From our Third Edition of Yesterday Valedictory of Gov. Andrew, of Massa-

Boston, Jan. 4th. – Governor Andrew de-livered a lengthy valedictory address to the Legislature to day, in which he ventures the opinion that the Government of the United States ought to require the people of those States late in rebellion to reform their constitutions, by first guaranteeing to the people of color, now the wards of the nation, their civil rights, as men and women, on an equality with the white population by amendments irrepealable in terms.

Second, by regulating the elective fran-Second, by regulating the elective franchise according to certain laws of universal application, and not by rules merely arbitrary. Third, by annulling the ordinances of secession. Fourth, by disapproving the rebel debt; and fifth, by ratifying the antislayery amendments of the United States Constitution by their Legislatures.

And he would have all these questions, save the fifth (the disposition of which is regulated by the Federal Constitution) put to a vote of the people themselves.

selves.
On the subject of amnesty he says:

When the day arrives, which surely must come, when an amnesty substantially universal shall be proclaimed, the leading minds at the South, who, by temporary policy and artificial rules had been for a while disfranchised, will resume their for a while distranchised, will resume their influence and their away. The capacity of leadership is a gift, not a device. Those whose courage, talents, and will entitle them to lead will lead; and these men not them to lead will lead; and these men not then stopped by their own consent or par-ticipation in the business of reorganization may not be slow to question the validity of great public transactions enacted during their own disfranchisement. If it is asked in reply, What can they do and what can come of their discontent? I answer that while I do not know just what they can do nor what may come of it, neither do I know what they may not attempt nor what they may not accomplish. I only know that we ought to demand and secure the co-operation of the strongest and ablest the co-operation of the strongest and ablest minds and national leaders of opinions in the South. If we cannot gain their support of the first measures needful for the work of this age, reorganization will be delusive and full of danger.

With regard to negro suffrage, the address continues: It may be asked, Why not demand the suffrage for colored men in season for their vote in the business of reorganization? My answer is, I assume that the colored men are in favor of those measures which the Union needs to have colored men are in favor of those measures which the Union needs to have adopted; but it would be luie to reorganize those States by the colored votes if the popular vote of the white race is not to be had in favor of the guarantees justly required. Then I am in favor of holding on just where we now are. I am not in favor of a surrender of the present rights of favor of a surrender of the present rights of the Union to a struggle between white minorities aided by freedmen on one hand against a majority of the white race on the other. I would not consent, having rescued these States by arms from secession and rebellion, to turn them over to anarchy and chaos. I have however, no doubt whatever of our right to stimulate for colored suffrage. The quesfayor of a surrender of the present rights of stipulate for colored suffrage. The question is one of statesmanship, and not a question of Constitutional limitation.

Terrific Gales at Sca.

New York, Jan, 4th.—The steamship Ottawa, Capt. Archer, which arrived last night from London, experienced a succession of terrific gales throughout her passage.

Wm. Watson, seaman, and Wm, Dunn, quartermaster, were both severely injured at the wheel, their ribs being broken. The gails were blown away and the boat's sails were blown away and the boat's hatchway, sheds and everything on deck washed away by the heavy seas which broke over her, and it was nearly an hour before the hatch was secured—the men being repeatedly washed away with their nails, hammer, etc., and the boatswain being seriously injured in the attempt.

On the 23d ult. the gale reached its height. The seas swept fore and art and washed overboard Chas. Dyson, fourth Wm. Collins, Quartermaster, and John Munda, ordinary seaman. The trysalls were broken, striking Mr. Mitchell, the first officer, breaking his shoulder, and injuring several others severely.
