

Certain stanzas in Swinburne's "Atalanta Calydon" have been widely quoted. They begin thus:

W Between the sonset and the sea My love laid handsand allos on me; Of sweet came sour; of day came night, Of long desire came brief delight, Ah, love; and what thing came of thee, Between the sea-downs and the sea ?"

A writer in the London Orchestra thinks that this poem is "euphonious bosh," and following as quite as rythmical writes the ionowing as quite as r and much more sensible: "Between the tea-bell and the tea My brand was drawn and passed to me; dy fooup came fish, of fish came meats, of roasted joints came puffy sweets, Ah, nuts, and what thing came of ye, Between the tea cups and the tea?

"Between the tea-tray and the tea Hock grew to gripes, gripes grew to me; Wine turned to drunk and drunk to tears, And general joy to maudlin fears; Drunk tears, drunk wines, there seemed to be Between the tea-pot and the tea.

"Between the tedium and the tea Jones 1 quored up an hour with me; Then all among the crockery wares His feet rolled down the kitchen stairs; His feet rolled down the known end I saw 'em go; I saw a flea Between the tea-cakes and the tea."

BOSTON, Jan. 6.-Governor Bullock was inaugurated at noon to-day, and delivered his message to the Legislature. The Gov ernor commences by congratulations that ernor commences by congraturations that we assemble for organization under the auspices of a national peace, and refers to the sacrifices of the war, and its debts and burdens bequeathed us, and says: "But the whole people of the State have

"But the whole people of the State have received in return a grand and enduring remuneration. The practical solution of the question, hitherto open, but now closed, of a permanent and consolidated Republic for North America; the Government of the United States normal and and received lighted United States secured and re-established beyond a doubt, and for future ages; and the freedom of all the races of men secured by arms and organic law, needing only the sense of political integrity and justice on the part of the Government to make the guaranty universal and unalterable.

The public debt, the funded and unfunded debt of the State, amounts in the aggregate to $23,122,872. Of this amount the portion which should be charged to the war ac-count is $15,108,437. The funded debt is $19,131,435, of which should be set aside as having accrued from loans to railroad corhaving accrued from founs to rainoad cor-porations, secured by mortgages and cal-lateral securities, in addition to the sinking funds established for the redemption of the scrip, $6,574,485. Of the residue, namely, $12,557,000, all but $450,000 is amply provided for by the sinking funds, whose ac-cumulations from year to year, graduated upon the most careful computations and infailing resources, will be ample for the payment of the debts for which they are payment of the debts for which they are pledged at their maturity." After detailing the public debt and means of payment, the Governor says: "Every holder of a Massachusetts bond payment ( in England, on the continent of Europe, or wherever he may be, at home or abroad possesses a security which is as certain o payment as the existence of the State, and which is as immutable in the matter of its payment as gold and silver, which are the bases of confidence in the commerce of nations.'

The number of depositors in Savings Banks is nearly three hundred thousand, and the deposits sixty million dollars. The Governor recommends the appoint ment of a special commission to look after them. All the various local interests, including popular education, institutions of charity, reform and correction, hospitals and alms houses, receive considerable space in the
