DEATH OF THE "OLDEST INHABSTANT,"

DEATH OF THE "OLDEST INHABITANT." -The oldest inhabitant of this part of the country, and probably the oldest person in Pennsylvania, died on Sunday morning, the 24th of December, at Morgantown, Berks county. Her name was Martha Barefoot, or rather Patty Barefoot, as she was familiarly known for the last three-quarters of a dentury. She was born in Amity township, Berks county, on the 15th of February, 1759, and at the time of her decease was one hundred and six years, ten months and nine days old. The names of her parents were Samuel and Jean Barefoot, two of the early settlers and Jean Barctoot, two of the early settlers of Amity township. In the church register of the Morlattin Episcopal Church at Douglasville, we find a record of Patty's baptism, by Rev. Alexander Murray, an English Missionary, and at the time pastor of the congregation there. The baptism took place on the 18th of September 1979 -on the 13th of September, 1778, when she was in her 20th year.—Pottstown Ledger. WESTERN STEAMBOAT DISASTERS.

VERY HEAVY LOSS.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, of Saturday.] The large and splendid side-wheel passenger steamer, Eleanora Carrel, Captain B.A. Oglesby, while loading at the Louisville wharf for New Orleans, accidentally caught fire in the after part of the texas yesterday, at 8.30 A. M., and was burned to the main deck when the bull was scuttled study and deck, when the hull was scuttled, sunk, and broke in two, proving an almost total loss.

The following despatch gives the details of he disaster: Louisville, January 5.—The steamer LOUISVILLE, January 5.—The steamer Eleanora Carrel caught fire at eight o'clock A. M. to-day in the after part of the texas. By the time the steam fire engines arrived the upper works were completely enveloped in flames. A carboy of carbonic acid on the upper guards exploded, causing considerable commotion, many thinking there was powder on board. By the falling of the dericks and spars two firemen were seriously injured. The boatwas finally soutfled, sinking to the lower deck at the city where sinking to the lower deck at the city wharf and is yet burning, at 5 P. New Orleans on Sunday. The Eleanora Carrel was built here eleven months since, and owned by the Marine Railway and Dry Dock Company of this city. She cost $125,000, and was valued at $120,000, when she burned yesterday. She had on board over three hundred tons of nerchandise, and was to have left Louis ville for New Orleans this evening. She had a large amount of shelled corn on board, and engagements for three hundred mules, which, fortunately, were not on the boat when she burned. The Kentucky river packet Wren reshipped 50,000 pounds of preserves, a large lot of garden seed and brooms, from the Shaker settlement on Kentucky river on the Eleanora Carrel. She was insured for eighty thousand dollars in Cincinnati. The cargo of the Carrel was insured for $90,000 in Louisville, for New Albany, and eastern agencies, making a loss on the boat and cargo of one hundred and seventy thousand dollars.

Messrs. S. Levy & Bro., of Cincinnati, received a dispatch from A. H. Merritt & Co. yesterday, dated Memphis, January 5, announcing the sinking of the steamer Goldena on Sunday. The despatch says that she is in a bad condition, The Goldena was bound from Memphis for Arkansas river, with a fair trip of miscellaneous and valuable cargo, and doubtless sunk in the Arkansas river. She was formerly the stern-wheel gunboat Juliet, and was pur-chased by Capt. Sol.Franklin, of Arkansas, add re-fitted and re-converted into a merchant steamer here. Captain Alex. Frazer, of Cincinnati, was in command. The Goldena was valued at $20,000, and insured in Cincinnati for $15,000.

SAVED HER FROM CHOKING. -Says the Dubuque Times—Not long since Conductor Cawley had the blessed privilege of carry ing out a loving couple, who assumed the position of "Lord Ullin's Daughter" and her betrothed, so affectingly described in the Teachers' Institutelast week:

"One lovely hand was stretched for aid,
And one was round her lover"
Only in his case, instead of one hand being "stretched for aid," it was where the other was encircling his inamorata. They had evidently been up, or at least awake, very late the evening before, for the train had not reached Farley, till the female member of the firm was sound asleep—nothing to be wondered at, for the position she had assumed was in every way favorable to calm and sweet repose. The by-sitters were simply amused; but Conductor Cawley, more experienced foresaw serious, if not fatal, results. Approaching the sleeping maiden, he took one wrist in his hand, and looking the steep weeth with a professional circulture. at his watch with a professional air, after a few moments addressed the young man-

"My dear sir, do you not see you are kill-ing your lady?"
"What?" exclaimed the youth, in openmouthed astonishment.
"Don't you see you are killing that young lady? Her pulse is only eighteen to the minute now, and unless you let go your hold around her neck, you will have her choked to death in ten minutes!"

He let go. There was some laughter among observers, but Cawley passed demurely on.

GUERILLA OUTRAGE. -Two men by the name of Shackletts, with another by the name of Steth, rode into the town of Brandenburg on Tuesday last and threatened to take the town. They commenced firing on the citizens, who returned the fire with a good degree of success, as both of the Shackletts were wounded, one of them receiving three were wounded, one of them receiving three shots, but for some reason they were allowed to get off. Steth was captured and thrown into jail. We had hoped that the last guerilla outrage in Kentucky had been chronicled; but we rejoice that this one met with so effectual a check.—Louis-

THE FENIAN FIGHT.

Fiftth Day's Proceedings of the Fenian Convention --- O'Mahony Indorsed ---Establishment of a "Bureau of Military Justice."

[From to-day's N. Y. World.] The fifth session of the Fenian Congress was held on Saturday morning, at Clinton Hall. At 9 o'clock, the Speaker, Mr. Corbett, took the chair, and the House was called to order. Colonel O'Mahony, B. Doran, Senator Meaney, and others, occupied

The proceedings were opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Curley, after which A resolution was adopted calling for all the books, accounts and reports of the or ganization, in order to enable the House to investigate the present condition of the organization, and try the charges preferred against the Senate, and also the articles of impeachment against Col. O'Mahony.

Colonel O'Mahony then presented a list of charges against the Senate, the substance of which was previously published in The which was previously published in The World. The colonel accuses the Senate with having hindered the sale of the bonds of the Irish Republic, by publishing charges against himself and other officers, which gave "aid and comfort to the enemy." The articles impeaching Colonel O'Mahony, on the ground that he violated some of the leading articles of the Constitution, were also read

A delegate moved that on Tuesday the House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole, to investigate the charges against e Senate, and also those against Colonel O'Mahony.

A recess till 3 P. M. was ordered. After the recess a committee, consisting of one delegate from each State, was appointed to wait on on Col. Roberts and P. O'Rourke to obtain from them all the books, papers money, etc., in their possession belonging to the order, but the committee were unable to perfect their labor, and on their return eported progress. uy they presented the following reply of President Roberts:

HEADQUARTERS, F. B., 734 BROADWAY,
N. Y., Jan. 6, 1866.—To the Members of the N. Y., Jan. 6, 1866.—To the Members of the F. B.—Gentlemen: As I previously stated in a communication, all the books under my control as President of the Fenian Brotherhood are open to your inspection; and by pledging your faith as Fenians that they will be returned to these headquarters they will be recorrelletime you can have them within a reasonable time you can have them. Mr. O'Rourke, the Treasurer, has told me that he is ready to submit his stewardship to the inspection of any body of Fenians who desire to investigate it. Yours, fraternally,

W. R. ROBERTS, President F. B.

A committee was then appointed to examine the books and other decreases.

amine the books and other documents of the Civil Department, of which Col. Downing is the Acting Secretary. The committee at once proceeded to the headquarters at Union square, where everything connected with the Department was laid before them. The committee continued their labors to a late bone, and it is understood they will be the continued the co hour, and it is understood? they will be prepared to report to the House on Monday. Our reporter ascertained that a court-martial had been organized by order of the Congress for the purpose of trying charges against certain parties who were sent to Ireland by Col. O'Mahony, in order to aid a revolution there. The names of the skedaddless trans I. daddlers from Ireland, whose cowardice, as alleged, led them to leave that country alleged, led them to leave that country lest they might share the same fate as Luby, would, if published, astonish many of our citizens. They are necessarily omitted. Should they be found guilty of "cowardice in the face of the enemy," it is not yet known what punishment they will receive. It is said that these Fenian deserters re-

It is said that these Feman deserters received large sums from the Treasury.

On Saturday evening a public meeting of the Brotherhood was held in Clinton Hall, Judge McCormick, of Ohio, presiding.

Mr. James Brennan was the first speaker.

He thanked God that the action of the Congress now in session in the hall in which he now stood, had placed the organization in a safe position. He then referred to the men safe position. He then referred to the men out West who had encouraged Mr. Roberts in his course, and stated that now, when they found the current running against him, they would forsake him and leave him to do battle himself. He believed, however, that Mr. Roberts was a high-minded man, but he was mistaken in his course. Mr. John M. Moriarty, of Philadelphia, was next introduced by complimentary remarks from the Chairman. Mr. Moriarty said he did not like speech-making just now. There was more reprising the work. now. There was more music in the crack of one rifle than there was in a dozen speeches. There were men now in the Congress who were determined to win the freedom of Ireland. He said he indorsed Colonel O'Mahony from the bottom of his heart. He charged the Senate with doing what was wrong, and considered the Canada what was wrong, and considered the Canada scheme an outrage; they had no right to attack a friendly people, who did not invite them. With O'Mahony and Mitchell— [cheers]—we will march against the enemy with the sunburst dazzling their eyes. The charges against John O'Mahony have been proved to be false. [Applause.]

Brief addresses were then made by Messrs. Meaney, J. E. Fitzgerald, Dr. Cowley and others, after which the meeting adjourned. Statement of General Sweeney—His Visit to the Convention, and What he Did There.

Gentlemen and Brothers: The very incorrect reports of the fourth day's proceedings of the Fenian Convention, now assembled in this city, which have appeared in the daily papers, compel me, in justice to myself, to lay before you a full and plain statement of the facts as they occurred. A delegation of the Fenian Brotherhood, sent from the Convention for the theory wited. delegation of the reman Brotherhood, sent from the Convention for that purpose, waited on me at my office, and invited me to appear before the "Congress," then sitting at Clinton Hall, which invitation I respectfully de-clined, stating my reasons to be, first, that I believed I should only expose myself to insult and misrepresentation; and, secondly, that I did not recognize the legality of that body. They called on me a second time, and earnestly desired my attendance, assuring me that neither insult nor misrepresentation should occur, and urging that my pretation should occur, and urging that my presence might do much to restore peace and harmony. Under these circumstances, and anxious, as I trust I ever am, to promote the welfare of the Brotherhood, I waived my objections and accompanied them. The result proved that my apprehensions were not unfounded. After their pressing invitation—though my arrival was greeted with apparent warmth, my efforts at conciliation were met, by certain parties whom I had parent warmth, my efforts at conciliation were met by certain parties whom I had previously named to the delegation, with insult and outrage. I was denounced as not being a Fenian, and my right to be on the ficor denied, although the Convention had sent for me themselves. I was subjected to a series of puerile and impertinent interruptions and cross questionings, having no other tendency than to widen the breach already existing. My statement that I had nevertaken the pledge was qualified by the explanation that the Circle in Nashville, Tenn., of which I have the honor to be a member, and into which I was unanimously member, and into which I was unanimously elected, decided as a compliment to me that no pledge should be required, although I signified my willingness then to though I signified my witingness then to take it. This explanation, which should have appeared in the newspaper reports, was not regarded by these men, nor, when askedif I was willing to take the pledge before the Convention, was my prompt offer to do so accepted, showing an evident intention to place me in a false position. I certainly was not aware until then that the slightest doubt of my loyalty to the cause existed, and it is rather too late to predicate such an idea on a fact well known to the congress at Philadelphia, having been stated by no less a person than Mr. Mullen, the friend and adviser of Mr. O'Mahony. I can certainly afford to despise any such attempts after a lifetime of devotion to freedom to my native land. In my interview with the Conveniion I carefully avoided anything which could be construed into personalities, until badgered and outraged by questions the purport of which was only to promote dissension and and outraged by questions the purport of which was only to promote dissension and distrust. I then felt compelled to accuse one of my opponents publicly with having uttered two deliberate falsehoods, then and there declaring that I could repose no con-fidence in his veracity. In conclusion, I will remark that I believe that a large and respectable portion of the delegates present are honorable men, inspired by a desire to investigate and judge fairly and impartially. But there is an element of discord, composed of members from the Manhattan District product the lead of the Manhattan District product the lead of the Manhattan District product the lead of the le rict under the lead of unscrupulous men, who have done and will do everything they can to stifle the truth and prevent union, for the advancement of their own selish schemes, even should it be at the price of Ireland's ruin. Fraternally,

J. W. SWEENBY,
Secretary of War, Fenian Brotherhood.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Meeting at New York---Speeches by William Cullen Bryant, and Others, &c.

[From To-day's N. Y. Times, i On Saturday evening a meeting was held at the Cooper Institute, for the purpose of reaffirming the Monroe Doctrine and ex-pressing sympathy with the smaller repubics on this continent. The hall was appropriately decorated and on a strip of cloth, stretched across the front of the platform, were the words, "Heroic Santo Domingo Chili, Peru, Mexico. If they have not conquered, they will conquer." And on a craped-transparency, the words, "Henry Winter Davis. His spirit lives with us to-pight. About So'clock Mr. Squier entered the hall, accompanied by Mr. W. C. Bryant Peter Cooper, E. F. Dunbar and others, and called the meeting to order, nominating Mr. Wm. C. Bryant as Chairman. The nomination being confirmed a list of Vice Presidents was read, including the names of Wm. H. Webb, Leonard W. Jerome, Peter Cooper, Horace Greeley and Major General Rosecrans. Messrs. J. R. Wheelock, Col. A. H. Duganne and others were appointed Secretaries.

Mr. Bryant, on taking the chair, said that they had met for the purpose of assuring the Government of their support in resisting such audacious attempts as have recently been made to interfere in the politics of Mexico. Mr. Bryant also spoke of the decease of the Hon. Henry Winter Davis, who would have been with them had not death interposed. Mr. Bryant announced that it was the intention of the committee, after the reading of the resolutions and letters, to adjourn the meeting to some evening when the attendance of gentlemen now detained by business in Washington could be secured. Mr. Squier then read letters from Hon. Montgomery Blair, Senator Nesmith of Oregon, Hon. John Conness, U. S. Senator from California, Hon. Robert Dale Owen, Hon. Daniel S. Dickinson, Hon. R. T. Van Horn, of Missouri, Hon. J. Baker, of Illinois, Hon. Charles Sitgreaves, of New Jersey, Major-Gen. J. A. Garneld, M. C. from Ohio, Hon. B. F. Wade, Major-Gen. Sickles, Hon. John A. Kasson, of Iowa, Hon Schuyler Colfey, Speaker of the Masson. Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives: Hon. Hamilton Ward, of New York, Hon. R. W. Clarke, Hon. Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, Hon Samuel J. Randall, Hon. James H. Lane and Maj.-Gen. Mussey, all expressing approval of the objects of the meeting, and regretting the inability of the writers to be present on the occasion. Resolutions were read by Mr. Squier to the effect that whereas it had been declared that any attempts of European Powers to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere would be considered dangerous to our peace and safety; and whereas any attempts to oppress the Republics of America would be viewed as the manifestations of an unfriendly disposition towards the United States; and whereas France has interfered to oppress our sister Republic of Mexico, and Spain to extend her system over Hayti, Chili and Peru: that the United States is bound to establish, if necessary by force of arms, the great principle of the Monroe Doctrine—that America belongs to Americans; and that by the constant endorsement of this doctrine, we have assumed a responsibility towards our sister republics, and an obligation to defend and protect them.

The resolutions being adopted, Mr. Theo dore E. Tomlinson, after alluding to the death of Mr. Davis, said it was necessary for the people to speak out on all great questions, for it was on all such questions that great men were always timid. Cabinet ministers and high officials wait for the popular voice. Of international law the speaker said that therewas really no international law, for there was no arbiter except the conscience of the people Our Secretary of State had gone, it is said, on a voyage to the South, and probably would visit Maximilian, and say to him the thousand things that might look awkward on the sand things t paper. It was time to prevent any more monarchies from being planted on our shores. To England he would say: Beware! beware! If she encourages France to estaba monarchy in Mexico, she would find ere long the green flag of Ireland waving on the Irish shore.

Mr. Squier then read a resolution indors. ing the action of the Republic of Chili, and complimenting her on the brilliant success which has crowned her first contest with which has crowned her first contest with the Spanish forces.

Senor Vicuna Mackenna, of Chiii, was then introduced, and after thanking them for the adoption of the resolution relative to his native land, said that for fifty years Chili has striven to establish republicanism against the schemes of the European monarchs. Americans had been educated in liberty by their fathers and teachers, but in Chili their teachers had been their haughty conquerors, who taught them to cut each others throats and to glorify the words of Cortes and Pizarro. The speaker concluded by saying, we have a Monroe Doctrine of our own South America—a Monroe Doctrine supported not America—a Monroe Doctrine supported not by orators in public halls nor by articles in newspapers, but enforced at the point of the sword. [Applause.] It baffled the schemes of Walker, the fillibuster, and on more than one occasion has baffled the European monarchs in their aggressive designs. We understand the Menroe Doctrine to mean not invasion, but protection—to mean simply this: that the Kings and Emperors of Europe will not be permitted to interfere with republican institutions on this continent."

Senor Mackenna concluded his address amid a perfect storm of applause.

Mr. Squier then read a resolution endorsing the policy of President Johnson, which was unanimously adopted. Mr. S. S. Cox was the next speaker. He referred to the death of Mr. Winter Davis, with whom he served in the last Congress, and said he hoped a convocation of Republics will be held at Panama, including the Republic of Cuba, and that there the great nations of Europe may receive a lesson. Had we taken decided steps at once Maximilian would never have come to Mexico, but now our own troubles being ended, we should have time to look at this question and to settle it decisively. The meeting then adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair.

ROBERT HELLER'S LAST WEEK.—This is said to be the last week of Mr. Robert Heller, the magician and munician, and he has determined in it to produce his most extraordinary feats of prestidigitation and adaliery, music and melody, comedy and caricature. This evening he gives us an entirely new programme, preserving only "The Wood Minstreis" from the introductions of last week. We are to have one of his best tricks. "The Goblin Drum," and his wonderful comic sketch on the plano, called an "Inebriate Reminiscence of Fanst." However, the best part of the performance will undoubtedly be his expose of the celebrated cabinet of phantoms, some eighteen months since brought forward by the Davenport brothers. This ought aloue to be worth the price of admission, and with the other attractions will make a programme rich in variety as it is in its sterling merits. Let him have fine audiences in spite of the temperature. A glass from the "Devil's Punch-Bowl" will warm the body outside and fuside, even were the thermometer standing, as we have little doubt it does now, Several degrees below zero.

HANGED.-On Friday morning of last week, John Hendley was hung at Law-rence for the murder of John Sutton in June last, in Franklin county, Kansas, Hendley is said to be the first man ever hung in Douglas county by legal process. He was about thirty years of age, tall, athletic, physically not bad looking. He met death with that indifference which shows that he was a man of nerve, and when once resolved would carry his reso-lution into effect. He is said to have left a

INTERNAL REVENUE FRAUDS.

Counterfeit United States Internal Revenue Cigar Stamps---Parties Charged with the Forgery and Their Arrests---A Large Amount Involved.

[From to-day's N. Y. Tribune.]
An extensive and novel fraud has been brought to light through the instrumentality of Revenue Inspectors Isaac Harvey and D. Lichtenhein, with the assistance of Detectives Slowey and Wilson, Captain Steers, Sergeant Whitmore and Detective McLoud, of the Thirteenth Police Presinct Is of the Thirteenth Police Presinct. It having been ascertained that quite a number of Internal Revenue cigar stamps were sold. Chief Detective Young was consulted, who detailed Officers Slowey and Wilson to work the matter up. which led to the arrest of Frankel and Hecht, the former being the principal dealer in the counterfeit stamps down town, while the latter disposed of them up town. These parties soon disclosed that Jacob Fuchs knew where the stamps were printed. On the evening of the 2d of January, Detective Slowey and Wilson arrested Jacob Fuchs, and brought him before United States Commissioner Osborn, charged with counterfeiting United States Internal Revenue cigar stamps. His statement was that he had nothing to do with the manufacturing of the stamps, but would give information as to the parties. Thus the key to the plot was obtained. He gave to Detective McLoud the name of Charles Witchelling, a printer, doing business in an establishment in City Hall place.

lishment in City Hall place. A warrant was issued and Witchelling was taken into custody. When informed of the charge against him he was much frighted and street that he had yet and the charge against him he was much frighted and stated that he had not printed any, but would point out the guilty party. He in company with Capt. Steers, Revenue Inspector Harvey and Detective McLoud proceeded to the printing establishment of Randell and Blomeke, No. 166 William street.

Witchelling pointed out to the officers in the upper part of the building, Blomeke, the printer of the forged stamps, who seemed to be greatly slarmed, but stated that he had only printed 500 impressions, the plate being capable of printing five copies at each impression. In addition he stated that the plate had been destroyed, by melting it in the fire under the engine boiler, pointing out the press on which the work had been out the press on which the work had been one at night after regular hours, and that his partner, Randall, was entirely innocent of any participation of the affair. The officers arrested Blomeke, who, together with Witchelling was committed by U. S. Commissioner Osborne to the County Jail. Officer McLoud recovered the plate in a \mathbf{mutil}

The engraving has been done in an excellent manner, making detection difficult, the defects in some of the stamps appearing in the printing only. It is believed that large quantities of the counterfeit stamps were printed and the Revenue of the Go-were printed and the Revenue of the Government defrauded of $100,000.

This is the first discovery of forged Internal Revenue Stamps. The Revenue Inspectors, together with the Detectives named, deserve great credit in ferreting out and exposing the fraud. They have labored diligently and will probably receive a prodiligently and will probably receive a proper recognition from the Department at Washington.
