EVENING BULLETIN

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1864.

THE MASSACRE AT FORT PILLOW. The heart sickens at reading the brief account, telegraphed from Cairo, of the rebel atrocities at Fort Pillow. There has scarcely been an event of the war which has showed such treacherous and infamous conduct. Forrest, with a greatly superior force, summoned the commander of the garrison of 600 men to surrender, which he bravely refused to do. Advantage was taken of the flag of truce to bring the attacking force into a better position. Then a new summons was made, and the rebel troops, while the parley was going on, were again brought into a better position. The new demand to surrender being refused, the overwhelming rebel force, thus treacherously brought close to the fort, swarmed into it, and then began an indiscriminate massacre of the Union troops, white and black, the horrors of which can scarcely ever be told.

If the report that has reached us be correct, this is the most flagrant violation of the customs of honorable warfare that has been committed since the rebellion began. It needs a thorough investigation and exposure, so that the world may know the savage character of the brutes who are pretending to set up a new nation in our Southern States, We fear that this wicked, desperate but successful undertaking may give the rebels a great advantage on the Mississippi river, though the account says that there were indications that they would evacuate the fort, probably first carrying off the guns and destroying the works. Whatever be their intentions, it is evident that there is need of a new and powerful land and naval force on the Mississippi, if we wish to keep the naviga-

One of the greatest evils resulting from the neglect of Congress to steady the currency and afford adequate revenue for the Government, is the wild, reckless, insane spirit of speculation which now turns the brains of so many in the community. Third street in this city, like Wall street in New York, is constantly filled with people who are neglecting their own business and absorbing their means in the purchase and sale of gold and fancy stocks. Merchants, clerks, manufacturers, lawyers, office-holders, contractors, waiters, railway conductors and hosts of other people are placing themselves on the high road to ruin by their greedy rush into speculations in bogus mining and oil companies and shaky railroad stocks, and by dabbling in gold. They do not see one week ahead; but with blind eagerness for gain embark their earnings, and sometimes trust funds in addition, in projects of which they are grossly ignorant. What must be the inevitable result? They become mere gamblers, who might as well stake their all on a card, or a throw of dice, as on the "securities" in which they so reprehensibly invest. We warn all such deluded mortals that in ninety-nine cases in a hundred they will in the end lose their money, their business character, and their peace of mind in this insane race after sudden wealth. The speculative fabric will break down ere long and bury amid its frag-

sands of people whose folly shows that they do not deserve a better fate. We may add that we have nothing but contempt for those who are receiving large emoluments from the Government, and yet who are trying to break down its credit by speculating in gold and showing by their gleeful faces that they rejoice in the rise of the precious commodity. The patriotism and honesty of such people are about on a par with their common sense, and ere long all truly loyal men will point ont such people as equally criminal with copperheads and traitors.

CHARLESTON.

A letter from Charleston, South Carolina, dated Feb. 22d, describes the deserted portion of the city to be some fourteen parallel streets, occurying nearly three square miles. Several hundred houses in that part of the town have been struck by Gillmore's shells, including many fine public buildings, whose occupants now attend to their business beyond the range the projectiles have yet attained. The writer says that hotel prices are from $12 to $20 per day and the cheapest boarding houses charge $6 per day. Necessaries and luxuries are at equally enormous rates, and the pleasures of housekeeping are rather few. All through the State the woods and swamps are thronged with deserters from the rebel army, who are hunted with blood-hounds as negroes formerly were. An individual told the writer that he recently saw twenty-two deserters brought into town, tied two-and-two, they having been captured by the aid of dogs. The letter closes thus.

letter closes thus:

'Our condition is as bad as it can be. The despotism is as bad as it can be, though curses loud and deep are uttered against the Government by many men who were Secessionists. There is a very large sprinkling of Union men here. It is quite doubtful if there is not a majority in Oharleston who are for the Union. The town is very much changed. Scarcely anybody believes that slavery can live much longer. The thing is about up. If the Federalsts make the spring campaign what it ought to be, the people will cry enough.' Congress has just passed a law compelling the funding of Confederate notes in four per cent. bonds. before April 1, on penalty of paying a tax of 33% per cent. on the notes after that date, and it they are not funded by January 1, 1865, they are to be taxed 100 per cent. This is repudiation with a vengeance. Then a tax of 5 per cent. on everything adds to the delights of our situation.'

A moral photograph of the condition of Charlesten in December, 1860, when the rebel hopes of years had culminated in the passage of the ordinance of Secession, would make a rather striking contrast with the picture given above. Such an exhibition and contrast would prove that the grass which it was prophecied would grow in the streets of New York and Philadelphia had found more ruinous "coigns of vantage" among the shell-racked edifices of Charleston, where rebellion first sprang into being. If the statements of the writer of the epistle we have quoted are only truthful in one half their details, General Grant's spring campaign certainly ought to make even the South-Carolians cry "enough!"

IMPORTANT ORDER FOR WASHINGTONIANS. General Augur, the commander of the Department of Washington, has recently issued an order which cannot fail to result in great benefit to the citizens of the Union Capital. The Washingtonians have, during the war, been much troubled with the enormous prices demanded for even the most common necessities of life, by the vendors who two or three times in each week offer their commodities for sale in the market-houses of their city; and threats ave been made frequently by Government em ployees and others, who found their incomes by no means in proportion to the domestic demands upon their purses, that they would remove their families to Baltimore, or to some of the numerous settlements upon the line of the Washington Branch Railroad, and thus make their expenses better conform to their receipts. Much of this annoyance has been caused by the failure of the farmers in the vicinity of Washington City to cultivate their land, under the pretence or actual belief that the product of their labor would be destroyed at its maturity by the soldiers stationed near their property. In some instances this apprehension is, doubtless, founded upon a correct basis, but in others it is only an excuse of the sympathizers with treason, of whom there are hundreds within the limits of the District of Columbia, who would rather look quietly on and see their lands run to waste, than to raise a single article of food which would relieve the hunger of a Union soldier or citizen.

Hereafter, thanks to the shrewdness of Gen. Augur, they can no longer have this plea. The order alluded to assures these tillers of the soil that the best efforts of the General and those of his entire command will be exerted to remove such an unworthy imputation upon their good names, and commanding officers of forts and camps will be held responsible for all damages done to private property by the men over whom they have control.

With the proper enforcement of this regulation, much of the cause of complaint in regard to exorbitant prices should be removed.

THE OPERA AT THE CHESTNUT .- The sale of seats for the German Opera season at the Chestnut Street Theatre began this morning, and the results were very favorable. Manager Grover is making every effort to place the operas on the stage in excellent style, and from his success in the dramatic line, we feel assured that he will satisfy every lover of the opera. "Martha" will be given on Monday night.

"RECONSTRUCTION."-Miss Anna Dickinson will favor her numerous admirers with a lecture on this subject, in the Academy of Music, next Thursday evening. Her reputation as an orator, and the able manner in which she discusses her favorite theme, will, no doubt, command for her a crowded audience.

The EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF BOUNTY FUND for the LAST TIME, are constrained to call on the liberal Citizens of the Ward, for their aid in contributing the sum still deficient to pay the amount due to the soldiers which are credited, and who tre yet uspaid. The sum required not being large in the ratio of the good to be accomplished, the Committee feel sanguine than when and where their wants are known, their requirements will meet with a liberal and ready response; we ask the reflection of a donor in giving his mite, how little he yields in comparison with the fond parent who gives his only son to his country's cause; an he who goes abandoning the home of all his past joys and future hope. We have learned not to be astonished at anything. Years of experience and a correspondence extending throughout all nationalities of the ha. bitable globe have turned theories into facts and established a basis from which we need not err. We are not surprised at such facts as the following-although the persons who write them are. We know the persons and circumstances, hence

"NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 24, 1863.

DEAR SIR—I have been afflicted many years with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. Physicians and medicines failed to relieve me. While visiting some friends in New York who were using Plantation Bitters they prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine glassful siter dinner. Feeing better by degrees, in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness. and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I have not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the Plantatien Bitters.

Respectfully.

JUDITH RUSSEL." feel at liberty to endorses their statement:

The following is from the Manager of the Unio Home School for the Children of Volunteers:

"HAVEMEYER MANSION, Ffty-seventh, street New York, August 2, 1883.

Dr. Drake: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skills had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well.
