GENERAL BUTLER'S DEPARTMENT. GENERAL BUTLER'S DEPARTMENT. PORTSMOUTH, April 13, 1564. — For several weeks past the negro cavalry pickets stationed in the neighborhood of Suffoik have been constantly an-noyed by the rebel cavalry of Ransom's com-mand. Last night over aixty shots were ex-changed with the pickets, and this morning a large force of cavalry, supported by artillery and infantry, were sent to Suffoik to drive back the rebels, but found that they had succeeded in ef-fecting their retreat. Secession in Suffoik is, without doubt, the unani-mous belief of the inhabitants, and it is probable that much of the annoyance experienced by the colored cavalry is caused by the citizens of Suffoik.

General Butler has received information form a creditable source that a petition was signed by the inhabitants calling on the rebei Gen. Ransom to gar-rison the town. This fact is so well known that it excites considerable surprise that such a place should be allowed to exist almost within our out-pusts.

OFFICE OF THE MANHATTAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, No. 31 Nassau Street, New York, March S, 1864. At a meeting of the Board of Directors of this Company, held this day, the following important resolution was adopted, after mature consideration : tion: ... There shall be added to each policy issued, or hereafter to be issued, the following words: 'This policy is incontestable after five years from its date, for or on account of errors, omissions and mis-statements in the application, except as to see.''

No other American company offers this important advantage to insurers. All policies in force five years at once become incontestable, under the operation of this rule, greatly enhancing their value both as to families and to creditors. This libera and just measure should secure to this company increased favor and patronage, as exhibiting the strong desire of the Directors to throw every proper and safe advantage around the policies. Many have objected to taking life policies, that in case of error, it mattered not how innocent, the long-continued payments become lost, and families are deprived of the advantages proposed. This objection is now removed by this company. Every State has its Statute of Limitations, not to cover frand and crime from punishment, but to protect the innocent and unwary. This is a similar protection o policy holders.

First. Because we believe him to be honest, ca-pable and faithful; at once uncorrupted and incorruptible. Second. Because since his election to the high office which he occupies he has administered the affairs of the Government with conscientious fidelity and with a constant view to the restoration of the whole Union. Third. Because he has been tried and tested and realized the expectations of all local and rested and realized the expectations of all loyal and reasonable

Fourth. Because a change at this time (the wicked rebellion not wholly crushed) would be inexpedient and dangerous. Fifth. Because ne other candidate has been named who combines equal qualifications of head and heart, of moral duty and unswerving patriotism.

Seventh-Because the renomination of President Lincoln will insure the united action of the loyal masses under one glorious banner, and at once in-spire and lead to a signal and over whelming vic-tory. Again, therefore, we pledge ourselves to the renomination and re-election of the sterling patriot who now occupies the White House at Washington, and we earnestly invite and confi-dently expect the co-operation of our brethren, not only of the various wards of Philadelphia, but every where throughout the nation where the Union is cherished and the flag of our country re-spected.

Union is cherished and the flag of our country re-spected. Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be and they are hereby tendered to the Hen. Salmon P. THE BECENT, BATTLE IN FLORIDA.

If the RECENT, HATTLE IN FLORIDA. [Correspondence of the Boston Travelier.] New ORLEANS, April 5.—I have just returned from the District of West Florida, where I wit-nessed a small battle on Saturday, April 2d, between the rebel forces at Pollard and the Federal troops, under Brigadier General Asbouh, com-manding the District. Skirmishing began about noon. At three o'clock our cavairy charged on the rebels supported by infantry. A portion of Colonel Holbrook's Brigade, consisting of the 7th Vt. Vol., 14th New York Oavalry and 14th Regiment Corps d'Afrique, formed the re-serve of our forces, and being skilfully com-manded, the rebels were whipped two to one, as the rebel officers taken priseners acknowledge. It is impossible to give the correct number en-gaged on either side, as our forces were in two places. The rebels were commanded by Col. Ran-dolph, who had a narrow escape. The rebel loss was two-thigg larger than onrs; our mjury being greater in the Gavalry tham infantry. Surgeon C. H. Newhall was promptly on the field, and, with no small amount of bravery, gallantly cared for the wounded, and directed systematically as to the disposal of them. The fight lasted till 8 o'clock P. M. MURDEE AT OAMP COPELAND. — Quite an ex-citement was occasioned at Oamp Copeland, near Pittsburgh, on Thursday, consequent upon a serious cutting affray between two of the soldlers. A number of Pennsylvania drafted militia were jostling, trampling on one another's toes, in appa-rent jest, but finally one of them, named Lau-stetter, became enraged, and struck with a knife at another named Hance Leazure, cutting him slightly. Leasure then stooped to pick up a stone, when Laustetter sprang towards him and stradding his neck, stabbed him five or six times with a large dirk in the side, inflicting wounds which the surgeons stated would prove fastal; Laustetter was immediately taken into custody and placed in irons. Both of the men are from McKeesport. A BORDERED DEED.—A deed for the Durham

Journal learns "that a disease is prevaiing in the town of Evans, Eirle county, and perhaps in other sec-tions of the county, which has produced consid-erable alarm, in consequence of its supposed re-semblance to the small pox. It is said to be un-questionably contagious, going through entire tamilies and neighborhoods wherever it makes its appearance. It manifests itself in the form of eruptions on the skin, which however, do not seem to penetrate below the cuticle, or upper skin, and it seldom proves fatal, though handling its victims with considerable severity at all times. In the treatment of the disease simulants are to be avoided. Those acquainted with small-pox easily distinguish it from that disease." FATAL MISTARZ.-On Sunday last a daughter of Mr. Charles W. een for several months a prisoner at Richmond. It is dated at Camp Parole, Annapolis, March 20th, 1864, and written to his mother:

I wrote you a short letter a day or two ago, but thinking you would not be satisfied withont knowing some of the particulars of my imprisonment, I again hasten to write to you. If I was to give you a detailed account of all I have passed through, it would fill a volume : so you must content yourself with only a portion of it.

We were confined on Belle Island, Richnond. It is an island in James river, containing about four or five acres, (the camp occupied that ground; the island was somewhat larger.) At one time there was about ten thousand prisoners crowded into that small space. A great many of them had no tents or blankets; so you can form some idea of how they suffered with cold. It was no uncommon sight. to see men carried out to the hospital frozen to death. I was lucky enough to get in a tent the first night I came to the Island. Our food consisted of about a quarter of a pound of corn bread twice a day and about one ounce of meat once a day, and sometimes a little bean soup full of bugs! I have often skimmed three tablespoonsfull of bugs off my cup o soup. The last three weeks we were on the Island our meat and SOUD were stopped, and we got nothing but dry corn bread, with no salt. The men died by scores-the corn bread had burned them up. I was not free from heart-burn one hour during the last month. Our beds were in the cold, wet sand, and we were covered with lice. Small pox was in the camp all the time. Two or three were taken out with it every day. The surgeons would not visit the sick in camp. They had to be carried to the hospital in blankets. Our tents were full of holes, and were of no service at all, and in the coldest part of winter we only got five or six sticks of cord wood (green too) each day for one hundred men. Anything in the shape of meat was eaten by the starving prisoners. Cats, dogs, rats, &c., were killed and eaten, if they came into camp. I have eaten dog meat -and really relished it. Several times mule meat was ssued to us.

When I was taken to Richmond and paroled, I hardly know how I felt. I did not know whether to laugh or cry. I forced back the tears, however, until we got to our flag of truce boat at City Point. We ran up alongside of her at night in the rebel flag of truce boat. In the morning when I got up and came out, I caught sight of the old Stars and Stripes on our boat. Then it was no use—the cry would come, and I did take a good hearty cry, and I laughed at the same time; and I was not the only one that cried-dezens did the same thing.

As soon as we got on our boat, they issued each one of us half a large loaf of bread, a good piece of boiled pork, and a cup of coffee. Oh, how good it all was! I never saw as happy a set of men since I was born ! We are now in comfortable barracks and have everything we want. We will leave in a day or two for St. Louis, Mo. Yours, &c., JAS. B. ADAMS.
