EVENING BULLETIN

TUESDAY, APRIL 19, 1864.

PRESIDENT LINCOLN AT BALTIMORE. It is three years exactly since Union volunteers hurrying on to defend the national capital were murdered by a mob in the streets of Baltimore. Then, and for a long time afterwards, President Lincoln dared not set foot in that city. It is something worthy of notice as a coincidence that on the anniversary of the massacre of the Massachusetts men a great fair for the Sanitary Commission was opened, and President Lincoln came on to assist at the ceremonies. It is another coincidence that there was a dress parade there of three regiments of United States colored troops, recruited in Baltimore and other parts of Maryland. The troops afterwards embarked for the scene of active operations. The Baltimore American, speaking of the parade, says:

"Magnificent working and fighting material was in that column. Sturdy, stalwart, ablebodied and healthy men, well disciplined by careful training, proud of their new and novel position, they looked every inch the soldier.

A few years ago the man who would have said that the negro would have marched through the streets of Baltimore in military equipments and unarmed, without being assaulted, would have been considered fit candidate for an insane asylum. But such is the case, and during their march this morning it was pleasant to see, as the head of the column passed the Maryland Institute-where the arrangements for the State Fair are in progress-they were lustily cheered. In many places along the route of march, flags were waved from the stateliest or from the humblest dwellings. Several of the men were accompanied to the point of embarkation—the foot of Long Dock—by their wives and sisters, and many were the leave-takings there witnessed. "Some few of the more rabid of the rebels in our midst gave vent to their spleen in silent murmurs and 'curses not loud but deep.' One female, who was standing at the Institute as the procession turned down the market space, thought it had come to a pretty pass when she had to stand to allow niggers to pass, and that they were a nice crowd to send to fight white men. But notwithstanding the grievances of the fair Secesh, the troops passed quietly by, amid the congratulations of those who think the United States Government can rightly use the colored man for a soldier or a laborer as well as the rebel oligarchy at Richmond."

The reception given by the Baltimoreans to the President was no less significant and gratufying than their treatment of the colcored troops. He was greeted in the evening with tremendous applause by the multitude at the Great Fair in the Maryland Institute. He made a speech which was full of meaning, and to which we invite the attention of our readers. The recent massacre at Fort Pillow led him to refer to the position of the Government with respect to the colored troops, and he declared that it would give them the same protection that it. gave to the white soldiers. Whenever a c, lear, well-authenticated case of barbaroa's brutality, on the part of the rebels, shon ld be made out, "retribution should follow." These are encouraging words, and we trust that there will be no delay in getting the official proofs of the Fort Pillow massacre, so that the retribution promised may follow quickly. It was fit that the promise should be made before the people of Baltimore, anjong whom are many who will have an opportunity of communicating the President's determination to their fellowtraitors at the South.

THE THREATENED INVASION.

T'ne Southern journalists are again urging the immediate advance of the troops of the 'Confederacy" across the border line, which separates the loyal and disloyal States; not of a mere corporal's guard, as they term it, but of an immense army composed of men from all sections of rebeldom, regulars, volunteers and conscripts, and able with its great numerical strength to penetrate into the very heart of the North. "Lee," say these exponents of treason, "had Harrisburg and Philadelphia at his mercy a year ago, and spared them both. How have his moderation and generosity been requited? Let the wrongs of Morgan and the spirits of our murdered people and the late diabolical plot against Richmond and its inhabitants answer the question." The ranks of their armies, they announce, will be swelled by the Copperheads who are anxiously awaiting the advent of the rebel forces, and from town to town and hamlet to hamlet, will march together under the same flag, their line of advance marked by devastated fields and blazing homesteads.

Differ as they may in reference to the best mode of carrying out these ambitious designs, they all agree as to the necessity and importance of the movement, and if persistent demands of people and press can influence the authorities at Richmond, our gallant soldiers, who have been comparatively idle for some months, even should they not themselves be acting upon the offensive, will be given an opportunity before the arrival of the early summer months to display their prowess.

The views of the Montgomery (Alabama) Mail, as expressed in an editorial from which we take the subjoined extract, are those of a very large portion of the traitors in arms, office, and civil life, who, made desperate by suffering and privation, eagerly await any change which may relieve them in the present, whatever may be their fortune in the future.

"Let us," observes the editor of the Mail. invade them with our whole force. Missouri, Kentneky, Maryland and the 'Copperheads' will swell our ranks. We want food raiment and gold. Let us go and take what we need. The army will receive the order 'Forward to the North,' with a shout. There let them stay until our ruthless invaders cry for peace. Better die there, with arms in our hands, than starve here or expire in chains. The best protection we can give those we leave behind will be to get the helpless of the North as hostages in our power.

"If our trans-Mississippi army advances upon St. Louis, and the Virginia army upon Pitts-burgh, and Ohio and Pennsylvania, unless the whole Federal army is withdrawn from the South to defend Ohio and Missouri, Pittsburgh Cincinnati and Chicago will be captured by General Lee, and Ohio, and Indiana, and Illinois will be overrun by our forces, and Missouri will be rescued. But if the Federal army should be withdrawn, as it certainly will be, or else if it should be greatly weakened to defend St. Louis and Pittsburgh, General Johnston can without difficulty advance to the Ohio, and liberate Tennessee and Kentucky. It is the North will effect these prime objects: "1. It will free the whole South from the presence of the Federal army. The militia, garrisons and our troops not in a condition to march, can protect our homes against the small force they have to harass it.

"2. It will supply us with all the horses equipments, clothing and articles of every kind needed by our soldiers.

"3. The retaliatory infliction of the horrors of war will make the North desire peace, and make foreign nations see that we have the power to annoy our enemy, and dispose them "4. It will double our army, instead of depleting it. "5. It will end the war in our favor in one vear."

Such are the opinions of the deluded people of the South; but how sadly are they mistaken in their anticipations of success. Disaster would attend their movements in the North and West, while Lee could have the same opportunity that he had in 1863. 'to spare Philadelphia," and more than one Gettysburg would be offered as a reward for his imprudence and temerity.

THE STOCK PANIC.

There has been an incalculable amount of money lost and won, within a few days, by the gamblers in stocks. The extravagant inflation of prices, noted a week ago, has been succeeded by a sudden and fearful decline in every kind of security, substantial as well as fancy. The speculators for a fall have grown rich, while those who had gone in for a rise have lost terribly, some of them being utterly impoverished, unless they can manage to hasten the reaction which must, sooner or later, succeed such a crash as that which has just occurred. The recent extravagant rise and the succeeding precipitate decline were alike senseless. There was nothing in the state of the country, or the business of the various companies whose stock thus fluctuated, to warrant either. Both were the work of gamblers, and the losers in the desperate game are not entitled to the sympathy of any good citizens. But these things are not controllable by law or by common sense. When the mania for gambling of this kind possesses a people, it cannot be cured except by time and bitter lessons.

MISS ANNE E. DICKINSON. This talented young lady will deliver an address upon "Reconstruction," at the Academy of Music, on next Thursday evening. The simple announcement that she is to speak never fails to attract an intelligent and appreciative audience. On the occasion of a recent lecture in Boston, Mr. George Thompson, the English orator, arose and exclaimed, "America, be proud of your daughter! were she a country-woman of mine, I would be proud of my country for her sake." A woman whose patriotism and benevolence are of such high order; whose services as a public speaker, within the last few menths, have netted to the Sanitary and kindred associations the sum of five thousand dollars; and whose labors in behalf of the Union and Liberty have been such as but few of the sterner sex could endure, deserves public recognition and support.

GRAY'S PATENT

MOLDED COLLARS Have now been before the public for nearly a year. They are universally pronounced the nestest and best fitting collars extant.

The upper edge presents a perfect curve, free from the angles noticed in all other collars.

The cravat causes no puckers on the inside of the turn down collar-they are AS SMOOTH IN-SIDE AS OF TRIDE-and therefore perfectly free and easy to the neck.

The Garotte Cellar has a smooth and evenly. fl. ished edge on BOTH SIDES. These Collars are not simply flat pieces of paper.

ont in the form of a Collar, but are MOLDED AND HAPED TO PIT THE NECK. They are made in "Novelty" (or turn-downstyle); in every half size from 12 to 17 inches and in . Eureka', (or Garotte,) from 13 to 17 inches; and packed in 'sold sizes' in neatblue cartons, containing and each; also in smaller ones of 10 eachthe latter a very handy package for Travelers, Army and Navy Officers.

 EVERY COLLAR is stamped 'Gray's Patent Molded Collar." Sold by all Dealers in Men's Furnishing Goods. The Trace supplied by
