SHALL PHILADELPHIA DO HER DUTY?

We are glad to see that the public is aroused to the importance of the proposed plan to establish lines of steamships from Philadelphia to the principal Southern ports.

It is a wonder, an anomaly, a disgrace, that this city, with its vast manufactures, its large population and noble harbor, should be almost destitute of steam communication with other ports.

fearless in doing right, simple in all his tastes, with a native instinct for the right, and an equally natural aversion to what was mean or wrong, he confounded the wisdom of the wise and brought to nothing the understanding of the proudest.

We are attracted to this topic by the inaugural address just delivered by Governor Fairchild, of Wisconsin. With the leading issues of the day, handling them with that bold, free manner that the people love so well, and so easily understand.

"Not until Jefferson Davis shall have been tried, convicted and hung for treason, and the fact that treason is a crime which cannot be committed with impunity, shall have thus been fully demonstrated, will the American people be content."

The nation goes with President Johnson in all his generous leniency towards the masses of the South. But no greater mistake could be made than to suppose that the natural generosity of the American people will ever supersede their clear sense of justice and right.

At this season of the year there are always many large and destructive fires, the conflagrations resulting mostly from accident, and their extent being determined by the difficulty of extinguishing them.
