ials which they had forged for the purpose of gaining admittance. If any such indi-viduals are really in the Convention, it will matches in the washstand drawer. The oldest girl was burned about the chest, legs go hard with them should they be found out. A resolution was offered ordering President O'Mahony and his Cabinet to appear before the Convention at once. This is just what Mr. O'Mahony most desired as it would afford him an opportunity of vindi cating himself in the eyes of all his brethren aud the motion was therefore made by his nearest friends; but it was opposed by a number of the Convention upon the ground that such a measure would indicate a want of confidence on the part of the Convention in President O'Mahony. A long and unne-cessary discussion arose upon this trifling point, ending in the passage of the resolu tion at 4 P. M., and a committee was ap pointed to wait upon Mr. O'Mahony with out delay and inform him of the action of the Convention. When the members of the Committee arrived at President O'Mahony's head-quarters on Seventeenth street, it was too ate for that gentleman to attend them to the Convention. He, however, delivered to the Committee his Address, which will be read before the Convention to-day, together with all the books, accounts and documents, which are alluded to in the Address, and promised to be present this morning. Mr. Killian also sent in his report, which

FIRE.-Last night, about half-past ten o'clock, a fire broke out in the hat and cap store of Henry S. Fox, No. 338 North Second street. The flames, however, were extinguished before much headway had been gained. The stock was considerably damaged by water. The loss will be about 83.000, and is fully insured in the Reliance and Pennsylvania Insurance Company. ACCIDENT .- Joseph Enock fell on th sidewalk at Frankford road and Master streets, last night about 12 o'clock, and had a leg broken. He was taken to his home No. 1361 Montgomery avenue. PAWNBROKERS' LICENSES .- The following additional licenses to pawnbrokers were issued this morning by Mayor McMichael: Alex. S. Reed, J. Brandt, Jno. Bartley, Ansel Hamberg, Thos. J. Hemphill. The total number licensed is 43. INTEREST ON THE CITY DEBT .- Mr. City Treasurer Bumm is now busily engaged in paying the interest on the city debt. The amount paid out yesterday was $352,195 45.

Their reputation for morality, industry and sobrietytheir attention to church duties, their promptness in schooling the children, are all commendable features, indicating a pre-ponderance of Eastern character in Gloucester City. The operatives are three-fourths males; the females all make full time. Throughout this yast hive of industry, cleanliness and order prevail, particularly in the female departments. The active and prominent business gentlemen connected with this manufacturing company are, David S. Brown, President; Samuel Chew, Treasurer and Secretary. The former, Mr. Brown, is extensively known in the manufacturing and business circles of Philadelphia, and throughout the country, as one who has always been foremost in maintaining those interests which develop the resources and contribute to the interests of the community. The dignified position he occupies, won by his probity, has ever been exerted in favor of greater protection to machinery, mechanism and manufactures, evincing a laudable effort to reach the stand of European excellence. In this he has eminently succeeded. This establishment is but an auxiliary of Philadelphia manufacturing interests, as the various prints made here are to be found in nearly all the retail and jobbing houses in this city, indicating that, as the city itself is fast filling up with these manufactories, its suburbs are being none the less improved. The Gloucester Manufacturing Company have been in successful operation for a number of years, and through the en-terprising spirit and liberal expenditures of capital which they have made, they have contributed, in no small degree, to building up Gloucester City. In fact, by doing so, they have felt that they were enhancing the prosperity and wealth of Philadelphia, and extending its industrial interests into another State. POSTMISTRESS APPOINTED .- Mrs. Mary Woodrow has been appointed Postmistress at Blackwoodtown, in Camden county. RETURNED.-Captain Lee, Postmaster of Camden, has just returned from a trip through Virginia and a portion of North Carolina. He says the people were considerably excited in regard to negro insurrections.

BUFFALO, Jan. 3.—A fire broke out in Lockport, N. Y., at ten o'clock last night, in the grocery No. 39 Main street, and destroyed H. Birdsall's hat and fur store, G. The buildings were of but little value, very old and built of wood. Reposs & Hunt lost everything, and are insured for $12,000. The cab-drivers of Paris have petitioned the Emperor to cause an increase of their wages. He has promised to do what he can for them. Hansom-ly done by the Emperor.

Queen Emma, of the Sandwich Islands, has left England, and is now in Paris. If her middle name is what we suppose it to be, she will be considered as an Emma-Saireh. The current prices of hacks in New York for New Year's day was forty dollars each and they were scarce at that figure. A hack soon makes itself scarce when it goes "to forty. There is a man employed in the office the American Telegraph Company in Wash-ington, who is both deaf and dumb, but yet is a good "sound operator." He presses his knee against the table on which the instru-ment rests and thus feels the words sent over the lines. His motto is "knee plus ultra."

vill also probably be read to-day. The latter is understood to be a very able and elabor ate document. O'Mahony's address will enter into a bistory of the recent distressing dissensions, from their incipiency to the present time. The President has also been heard to say that he will satisfactorily account for every cent of the Fenian funds expended, even to the price of a cigar! and that he will show that all expenditures have been made not toward the conquest of Canada, nor any other country in America, but in the cause of the liberation of Ireland from the British yoke. We understand that the Address treats of all questions at issue so elaborately and exhaustively that nearly two hours will be consumed in reading it, and that it will contain the matter of about 16 columns of solid nonpareil type.

There was another committee sent in quest of the Senate in the course of the afternoon; but, after looking in many places, and tramping about in the foul weather for and training about in the four weather for several hours, the members of the committee returned to Clinton Hall in disgust, and re-ported President Roberts and his rebel-lious Senate "Nowhere." Perhaps the quest will be continued to day; but, as the Senate are probably not particularly anxious to be ound, the search will most likely prove a ruitless one.

The Convention will, in all probability, remain in session for six or seven days longer. At the adjournment last evening, 540 delegates had handed in their credentials, and about 150 more were expected to arrive during the night. The Committee are kept busily employed until a late hour every night, examining credentials. It is the general opinion of those who ought to know, that the overthrow of the Senate, is merely a matter of time, and that, when it does take place, the defeat of that action will be most signal and complete.

William Lloyd Garrison's Farewell. On the 29th of December, Mr. William Lloyd Garrison stopped the publication of The Liberator, retiring with a graceful vale-dictory address, in which he sums up the results of forty years' labor in the anti-slavery cause. He says:

"Commencing my editorial career when only twenty years of age, I have followed it only twenty years of age, I have followed it continuously till I have attained my six-tieth year—first in connection with The Free Press, in Newburyport, in the spring of 1826; next with The National Philanthro-pist, in Boston, in 1827; next with The Journal of the Times, in Bennington, Vt., in 1828-9; next with The Genius of Universal Emancination, in Baltimore in 1920-26, and Emancipation, in Baltimore, in 1829-30; and finally, with The Liberator, in Boston, from

Hundreds of our brave soldiers have reurned, disabled and shattered in health, to their homes, only to be a burden to their families, and without any City or Govern-mental aid. The Special Relief now appeal most earnestly to our citizens to remember those desolated homes where widows and orphans are suffering for food and raiment, ind not forget that that neace which shade its healing influence over our land, and fills our homes with plenty, was purchased by the bravery and death of thosemen whose families are our sacred trust.

Any contributions in money, goods, groceries or coal, will be most thankfully re-ceived by any of the ladies composing the Committee, or may be sent to the rooms of the Special Relief Committee, S. E. corner of Thirteenth and Chestnut streets.

Mr. ROBERT HELLER.—The hit which this singu-inriv versatile and accomplished performer has made with the puble of our city is a most pronounced and decided one. No person who has visited his Saile Diabolique but must admit him to beatruly wonderful marician. He is so neat and cl an in the performance of his feats, and keeps up constantly such an abun-dant flow of epigrammatic and numbing talk, that we confess ourselves as much an used by the latter as we are mystified by the former. Indeed, in the respect to which we have now casually alluded, he stands com-pieuely alone, and no magician, past or present can with any justice be placed above him. As amusician he is also inuisputely, most able; yet even in his music his versatility displays itself and presents the public with as genuine's bit of comin acting as any we have ever seen-that of the Boarding school Miss at the Plano. This evening he adds to his first pro-gramme "The Wood Minstrels a Marvelous Set of run for more than seven months. He states definitely that their engagement cannot be prolonged after this week. But we must own that we see no reason why its should notifit be drsired. GINGHAM MANUFACTORY. - About six years ago, a gentleman named Samuel Raby, purchased a lot of ground on the south the Pine Grove road, a short distance from Gloucester city, where he soon after-wards erected buildings, with all their appurtenances, for carrying on the business o a gingham manufactory. The main build-ing is 320 by 56 feet; the next in size is 180 by 42 feet. Besides these there are outbuildings adapted to various branches of the business, offices, &c. Mr. Raby gives his personal superintendence to these works moving among his employes, suggesting, assisting, instructing, and making himself a companion. During all the vicissitudes and fluctuations of trade incident to the war, Mr. Raby kept his works in operation affording to a large number of families in Gloucester the means of livelihood, at a period, too, when employment was preca-rious and the cost of living high. It is as-serted by citizens of that place that he did this often at a sacrifice, from the purest mo-The main building presents one grand and unobstructed view of machinery, and the observer cannot but be impressed while surveying the busy scene, with the perfec tion to which machinery has arrived, and the skill displayed in the manufacture of the fabrics turned out from this establish ment. There are 100 looms, with all the necessary accompaniments of modern in-vention, weaving, spinning, winding, fold-ing, &c., all in full operation, and moving with clock-like precision, regularity and speed. The ginghams sent from this establishment are considered equal to the best made in the country. The fact that the trade of Philadelphia demands all that Mr. Raby can manufacture, indicates the excellent quality of the goods. Large additions are to be made to this establishment when spring opens, which will afford ampleroom for an increase of business. At a short distance from, and connected with these works, are quite a number of neat dwelling houses used by some of the operatives. Mr. Raby employs one hundred and twenty work-men, all of whom make full time. These works are a valuable acquisition to the manufacturing interests not only of Glou-cester city, but also of Philadelphia, for they are, in fact, only the out-growing of the in-dustrial and mechanical developments of this prosperous city. AN IMPORTANT REPORT.—At the last stated meeting of the City Council, the com-mittee appointed to negotiate for the pur-chase of the Camden Water Works, made a chase of the Camden Water WORKS made a lengthy report, which embraced every in-formation in regard to the value of the property, the profits made, th condition of the works, the present capleity, the cost of necessary repairs, &c.
