EVENING BULLETIN MONDAY, MAY 2, 1864.

COPPERHEAD DISLOYALTY. Previous to the passage of the Tax bill in the House, every copperhead orator and journalist in the land clamored for its enactment, and in dolorous tones declared that Secretary Chase was leading the nation to swift bankruptcy by the issue of greenbacks and the selling of bonds without having means to pay the interest. Yet no sooner does the Tax bill come up on its final passage in the House, than thirty-three copperheads voted squarely against it! Every republican, war Democrat and true border Unionist voted for it; and not a single man except the copperheads opposed it. To show the grossly unpatriotic character of such action by the New York copperheads the Tribune says :- "New York city is more deeply interested than any other locality in the maintenance and invigoration of the public credit. Of our vast National Debt, probably a full third is owed to our citizens. To vote down the Tax bill is in effect to repudiate the Debt. Yet, on the passage of this bill, every member present from our city-Brooks, Chanler, Herrick, Ward, and F. Wood-voted in the negative, as the other (Ben. Wood) would doubtless have done had he been present."

How dare any copperhead have the assurance to prate of loyalty after such a bold and open act of treason to the best interests of the nation! Had there been copperheads enough in the House to have defeated the bill, it would have been accomplished, and thus Jefferson Davis would have been more ably helped than by a great victory in the field. Let all honest citizens of all parties bear this fact in mind and repudiate such despicable sympathisers with rebellion whenever they seek office or power at the hands of true men.

OUR MAIMED HEROES.

The large number of maimed and mutilated soldiers of the Union, who are now to be found in the different, army hospitals, and dwelling in different cities and counties throughout the country is properly attracting the attention of the loyal people. The approach of the hour when our armed hosts will again march forward to do battle with the traitorous hordes, naturally makes the subject one of unusual interest, and there should be no procrastination in making such arrangements as will secure the comfort of these unfortunate heroes. Their injuries were received while fighting valuantly in defence of their country, and they richly deserve all the care and consideration which a grateful people can give. Congress, some months since, appropriated large sums of money for the purpose of procuring artificial arms and legs to supply the place of those lost in engagements, and one or more hospitals have been organized, into whose wards are received only patients thus disabled. One of these institutions is located in our own city, under the charge of a skilful surgeon, and an enterprise, recently inaugurated by that officer, is but the excellent beginning of a work which must extend throughout the North and West until its benefits are experienced by all whom it is intended to relieve.

The Surgeon of the Christian Street Hospital, the one to which we refer, intends to pital, the one to which we refer, intends to Pointails—into the convalence of the patients instructed in B. F. REIMER'S Life-size PHOTOGRAPHS in condition will permit them to engage in, so that in the future they will be enabled to earn a support by their own exertions, a desideratum always looked forward to with pleasure by Americans in whatever sphere of life they may move. This plan recommends itself for general adoption, but there are many, and during the further progress of the war must be hundreds if not thousands more, who will never be able to help themselves, and who should not be neglected. We find in a report recently made to the Sanitary Commission by Dr. John Ordronaux, some very interesting facts and excellent suggestions in regard to this subject. The Doctor gives a list of seventythree occupations and trades which can be pursued by this class of soldiers, and suggests that they should have the preference when certain positions under the General or State Governments are to be filled. He also urges that "national military homes or asylums should be created, which should be semi-industrial. On entering them the invalid should relinquish his pension, if a private soldier; or, if an officer, then so much of it as would be an equivalent for his board." To these homes or asylums men are to be admitted who have no fixed residence, or who are so much disabled that they require constant personal attendance.

He proposes that every State should possess

such asylums; and that attached to them should be establishments for the care and education of the children of soldiers who die in the service. Philadelphia has a Soldiers' Home established by private enterprise, and in Boston there is also an institution in active operation, but the influence and pecuniary assistance of the different State governments should be invoked in their behalf in every Commonwealth, until at length each has its own separate and distinct building, of dimensions sufficiently large to accommodate all of its sons who may apply for admission. Finally, Dr. Ordronaux suggests the propriety of forming military colonies on public lands, and shows that numbers could fill the subordinate government offices, where they could be retained during life or good behaviour, while others, who are less injured, could garrison the forts and posts on our coasts. The subject, as we have stated, is one of great importance, and properly carried out will relieve much suffering among those who have already been injured; while at the same time it will be an additional incentive to those in the ranks who have thus far passed unscathed through the dangers of the field of conflict, and who will thus be assured that when their hour of suffering shall arrive, they will be recognised as worthy recipients of the care and attention of the government of which they are bleeding de-

THE GRAND OPERA OF "NOTRE DAME OF PARIS." The Musical festival for the Great Central Fair will begin at the Academy of Musicon Wednesday evening, with the performance of William H. Fry's new Grand opera of "Notre Dame of Paris" tounded on Victor Hugo's celebrated story. We have had the pleasure of hearing the choral parts of this opera sung, and can assure our readers that we remember nothing more effective. The regular chorus is twice or thrice as large as we have ever had in the Academy, and is made up of good singers collected here in Philadelphia. They are thoroughly well up in their parts, and sing the fine scenes of Notre Dame with great precision and effect. The orchestra and the military band will be of corresponding magnitude, and in some of the scenes of the opera, there will be no less than three hundred persons on the stage at once.

The principal singers of the company are Mme. Comte-Borchard, soprano; Mrs. Kempton, contraito; Mr. Castle, tenor: Mr. Campbell, bary-tone, and Mr. Seguin, bass. These are all excellent artists, and have had considerable experience in English opera in New York and Brooklyn, where their success has been great. They are themselves delighted with the music assigned them in Notre Dame, and that we regard as proof of its excellence and its popular character.

The preparations in the way of scenery, costumes, &c...for the production of the new opera, are on a scale, never equaled in this country. opening scene, on the King of Fool's Day, in front of Notre Dame, will be particularly brilliant. The lower half of the fagade of the church is accurately represented; the upper part being concealed by a great floral arch. The second act presents the in. terior of the belfry. Each of the other acts presents new and effective scenery, closing with one of Russell Smith's happiest effects-a perspective view of the church and part of Paris. The novelty, the splendor and the excellence of this opera, to say nothing of the good cause for which it is presented, should fill the Academy to overflowing, as we believe it will every night that it is played.

These Bonds are issued under the Act of Congress of March 8th, 1864, which provides that all Bonds issued under this Act shall be EXEMPT FROM TAXATION by or under any State or Municipal authority. Subscriptions to these Bonds are received in United States notes or notes of National Banks. They are TO BE REDEEMED IN COIN, at the pleasure of the Government, at any period not less than ten nor more than forty years from their date, and urtil their redemption FIVE PER CENT. INTEREST WILL BE PAID IN COIN, on Bondsof not over one hundred do lars an. nually and on all other Bonds semi-annually. The interest is payable on the first days of March and September in each year.

Registered Bonds are recorded on the Books of the United States Treasurer, and can be transferred only on the owner's order. Coupon Bonds are payable to bearer, and are more convenient for commercial uses.

Subscribers to this loan will have the option of having their Bonds draw interest from March ist, by paying the accrued interest in com-(or in United States notes, or the rotes of National Banks adding fifty per cent. for premium,) or receive them drawing interest from the date of subscription and deposit.

As these Bonds are exempt from Municipal or State taxation, their value is increased from one to three per cent. per annum, according to the rate of tax levies in various parts of the country. At the present rate of premium on gold they pay ever eight per cent. interest in currency, and are of equal convenience as a permanent or temporary investment. It is be leved that ne securities offer so great inducements to lenders as the various descriptions of U. S. Bonds. In all other forms of indebtedness, the faith crability of private parties or stock companies or separate communities only is pledged for payment, while for the debts of the United States the whole property of the country is holden to secure the payment of both principal and interest There Bonds may be subscribed for in sums from

$50 up to any magnitude, on the same terms, and are thus made equally available to the smallest lender and the largest capitalist. They can be converted into money at any moment, and the holder will have the benefit of the interest. The fact that all duties on imports are payable in specie furnishes a fund for like payment of interest on all Government Bonds largely in excess of the wants of the treasury for this purpose. Instructions to the National Banks acting as loan agents were not issued from the United States Treasury until March 26th, but in the first three weeks of April the subscriptions have averaged more than

TEN MILLIONS A WEEK.
