REBEL REPORT OF THE CAPTURE OF PLY.

MOUTH, N. C. New York, April 25.—The Herald has a despatch from the Army of the Potomac as follows: The Richmond Sentinel of April 22 says the following despatch has been received by Gen. Bragg:

"Римочти, N. C., April 20, 1864.—То Gen. Braxton Bragg: I have stormed and carried this place, capturing one brigadier, one thousand six hundred men, stores and twenty-five

"R. F. Hoke, Brigadier-General." A telegram was also received by the President from Colonel John Taylor Wood, dated Rocky Mount, 21st inst., giving further particulars of the capture of Plymouth by the forces under General Hoke, with naval co-operations.

He says that about twenty-five hundred prisoners were taken (three or four hundred of them negroes), thirty pieces of artillery, one hundred thousand pounds of meat, one thousand barrels of flour, and a full garrison outfit. Our loss was about three hundred in all. Colonel Mercet was among the killed.

Two gunboats were sunk, another disabled. and a small steamer captured

There are reports on the streets here this morning, purporting to have been brought by a sutler, that the colored troops at Plymouth were murdered after the surrender, but we have not the means of verifying it.

ADDITIONAL REBEL NEWS.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, April 24 .- I have received Richmond papers to the 22d inst. From the Lower Rappahannock, a citizen brings the Richmond Sentinel information of the advance up the Rappahannock, on Wednesday. as far as Boulware's wharf, of eight gunboats and one transport. They landed three hundred men at Boulware's wharf, which is ten miles below Tappahannock, in Essex county.

This is supposed to be the advance of Burn side's expedition, as it was reported in Fredericksburg yesterday that a fleet of sixty vessels, gunboats and transports were at the mouth of the Rappahannock.

It was also rumored that the enemy were landing pontoon bridges at Aquia creek. The vessels advancing up the river are reported to be feeling their way very carefully.

having a wholesome dread of torpedoes. The arrival of Surgeon Mary E. Walker, lately captured by the Army of Tennessee, in Richmond, is announced in the same paper as having excited much curiosity as she passed through the streets, habited in male costume, on her way to Castle Thunder.

The Register of the rebel Treasury reports the whole amount of the issues of non-interest bearing notes since the formation of the government at nine hundred and seventy-eight million two hundred and seventy-seven thousand eight hundred and sixty-three dollars, and the whole amount now outstanding at seven hundred and ninety six million two hundred and fifty-four thousand four hundred and three dollars.

LATE EXPEDITION ON THE RAPPAHAN.

Washington, April 25 .- The Navy Department has received a communication dated April 22d, from Commander Fox, commanding the Potomac flotilla, in relation to the recent expedition up the Rappahannock. He says: 66 Having learned from various sources that the rebel Government had established a ferry at Circus Point, a few miles below Tappahannock, on the Rappahannock river, and was briskly engaged in collecting boats at the same point on the river, for the purpose of attacking he blockading vessels, I proceeded thither with a portion of the flotilla on the 18th inst., where I remained until evening. I visited all the Ferries from Circus Point to Windmill Point, with the following result: Two ferries were broken up, seven large lighters, each capable of carrying 100 men, three pontoon boats, twenty-two large skiffs and canoes; 200 white pak beams and knees large enough for the construction of a ship-of-war, &c., twenty-two arge boats—one of which is capable of carrying small arms, and a large amount of bacon nd wheat, &c., which were brought off at Bohler's Point, on the south side of Rappapannock Landing. Another report says there will be no expedition from Annapolis, but that these troops are held as a reserve corps. But all surmises are at an end, as the troops are to move to-day.

FROM GENERAL BUTLER'S DEPARTMENT FORTRES MONROE, April 23 .- The schooner Francis Hatch, from New York to Baltimore, got aground on Cape Charles, and lost part of her cargo. She was towed off this morning.

The Wilmington, North Carolina, Journal 12th inst. says much activity prevails at the Armory and Arsenal at Fayetteville, and they have advertised for a large number of blacksmiths.

The Wilmington Saving Bank has refused to pay any interest on deposits after April 1st. Several ladies arrived at Fortress Monroe this morning from Plymouth, all non-combatants having left that place.

No later dates from Plymouth than were received yesterday.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Department has been officially informed that the Island of Femern, which was in the first instance exempted from the blockade by the Danish Government of the ports and inlets on the East coast of the Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein, is now also blockaded, the blockade of that Island having been ordered to commence on the 22d ultimo.

BERKS COUNTY. READING, April 25.—At a meeting of the Union party of the county of Berks, held in the city of Reading on Saturday last, Levi B. Smith and Edward Brooke were elected delegates, and Wm. BOILER EXPLOSION IN THE TENTH WARD.

tory Damaged. Several Persons Killed and Wounded.

This morning at twenty-five minutes before eight o'clock, a frightful boiler explosion took place at the gas fixture and chandelier manufactory of Mesers. Cornelius & Baker, on the North side of Cherry street, between Eighth and Ninth side of Cherry street, between Lighth and Minch streets. In order to understand the details of the disaster it will be necessary to give a description of the factory buildings. It will be remembered that the old factory was destroyed by fire in 1853 and the firm took possession of the present structure in February 1856. In order to guard against a similar calamity great care was taken to make the building entirely fire proof. In fact no wood was used in their construction, and the structure was made almost entirely of brick, stone and iron.

The buildings five stories in height occupy three sides of a square lot, with a large open space in the centre. Windows open into this court yard. the centre. Windows open into this court yard. As an additional precaution against accident the boiler and engine room were located in a separate building which occupied the north side of the quadrangle. In this building there were two boilers in use, and an engine of twenty-five horse power. The building in which the engine and boiler were placed was of brick, a single story in height, and the boilers were in a basement lower than the surface of the ground. There was a chimney five stories in height connected with the engine house. There was also a small building used for stamping metals which occupied a portion of the quadrangle.

for stamping metals which occupied a portion of the quadrangle.

THE DISAFTER THIS MORNING.

Between seven and eight o'clock this morning, when the hundreds of workmen employed in the building were busy at their respective duties, the boilers exploded with a frightful noise, dashing the buildings in the quadrangle to pieces, and tumbling the tail chimney already described into a heap of ruins. A large space in the wall of the north wing of the factory was dashed in, the windows, and in some cases the iron sash of the main buildings were broken in, and fragments of brick. Work and other rubbish were hurled in through the windows. The escaping steam also entered the nearest windows and a trightful scene of confusion ensued. Three men were killed instantly at their workbenches and several others were more or less injured. The workmen who had escaped unhurt rushed for the doors to escape into the open air, and some of them in their fright leaped from the windows.

As soon as possible the injured persons were rescued from the ruins, medical aid was procured for them, and they were subsequently removed to the Pennsylvania Hospital in the Ambulances of the firemen which were brought to the spot with commendable promptness.

THE EFFECTS OF THE ENPLOSION OUTSIDE THE PACTON.

One of the boilers seems to have been rent in twain about six feet from one end. The smallest end, nearly six feet in length, and fully three feet in diameter, was carried up into the air, passing over the Western side of the factory, inversing a distance of about fourteen hundred feet and falling finally in Cherry street, below Twelth. The mass of iron weighing probably more than a ton, after traveling a distance of four squates, fell upon a one-storied building occupied by John son & Co., bottlers, No. 1121 Cherry street. Li crashed through the roof, dashed out the brains of John Porter, a workman whe was loading a wagon, made a wreck of the vehicle, passed out through a large open door-way, wrecked a second wagon in the rear, struck the earth, rebounded, and after passing through two intervening fences landed in the yard of a house nearer to Twelfth street. The main body of the boiler measuring, probably, eighteen feet in length, was also thrown up into the air, and passing up over the factory building it took a directly southern direction and landing upon a range of stables in the rear of the William Penn Hotel, on Market street, below Ninth, it made a wreck of the stables, killed a horse and injured Mr. Lewis Robinson, a drover, from Carlisle, who happened to be in the stable at the time. A smaller fragment of from was thrown over into Eighth street, and after grazing the building on the southwest coner of Eighth and Cherry streets, and knocking down an iron awning, post, it fell in the street without injuring any person.

Many dwellings in the vicinity suffered considerablet conceasing the bridge of falling brick work, frightened all the horses within sin induced, and after grazing the building on the southwest coner of Eighth and Cherry street, and know has a south the range of the suffered with the factory were agonized with the uncerta says there was not a sufficient pressure to run the engine at full speed, and he was about to try and get up more steam.

This statement is confirmed by one of the clerks in the office, who looked at the gauge five minutes before the explosion took place, and it then stood at 65. It is also stated that the injection was supplying water to the boilers a few minutes before the explosion took place.

The engineer has been in the employ of the firm for ten years, and he was esteemed a perfectly competent and trustworthy man.

The ENLILED.

So far as could be positively ascertained at the time of our going to press there were five persons who were killed, and it is feared that the number will be increased. Three of the workmen employed in the factory were killed outright. Their remains have not yet been identified. They have been plaged in the hands of an undertaker, by direction of Messrs. Cornelius & Baker, in order that they may be put in such condition that they can be recognized.

It is also feared that a Mr. Snyder, a bricklayer, who was at work in the yard, was buried beneath the ruins. He has not been seen since the accident, and a strong force of men are engaged in removing the rubbish in search for his body.

Spring Run of Lumber.—During the past two MARKETS.

Corn has an advancing tendency.

SPRING RUN OF LUMBER.—During the past two weeks, immense quantities of timber, boards, shingles, &c. bave been floated down the Altegheny from the head waters of this stream. The run has been much larger than for many years. The unprecedented advance in price has served to stimulate lumbermen to unusual activity in getting all the lumber possible to market. Thus far the greater bulk of the present run has gone to Cincinnati, Louisville, and points below, and the Pittsburgh market is still unusually barren of supply. There's, however, a large reserve in the pite regions waiting the "moving of the waters," amply sufficient, we are informed, to meet almost every reasonable demand.—Pittsburgh Chronick.

'New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 24, 1863.

Dear Sir.—I have been afflicted many years with severe prostrating cramps in my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system: Physicians and medicines failed to relieve me. While visiting some friends in New York who were using Plantation Bitters they prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine glassful atter dinner. Feeling better by degrees, in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I have not done for years I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the Plantation Bitters.

Respectfully,

JUDITH RUSSEL."

'HAYEMEYE MANSION, Ffty-seventh, stree, NEW York, August 2, 1863.

Dr. Drake: Your wonderful Plantation Ritters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Ritters and sy. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well.

Respectfully, MRS. O. M. DEVOE.'
