vellemer." George Sand has been compelled to quit her loved retreat of Nahant, in consequence of the expenses attendant on the maintenance of that system of open-housekeeping which she so thoughtlessly had entered into. A daily banquet, followed by theatricals in the theatre of the little chateau—rides and drives in George's own carriages, with George's own horses-bed and board provided for all guests who chose to make Nahant their home for as long as it might suit their convenience-composed a method of running through a fine income most easy of acquirement. This new success will, however, soon set the chatelain on her legs again. Prince Napoleon gave a banquet in her honor, at which she was not present, but was represented by her son, who calls himself Maurice Sand, with the greatest sangfroid, assuming his mother's name of glory instead of her family appellation. During the fereur which seized upon the students, a curious mystification occurred. A poor old lady, who had ventured to cross the Place, being taken for the great authoress, was squeezed, embraced and hustled, until she was finally hoisted in the arms of the enthusiasts, in spite of her screams of terror, and carried about in triumph till she fainted, and the apothecaries' shop in the Rue Racine became her retreat. Long after the occurrence, the shoe, of ample dimensions, which she had worn, and which had come off in the struggle, was borne as a trophy on the top of the umbrella flourished by the leader of the row. When it became known that the old lady was not George Sand at all, but a poor mercière of the Rue Vangirard, the reaction was of course tremendous; the shoe was cast into the gutter, the hymns of praise were all unsung, and the most ironical couplets addressed to the fair object of the mistake. The whole adventure would be small boat at sea and picked it up. A party of refugees, six or eight in number, were found in it, and were taken on board the blockader. They were from Charleston, which place they had escaped from but a few days previously, to get rid of the conscription. They bring in some interesting reports.

The rebel rame, which can be plainly discerned on the stocks, on a fair day, from Gregg and our batteries near Cummings Point, are suffering considerably from our fire, which is directed against them whenever the weather is favorable for practice. Our shells have driven the rebel workmen away so frequently that they cannot be induced to work regularly upon them. Several of the ship carpenters have been wounded, and the balance are almost panic stricken. The rams themselves have been repeatedly hulled and bacly shattered. In fact, at one time it was found impossible to repair damages as fast as injuties were sustained by them. The range has been obtained, and our shells strike and explode every time in the immediate neighborhood of the shippards, or in the yards themselves. The fire has had the effect of postponing the launching of the rams, and may effectually prevent it altogether. It will be maintained hereafter.

The rebel 'Davids' have been seen several times lately at night by our picket boats which cruise about Fort Sumter. There are two or three of these 'Davids,' or torpedo boats, of the same character as the one that exploded a torpedo under the bottom of the frigate New Ironsides, and with more success, subsequently destroyed the sloop-of-war Housatonic. These singular crafts are the bottom of the frigate New Ironsides, and with more success, subsequently destroyed the sloop-of-war Housatonic. These singular crafts are seen crussing about the inner harbor, above Fort Sumter, either doing picket duty or watching an opportunity to make a raid on blockaders. It is unnecessary to say that Commodore Rowan, the veteran commander of the New Ironsides, and the commanding officer of the South Atlanuc blockading squadron, is as vigilant as man can be, and has made every needful preparation to receive the Davids in the best possible style. The rebels will not walk over a bed of roses when they go on their next crusade.

Recently our batteries have thrown a few shell daily into the city—just enough to let the rebels daily into the city—just enough to let the rebels know that we are alive on Morris Island, and pro-pose to ho'd that point. The thirty-pounder Parrott, which has been firing for some time past, Parrott, which has been firing for some time past, finally gave out the other day, at about the four thousand, six hundred and some odd round. As it was fired at a high elevation, which is considered the most trying on any gun, the fact that it endured so long proves the value of the invention. The Wiard gun is to be tested in the same severe way, and from the experiments some very valuable results will be obtained of interest to ordnance officers and to the world.

Brigadier-General Wm. Birney, commanding colored troops, has relieved General Saxton at Beaufort. HILTON HEAD, S. C., April 2, 1864.—On Tuesday, March 31, Col. Howell, Post Commandant, made a reconnoissance up the Colleton river, in the picket-boat Thomas Foulks, guarded by the gunboat Chippewa. The expedition comprised 100 men of the 85th Pennsylvania Vols, and a detachment of the 3d Rhode Island Artillery. The rebel forces and provisions for defence in this neighborhood were observed. Col. Howell, with 15 men, landed and capfured some rebel cavalry trappings, fishing-nets. &c., returning to Hilton Head without loss. The enemy fled, and remained concealed during the progress of the reconnois-sance. In Fort Putnam, formerly "Gregg," on the northernmost extremity of Morris Island, it was determined by General Gillmore to fire shells into Charles on from a 30-pounder gun, at regular in-tervals of five minutes between each shell, until the gun should become disabled; 4,615 missies were disubarged into the city from this place before it buist.

By a General Order from the War Department, the colored regiments are to lose their distinctive State appellation, and be known only as "United States Volunteers," and be numbered in series. Thus the 1st S. O. V., the 2d S. C. V., and the 1st N. C. V., are to be known hereafter as, respectly, the 33d, 34th and 35th U. S. V. The Free South, of Beaufort, S. C., claims for the 1st S. C. V. that it was the earliest organization of colored troops in the national service, and that it should, therefore, have been called the "1st U. S. V."

The gunbcat Cimerone has arrived at Port Royal, under command of Commander A. K. Hughes. This is a "double-ender" vessel built by contract for the United States, and is, in her present condition, nearly unmanageable in a rough sea, on account of faults in her construction. Fore and aft she draws eight feet water and amidships nine feet. The effect of this peculiarity is to make her swing as on a pivot instead of obeying the helm.

The prices of silk, as well as felt hats, have necessarily advanced. Nearly every article entering into their construction being either prepared or produced abroad, can consequently be bought only with gold or its equivalent. Such is the enhanced cost of material and labor that the very lowest grade of silk hat (when made of new stock) cannot be retailed for less than fixe dollars. Every endeavor has been made to maintain the quality, and to keep near to the prices of the times preceding the rebellion.

Present prices for fixe dress hats are now $6 and $7. For blocking or refinishing hats an increase of price is also made necessary.

THE GREAT SANITA

THE GREAT SANITARY FAIR.—New YORK IS doing a "big thing," at present, in the way of Sanitary Fairs. Manhattan is fairly "spreading herself" in the Fair line, and she will doubtless do well, and furnish some good fare for sick or wounded soldiers meantime. But Philadelphia designs to excel all in the labor of love, and while she will offer the most tempting display at her she will offer the most tempting display at her Sanitary Fair, she will give all visitors from abroad an opportunity to procure new and elegant garments for themselves at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut street, showe Sixth. 605 Chestnut street, above Sixth. LAURA KEENE'S BENEFIT —We had hoped to see Miss Keene appear for her benefit this evening in the new version of "East Lynne," but it cannot be produced until to-morrow night. However, a more acceptable entertainment than "The Sea of Ice" could scarcely have been chosen at the Walnut. Last evening it passed off with great spirit, Miss Keele, Mr. Levick, Mr. Dyott, Mrs. Tyrrell and the remainder of the double company acting with energy, feeling and taste. The afterpiece this evening is "Sarah's Young Man," with Mr. Hemple and Miss Jefferson in the principal parts. We hope to see the largest house of the season at the Walnut to-night.

The Chestnut.—"The Octoroon" will be re-THE CHESTNUT.—"The Octoroon" will be repeated this evening, and will be witnessed by one of those enthusiastic audiences which have been an every night affair since its production. Tomorrow afternoon the regular weekly matines will be given.

BENEFIT OF MES. DREW.—At the Arch ever since "Rosedale" has been played, the crowd has been very great, but if possible the throng will be more crushing than ever to night, as Mrs. John Drew takes her benefit. "Rosedale" now works ory smoothly, and is well worthy a visit.

Landing:
On Wednesday fast during a debate at a committe meeting of the New York Assembly, Mr. Drinker, while reading a report, fell to the floor and died in a few moments. He had eaten a hearty dinner at the Delavan House, and in walking up the hill to attend the meeting of the committee, stated that he could hardly breathe. The jury brought in a verdict that he died with organic disease of the heart. Rev. J. S. C. Abbott, who is writing a history of the rebellion, left home fast week to take a six weeks' trip to the military posts on the Atlantic coast, from Fortress Morroe to Fernandina, Florida, in order to obtain an intimate knowledge of men and places made famous by the war.

The Pittsburgh Chronicle says of Edwin Adams: "Mr. Adams played King James V." last night to a densely crowded house, and never before have we seen the past rendered with such ability. He is by all cids the greatest artist that has trod our stage for years, and were he to play here for a month, we believe he could fill the house every night."

HISTORY OF THE MERCER POTATO. That variety of potato known as the Chezango, or Philadelphia, in others as the Mercer, in others as the Neshanic, (a corruption of Neshonoc,) has perhaps been more generally cultivated for several years past than any other kind. The Farmer's Cabinet gives the history of this potatoe, which is substantially as follows: In the year 1792, a family by the name of Gilky, came from the county Derry, in Ireland, and settled in Westmoreland county, Pa. In November, 1797, two members of this family, John and Jas. Gilky, removed to Mercer county, Pennsylvania, and settled two miles east of the Neshanock creek. In 1801 or 1802 John Cilky planted a quantity of potatoe balls, or seeds, from red, blue, white and other varieties. From the potatoes produced from these balls. Mr. Gilvy selected the variety above named. They were soon after cultivated and brought into notice near Philadelphia, and from thence have been disseminated over the whole country. The history was written by James Gilley, brother of John, who produced the potatoes. In an account of the origin of this potatoe, published a few years ago, it is stated that John Gilky was educated for a Catholic priest, and that he was an axila from the Emesald Isla. So, which his brother says is incorrect.
