SPEKE'S AFRICA. JOURNAL OF THE DISCOVERY OF THE SOURCE OF THE NILE BY JOHN HANNING SPEKE, Captain H. M. Indian Army, Fellow and Gold Medalist of the Royal Geographical Society, Hon. Gorr. Unquestionably the most novel and valuable book of travel that has been given us these many years. * * * From the moment of starting, Captain Speke's Journal presents a tale of strange, startling and unbroken interest to its close. — Vonconformist.

starting and unbroken interest to its close.—Vonconformist.

It is a great story that is thus plainly told; a story of which nearly all the interest lies in the strange facts related, and, more than all, in the crowning fact that frees us, it a large degree, from a geographical puzzle which had excited the curiosity of mankind—of the most illustrious emperors and communities—from very early times.—

A monument of heroic proficiency under circumstances the most appaling, and a treasury of new and surprising knowledge of many kinds. More enchanting than a fairy tale; more exciting than a novel, its greatest charm is yet that every word of it is true, and its thrilling revelations are recounted with a modesty which is, we suppose, as characteristic of true genius as it is of real brayery.—

with a modesty which is, we suppose, as characteristic of true genius as it is of real bravery.—

Daily News.

This is a tremendous feat—yet not a tithe of its dangers, difficulties, and terrors are realized to the mind until after a peru-al of Capitain Speke's artless but thrilling narrative.—Scotman.

This thorough unconscioneness of all dangers or hardships, except as impedimen's to his progress to the great fountain-head, seems to have been his real protection through the hundreds of days on every one of which no respectable insurance office would have taken his life at any reasonable premium. As the fiercest wild beasts are said to be appalled by the eye that shows no impression either of risk or wrath, so the sanguinary potentates among whom our explorer went, demanding noth-determined to get that, seemed to have restrained in their amazement the natural impulses of their ferocity.—Blackwood's Magazzine.

This is indeed a triumph for modern enterprise, and it is no wonder that it has thrown all our geographers into a fever of excitement and curiosity.

Capitain Speke has not only solved a great geographers. John Bull.

Captain Speke has not only solved a great geographical problem by a remarkable exercise of tact, courage, and perseverance, but has also written a most lucid and forcible account of it.—

OSBORN'S

PREPARED JAVA COFFEE

[From the New York Express of April 21st.]

The Ladies of the Committee desire as to espe cially notice a valuable contribution of OS-BORN'S PREPARED JAVA COFFEE, which has been solely used in the Knickerbocker Kitchen, and given universal satisfaction. This Coffee was donated by the manufacturer, Lewis A. Osborn of 69 Warren street. It is prepared from Pure Java Coffee, with other vegetable ingredients which are nutritious and wholesome, and while the beverage produced by it, is strong, and of an agreeable fiavor, it is really more beneficial to the human system than the pure roasted and ground berry. Dr. Charles Wright says: "I have examined your Coffee, and find that it contains nothing but Java Coffee; a compound far more heathy than that sold in the Stores for Pure Cones. My family were at first prejudiced against it; but acknowledge that it is the best Coffee they ever used."
