JXXVIIITH CONGRESS FIRST SESSION. GLOSH OF SATURDAT'S PROCEEDINGS.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

HOUSE OF REPERSENTATIVES. Mr. Garfield (Ohio) replied to the interrogato-ries proponded by his colleague (Mr. Cox) in the earlier part of the debate; explaining his views on the subject of revolution. The question of right in human affairs is a relative question. What might be said with propriety and loyalty three years ago, could not be said to-day. It depended on the cir-cumstances of the times. He might be against a declaration of war, but when the country has de-cided on war, he must look ugon those against whom it is declared as his enemies. The House has committed iself to put down the rebellion by the weapons of war. We are not so

The House has committed iself to put down the rebellion by the weapons of war. We are not so much an army in the field as a nation at war. Tha very silence of the telegraph indicated to him that it work has begun to day, and now while these things are transpiring there rises in the midst of our camp one who, having taken an oath that he has never given aid and comfort to the enemy, throws up the white flag. If he yoted to retain the gentleman from Ohio in his sett, he would vote to retain Jeff. Davis in his seat. He knew of no-thing more powerful to give and ald confort to the rebellion then such utterances. The rebels con-gratulate themselves that there will be dissensions in our councils in the North, and believe that the In our councils in the North, and believe that this being the case we will give up the contest. Their emissaries, through the Order of the Knights of the Golden Circle, are endeavoring to produce such divisions and instigate the New York riots. They are at work in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, both in Converting and murders on the streets. He had written home for letters to show that correspond-ence is carried on between officers in the field and leading rebels in the North, giving information and advising one another of plans and policy. After further remarks, he said, we fight not for After further remarks, he said, we fight not for to-day but the grand future of this giverious coun-try. The battle-field is spread out and the armies are upon it. On the one side is all that is evil and will sincus, on the other side are the good and true, fighting for future generations. It might be said that the voice of Heaven had called forth the good and the bad for the combat. Mr. Harris (Md.) said that he endorsed every word that the the generation from Object Mr.

Mr. Harris (Md.) said that he endorsed every word that the gentleman from Obio (Mr. Lang) had uttered, and would stand by him for weal or for woe. You say that the gentleman meant trea-son at the very moment you say he was sincere and honest! He was willing to ro with his friend anywhere on that issue. Could not a man say when a war is carried on to exterminate a people, that he would rather have peace, thus saving lives on both sides, and especially when the sentements Came from distinguished men to back him! Not One of you can be compared with the man the gen-tleman quoted yestenay. He was a peace man, a radical peace man. He was for recognizing the Southern Confederacy, and for acquiescing in the doctrine of Secession. He had a hope, but it was not in this House, that a tornado would come and sweep you from power and give it to bonest m-n, who have humanity and some regard for the prin sweep you from power and give it to hones it m.n. who have humanity and some regard for the prin-ciples of their fathers. War would never bring you a termination worth a cent. He was for peace and Union too. [Laughter.] He was a better man than any of them. [Renewed langhter.] If we cannot make peace let us have two splendid Goo-wernments, two happy fovernments. He was a alaveholder, and was still, if all his slayes had not been stolen from him. He looked on those who opposed slavery as madmen. He compassionated them. If it was a sin he was willing to bear it. The people have been deceived by stereotyped falsehood. When this war was announced Secre-tary Seward said it could be put cown in sity days. Instead of 75,000 men ending it, you have now called for half amillion of soldiers. A braver set of men never existed on God's earth than exist in the South, and when you attempt to elevate the nevro with the whits mar non stir mention.

in the South, and when you attempt to elevate the negro with the white man you stir up strife. The Puritans saw nothing in the Bible against slavery, Puritans saw nothing in the Bible against layery, and when they found slavery unprofitable they sold their slaves to the South. Having taken the gold, their descendants turn round and at empt to dispossess the South of their property. He had voted against men and money to carry on the war. He would not consent that our money should be spent by a tyrant; not a man or a dollar would he vote for this infernal war. It was the most stu-pendous folly that ever disgraced any people on the face of God's earth. If this be treason make the most of it. It was the right of a commoner to say he would not entrust the means of carrying on the war to a king who is the war power. The South ask you to leave them in peace, but now you say you will bring them into subjection. That is not done yet, and God Almighty grant it never may be. I hope you will never subjugate the bouch. The President has proved himself un-fit to be entrusted with the money power. be entrusted with the money power. c. Tracy (Pa) rese to ask a question, but was cartridge boxes, haversacks, canteens, pistols, carbines, and broken guns. There are also bits of shell, grapeshot, rifled projectiles, hats and aps, overcoats and pay-rolls, telegraph wires, poarding pikes and mail bags.

There is also a view of the interior of Libby Prison, Richmond, drawn by Captain Otto Boetticher, of the 68th New York Volunteers. Most of the figures are portraits. Around the border is a series of portraits of officers, and the following exterior views of prisons: Ligon's Tobacco Factory, Richmond, Va.; Jail, Columbia, S. C.; Castle Pinckney, Charleston, S. C.; City Jail, Charleston, S. C. No. 511 in the collection is the sword worn by Lafavette while in service in this country. At a social meeting of officers of the American army, assembled to exchange congratulations on the success of the siege of Yorktown, it was proposed, as a special memory of the event, hat the officers should exchange swords. This was agreed to, and in the exchange the sword of Lafayette passed to Col. Barber, and has ocen preserved by his descendants. The spur worn by Major Andre at the time of his capture, and the sword surrendered by Burgoyne to General Gates on the battle-field of Saratoga, are also among the curiosities.

Moreover, the original Bowie-knife-the first of its kind-is exhibited. It was forged in a common blacksmith shop on the Red River. by James Bowie, who subsequently lost his life at the Alamo, in 1836, and was used by him in the celebrated running fight at Natchez, in 1828, where a half a dozen persons were hacked to pieces. This knife was given by Bowie to its present possessor in gratitude for kindness to him when wounded.

The relics of the war of 1812 consist of the flags of the British ships Cyane, Frolic, Peacock and Highflyer-all contributed from the collection of the United States Naval School at Newport.

Barnum contributes the identical flag hoisted on the Battery in New York, by order of Gen. Washington, November 25th, 1783, at the evacuation of New York by British troops. After the expiration of sixty2 four years, this flag was again unfurled at the laying of the corner-stone of the Washington Monument.Oc ober 19, 1847.

Among the rare things at the Seventeenth street building of the Fair is a volume of some four hundred autograph letters and signatures of eminent Americans and Europeans. A couplet by Goethe, signed J. W. von Goethe: a treasury order written by Sidney, Earl of Godolphin; a check, signed by Robert Walpole, and the signature of Mrs. Siddons. In addition, there are signatures of Lord Liverpool, Sir James Mackintosh, Sir Thomas Lawrence the King of the Belgians, Maria H. of Portugal, the Queen of Sweden, Sidney Smith, Lord Lansdowne. Besides these, are autograph Lansuowne. Desides these, the French, Prince notes from the Emperor of the French, Prince Napoleon, Duke of Wellington, Ganning, Sir Robert Peel Rogers. Tennyson, Hal-Robert Peel, Rogers, Tennyson, Hal-lam, Lady Morgan, Lord Carlyle, Duchess of Sutherland, Dean Trench, Thomas Carlyle, Sidney Herbert, Macready, the Brownings, Horace Vernet, Rosa Bonheur, Meissonnier, Humboldt, Bunsen, Victor Cousin, Berryer, Gasparin, Nesselrode, MSS. of Charles Kingsley, letter from Chevalier on the war in the United States, and many other European celebrities. There are also autograph letters from Bouilland, Duchume, Louis, Nel-ston, Rayer, Ricord, Rostan, Sichel, Tronssean, and Velpean, eminent professors of medicine in Paris. A manuscript page of Fennimore Cooper's "Headsman," and two pages of an abandoned romance by Hawthorne, with scraps of poetry by Longfellow, Whittier, Bryant, &c. Gen-erals Scott and McClellan have also written sentiments for the book. Among the very many notes and letters from army and navy officers, including Grant, Dupont, Buell, Meade, is one from Admiral Dahlgren, alluding to his son but a few days before his death.
