For the Philadelphia Byening Balletin. THE HILLS OF PENSAUKIN

BY D. W. BELISLE.

Ye hills that girt Pensaukin's streams, And glow with radiance from the west, While many soft reflected beams Are penciled on its tranquil breast: How can ye glow with rays so bright, And woo the winds that o'er ye steal, When on my spirit hangs a blight That all your beauties cannot heal?

I'oft have roamed thy forest wild. And culled choice flowrets blooming there, A happy, joyous-hearted child. Whose thoughts were gay and free of care! And there were friends as blest as I.

With whom I rambled o'er the green, Who loved thy azure-tinted sky, And gazed with rapture on the scene!

But, ah, those happy hours have changed! A gloom hangs darkly o'er them now! The friends I met are cold, estranged, And sadness rests upon the brow:

Yet still, sweet streams, and wooded glade. Ye have a spell that binds my soul. When all alone beneath your shade. The waves of sorrow o'er me roll!

Farewell! Ye woods and bowers. Ye blissful shades and winding stream! No more I'll cull your fragrant flowers; Yet I will see ye in my dreams!

Ye little birds that sang so sweet-Hush now your warblings in the grove. For here no more my friends I'll meet, And your bright haunts no more I'll rove

The Rebel Emigration to Mexico. Voluminous papers relative to the rebel emigration to Mexico, and the scheme of Gwin and Maury, were presented to the Senate yesterday.

Senor Romero first calls the attention of Mr. Seward, July 9, 1864, to the address of General Magruder and Governor Vidaurri's reply, showing a perfect understanding between the traitors in Mexico and the insurgents in the United States. He intimates that the French Minister to Mexico, M. Montholon, was working to that end, and that armed emigration from the Atlantic States and from California was in immediate

Under date of February 4th, 1865, he further notifies the Secretary of his understanding that a settlement has been proposed by Napoleon, by virtue of which the Mexican States, Tamaulipas, New Leon and Coahuila, with parts of San Luis Potosi, Seacata, Cas Durango and Chihuahua, almost the whole of Senora and the Peninsula of lower California, are to be ceded to France, and that to make so considerable a cession of Mexican territory acceptable the Emperor would plant there a military colony, which would shelter the remainder of the country from filibustering attacks from the United States.

This arrangement of which he cites evidence from Mexico, California and Paris, he protests against, reminding the Secretary of a fact slightly resembling the present, when the representatives of the French Government in Mexico protested against a treaty concluded between Mexico and the United States of much less importance than the present, only because of the vague rumor, more or less founded, that it had been concluded, and before they had official notice of its execution.

Mr. Seward replies, under date of February 25, 1865, that the protest has been placed on file as testimony to the course of Mr. Romero, additional evidence of the zealous and patriotic discharge of his functions, and for such other purposes as future events may render it necessary to apply it.

On the 29th of April Mr. Romero communicated to Mr. Seward the correspondence of the French cause in Mexico.
In a communication, dated July 4th, Romero adduced further evidence of Mexican complicity with the rebels, and states that the Commandant at the post of Bagdad, a Belgian, informed General Slaughter that he had secret instructions to permit the intro-duction of all arms and munitions of war that might be desired, and that they should pass freely for the use of the Confederacy. He also asserts that there was in Monterey an agent of the Confederacy accredited to the agents of the French, called the Imperial authorities, and that General Mejia, the French agent in Mexico, had promised General Slaughter that he would do every-thing he could in his tavor. He also shows that the trade which the Confederate States were carrying on with Mexico and other countries, through the ports of Mexico, were carried on with the consent of the French agents in Mexico.

To all these statements Mr. Seward promises to give the attention to which they are entitled.

On July 8th, Mr. Romero communicated a statement and letter relating to the schemes of Mr. W. M. Gwin for organizing a colony in Mexico, under the protection of France, and showing that Gen. Bazaine, in command of the French forces, had authority to lend him all needed assistance. Gwir writes, after the surrender of Lee, "the start-ling news from the United States has made the blood of every Southern man and sympathizer run cold with horror. No one will be safe in our native country. I thank Providence that my lot has been cast elsewhere, and that very soon I will have a home for my wife and children, where they will be safe from oppression."

Among the intercepted letters is one from Massey to Hon. B. Wood, of New York, in which he says: "That Soule is in the Gwin enterprise, and that the French Emperor will give him all the aid he desires, and that he will go out as Director General in charge of a very peculiar kind of colonization." He says further, "You ought to have sent me some money. It is hard to financier on nothing indefinitely. I have concentrated my whole strength on our scheme.

Mr. Seward writes to Minister Bigelow, July 13, inclosing these intercepted letters relative to Mexican colonization, and requests him to present them to M. Drouyn de l'Huys, and frankly inform him that the sympathies of the American people are already considerably excited in favor of the Republic of Mexico, and that they are disposed to regard with impatience the continued intervention of France in that country; that any favor shown to the proceedings of Dr. Gwin by the titular Emperor of Mexico or by the Imperial Government of France, with reference to those agents, will tend gaestly to increase the popular impatience, because it will be regarded, perhaps justly, as importing dangers to, or at least as a menace against the United States. If these statements are to be believed, Mr. Seward assumes, with the sanction of the President,

Maximilian as Emperor of Mexico, has been completed on favorable terms, and that he would soon sail for Mexico. Mr. Seward, under date of April 7, 1864 informed Mr. Dayton of the condition of affairs in Mexico as fully as it was understood in Washington, by inclosing him the copy of a communication from our Consul at Matamoras.

Mr. Seward, in a letter to Mr. Bigelow, September 6, 1865, in reply to a letter from the latter, discussing at large the present aspect of the relations between the United States and France, as they are affected by the situation in Mexico, says:
"The intense popular interest which was aroused by the prevalence of a civil war of vast proportions, during a few years past, has tended in some degree to moderate the solicitude which the situation with foreign affairs was calculated to create. But this interest is now rapidly subsiding and it may be reasonably anticipated that henceforth the Congress of the United States and the people in their primary assemblies will give a very large share of attention to questions of extraneous character.

"Chief among these is likely to be that of our relations towards France with regard to Mexico. Now does it seem unwise to take Mexico. Now does it seem unwise to take into consideration the fact that the presence of the military forces of the two nations, sometimes confronting each other across the border, has a tendency which both of them may well regret, to produce irritation and anneyance.

"The French Government has not shown itself inattentive to this inconvenience hitherto, while this Government has been desirous to practise equal prudence. But a time seems to have come when both nation may well consider whether the permanent interest of international peace and friend-ship do not require the exercise of a thoughtful and serious attention to the political questions to which I have thus adverted."

Mr. Seward, in a letter to Minister Bigelow, dated December 14, 1865, says: "I have to acknowledge the receipt of your despatch of November 24. Whit it is very interesting, seems to discourage an expectation or our part of an early withdrawal of the French force from Mexico. It is to be remarked, however, that the opinion upon that subject which you have received from M. Drouyn de l'Huys, were expressed by him not only without the positive sanction of the Emperor, but also in the absence of knowledge on the part of the French Gov-ernment of the definitive conclusion of the President on the subject discussed. It is desirable to leave no part of those conclusions open to misapprehension, and it is equally desirable that we shall be authorized o infer that such expositions of the Imperial views as are given us in the name of the French Government are made with the Emperor's approval. I trust that both those ends will have been accomplished before you receive this despatch. The dispatches include letters from "the French Legation, with reference to Mexican refugees in New York and Washington preparing a movement in favor of Juarez, the first one as far back as January, 1865."

The Acting Secretary of State, W. Hunter. in a communication to the President. transmitted to the House in answer to the resolution inquiring concerning "the kid-napping the child of an American lady in the city of Mexico, by the usurper of that Republic, so-called Emperor," says that no official information has been received at the Department in regard to the kidnapping referred to, and there is no other information upon that subject which it is deemed advisable to make public at this time.

A HEAVY |ROBBERY ATTRIBUTED TO SPIRITS.—A lady named Cutler, residing at No. 283 South Fifth street, Brooklyn, E. D., for many months past has missed various articles of household furniture, carpets, pictures, &c., but never reported the facts to the police. Recently her son was arrested for larceny, found guilty before Justice Dailey, and sentenced to the Penitentiary. While there, it seems, his conscience smote between the rebel General Slaughter and the Mexican Governor Mejia, relative to the eapture of the Mexican steamer Orisiba, mother, at various times, to the amount of $1.000 which he sold. The police of the eapture of the Mexican steamer Orisiba, captured by the rebels under the plea that she was manned by citizens of the United States, as additional proof of the identity of political interest which exists between the insurgents of this country and the partisans of the French cause in Mexico. property. These parties were arrested on a charge of receiving stolen goods, and held in bonds of $1,500 each to answer. The goods they purchased were seized by the police and are now stored at the stationhouse. The most singular point of the case is the statement that while Mrs. Cutler missed her property she believed that it was carried away by spirits and not by any human agency.—N. Y. Tribune.

Purdy—died late last night at his residence in this city, at an advanced age. He was a native of Westchester, and followed the business of a grocer. During the campaign which resulted in the election of Andrew Jackson to the Presidency, Mr. Purdy first attracted attention. He was soon after first attracted attention. He was soon after elected Alderman of his Ward, and has since then filled various local offices, having been at one time Surveyor of the port of New York. During the late war Mr. Purdy was active in his efforts to fill the quota of the State. He has always been a member and champion of the Democratic party, was familiarly known as the "Old War Horse," and is closely identified with the traditions and history of Tammany Hall. In private life he was genial and unaffected. He leaves a wife and six children. -N. Y. Post.
