THE GERMANTOWN TRAGEDY.

Resumption of the Coroner's Inquest.

The Interviews Between Detective Taggart and the Prisoner Berger.

The Murderer Committed.

Coroner Taylor, yesterday afternoon, concluded his investigation in the case of Mary L. Watts, the old lady who was brutally murdered on Saturday morning last in her own house at Germantown. The investigation, as before, took place at the Germantown Station House, where the murderer, Christian Berger, was also present. The following additional testimony was elicited:

Thomas Shingle, sworn—Resides on Queen street; knew Miss Watts for several years; met Christian Berger on Saturday morning at 7½ o'clock, at the corner of Main and Queen streets; saw him standing alone on the northwest corner, he remained near Mr. Huntington's stable; witness watched the man; saw him cross the street; an expression about Berger's face attracted his attention; he watched him, and saw Berger return his glances, but latter soon turned his head away; was positive the prisoner was the man; had never seen him since; had on a slouch hat like that he wears at present.

William Yake, sworn—Reside on Queen street, below Green; knew Miss Watts for eighteen months; told him she had money; saw her last on Thursday; knew the prisoner two weeks previous to the murder; on Saturday saw him at Queen and Main streets, between 6½ and 7 o'clock in the morning; did not particularly notice him; for a week or ten days previous witness saw him standing there; had called Mr. Fank's attention to the fact; never saw him there before; saw Mrs. Lippincott leave Miss Watts before he saw prisoner standing on the corner; did not mention seeing the man until evening; told Mr. Hughes about it; had thought before something annoyed Berger; saw him standing there on Friday afternoon talking to Kephard's son; had seen him stay there until 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning; knew nothing about the circumstances.

Mr. Smith Hughes, sworn—Spent the whole of Saturday in aiding to ferret out the murderer. Shingle described the clothing of the man standing in the street while at tea. Jake brought something to the house and stated that he saw a man with dark clothes there; witness started for the Sergeant of Police. They again saw the parties and got description of the man. Witness did not know of ever having seen Berger before; had not been in Miss Watts's house for two years; had concluded the murderer must have escaped by the back way; saw the footprints in the snow, and measured them. [The measurements were here submitted to the jury; length, eleven and one third inches distrance from back of heel to front, two and three-fourths inches, two and five-eights inches across the heel. A comparison was made with Berger's boot, recovered by the officers.] Witness resumed; he found on trial, on Sunday morning, that the boot fitted so near in the track that he concluded it must be one like the boot produced to the jury; the measurements do not correspond exactly; thought the tracks were made by a person running fast; thought something like the extra sole in this boot must have made the peculiar appearance it did by throwing up the snow.

Sergeant Emanuel Dickinson, sworn—Knew the murdered lady; had frequently conversed with her in passing; his attention was called to the murder about 8 o'clock, by a boy, who said Mr. Bowman wished to see him. Witness took charge of the house until relieved by two officers. He and Mr. Hughes called on Shingle and Yake and took their statement; he proceeded to Berger's house on School lane about 9 o'clock in the evening; Berger was up stairs; called him outside and said he wanted him for an examination about the murder; asked him had he not been standing outside of Miss Watts's house; Berger said "Yes," and that he had walked down Main street; having no money to ride in the cars; Berger denied going down Queen street; searched prisoners pockets; found $19 19 and one dollar in silver halves: Berger stated the amounts he had spent making in all about $53 which he said had been paid him by a man who had owed it, though he afterwards said the amount was $50. Witness told him the amounts would not correspond, but he could not account for the difference.

Lieut. Dungan, sworn—Mr. Hughes called his attention to the murder about 8 o'clock; he despatched officers to the scene; first saw Berger with Sergt. Dickinson; Detective Taggart conversed with the prisoner; a razor was found about sixty yards from the York road above Fishers lane; Berger confessed that he threw it there. [Razor produced. It was clotted with blood, but the handle was clean.]

Mr. John Berger, father of the prisoner was called. The witness was very much affected, and it was with difficulty that he could give in his testimony. He testified that he resided in Thompson street, near Geisler, in Richmond; the prisoner was his son; saw him on Tuesday week at witness' home; his son was there not quite an hour, when he went out with his mother; witness shaved at home; had two razors [razor and case shown]. The case contains many initials, the other razor at home did not resemble this one; his son had received money whenever he wished it; he never asked witness for a razor; he could not identify the the bloody razor as his for certain; the handle looked like it; left the razors on the table or mantlepiece; anybody might have taken them; his son was twenty years of age; [this is evidently a mistake, the witness being much confused at the time; the age of the prisoner is set down at 23 years;] had given his son money; had not lately offered him work; witness once told him he had done enough for him, his son used to work in a dye-house; witness was engaged at the Richmond coal wharves; had not lately offered his son work there; he had said he had money owing him down town.

Mr. Joshua Taggert, being sworn, deposed—He was a detective officer, and on Saturday night had first heard of a murder from the Chief of Police; on Sunday morning saw the officers at the house; came out and saw Berger up stairs in the hall; on Sunday had several interviews with him and was satisfied he was not telling the truth; had told him he believed he had probably committed a robbery, and asked him to confess it and save his time; Berger said he had stolen money, and related circumstances which proved not to be true, and stated how he spent it; Berger still stuck in the evening to the tale of the robbery committed a year and a half before, and said he had sewed the money up in his coat, and had never since opened it; sent for a tailor and found his tale was not true; afterwards in the cell, alone with Berger, the witness went over the whole case, and declared to the prisoner that he thought the murder was committed by him. Berger had made a confession of the interview with Miss Watt; he said he remembered going in; remembered pushing her down; admitted that he struck her; but would not admit that he cut her throat; the witness got him to repeat portions of that on Monday night, before others; on Tuesday he had made a confession, it might be in that very room, before half a dozen of persons, that he had actually committed the deed, saying he supposed he had knocked her down; remembered doing that—and after that said he locked the door, but would not admit that he cut her throat; he said that he was up stairs when the boy came to the front door; opened it a little, and then locked it again; went out the back door; went down Fisher's Lane; looked at the razor; found it bloody, and threw it away. He stated afterwards he got the razor from his father on the day when his father was killing hogs, which turned out to be true; he had found it lying on the mantle-piece, and had put it into his pocket and carried it away. The witness did not press him about his motives for committing the deed. Berger said he had only got on the front steps, when Miss Watts opened the door the instant he stepped on the porch, so that there way no delay on the steps. As soon as he got in he supposed he struck her, about 7 o'clock; he said he supposed he had cut her throat, but did not remember what he had done; he said he had not known her. The witness had a conversation with him about the money and he said he did not remember taking it; he said he supposed it was up stairs contained in the bureau; that the first knowledge he had about taking the money was when he took the razor from his pocket and found the money there. The prisoner first broke down in his denials about the boot, at the appearance of blood on the soles; he said he had not been in a slaughter-house, but had been in a butcher-shop, and might have got it on from off the floor there; he said he had kicked a piece of meat with his foot, and afterwards explained the extra bloodiness by saying it might have been the liver. He also said that six or seven days previous there was some horse-meat lying in the street, and he had kicked a piece of it around the road. The apparent blood-marks left on the boot were very faint; the Doctor said it resembled blood, but the particles were so small that it could not be reduced to certainty; he did not recollect about cutting her throat, but said he remembers knocking her down; pushing her down; he said, "I must have knocked her down, but do not remember cutting her throat;" he said that nobody was with him; that he was entirely alone; the witness had made no threats to him in getting the information, and had held out no inducements to him; only on the first interview was he alone with the prisoner; all the other interviews were in the presence of other parties.

Elizabeth Lippincott testified that Miss Watts last summer, had said she had one hundred dollars in the house, to use in repairing the dwelling, but did not show it to her; the door of that room had always been locked; had never seen the money, except what went into the bank; had said she would have the house done in the spring; Miss Watts had always said she had no money, and had borrowed from the witness; had never opened the door of that room in the day or night time; Miss Watts had had a dog, and had given it away, had seen Berger in his town house on Friday night; was there only three minutes, and had said nothing to him; on Saturday came out to go to work and saw a man standing outside, but took no notice of him.

After a short deliberation, the jury rendered a verdict "that the said Mary Watts came to her death from injuries inflicted at the hands of Christian Berger, on the morning of January 6, 1866, at her house, Queen street, west of Main."

CITY COUNCILS.

The regular meeting was held yesterday afternoon.

SELECT BRANCH.

Mr. King introduced resolutions with reference to the death of Patrick O'Rourke, member from the Twenty-fifth Ward, which were adopted.

A message was received from Mayor McMichael, enclosing a communication from R. C. McMurtrie and David W. Seliers, attorneys for Messrs. Clark, McGraw & Kennedy, contractors for the masonry at the Chestnut street bridge. It is complained that pay is withheld for the work done by the firm, when in fact the delay in the completion of the bridge is due to other parties, and not to those who furnished the masonry. The communication suggests that the city provide for the payment of the bill or allow interest on the amount. Referred to the Committee on Law.

Mr. Gray introduced, from the Committee on Water, an ordinance providing that in all cases where fire plugs are placed over vaults or excavations, the owner of the premises shall provide supports for the same, and protect it by boxing, and in case of injury to the plugs, the owners shall be at the expence of repairs. Adopted.

Mr. Gray presented a report from the Chief Engineer of the Water Works, with reference to the work upon the extension of the Water Works. Mr. Birkinbine states that at the outset, in company with the City Treasurer, he called upon Mayor Henry, who was of opinion that the loan was to be sold at whatever price it would bring in the market. The work was then commenced, and the Mayor met all the requisitions the Department made for the sale of the loan to meet the expense and labor and materials up to Nov. 20, 1865, which last requisition he refused, upon the ground that the City Solicitor had given his opinion that the loan could not be legally sold at less than par. Mayor McMichael takes the same view. All money in the treasury, the proceeds of the sale of this loan, is now expended, and some bills for labor and materials due Jan 1st are still unpaid. The Chief Engineer refers to the fact, that trenches have been dug, and if there should be no further action, the work will not only cease, but there will be great obstacle to travel.

Mr. Gray reported from the Committee on Water a resolution, that the City Treasurer be instructed to pay out of any moneys in the Treasury all warrants drawn by the Chief Engineer of the Water Department against the water loan for labor and material, unless otherwise noted on the face of the warrant. The amount so paid to be hereafter reimbursed from the sale of the said loan. Postponed.

Mr. Barlow, Chairman of the Committee on Street Cleansing, reported an ordinance reorganizing the Department of Street Cleansing. The bill provides, as in the other bills, for a Commissioner, who is to be under the supervision of the Committee on Street Cleansing. The Commissioner is authorized to direct the movement of the men employed, but there is no provision for the Supervisors or Policemen. A long debate ensued, and the bill was passed.

Mr. Freeman offered the following: Resolved, that the Committee on Law be directed to examine and report "if Mr. John Given has been acting as City Commissioner since January 1, 1866, and if so, what security for the faithful performance of the duties of the office is held by the city." Agreed to. Adjourned.

COMMON BRANCH.

Mr. Hancock offered a resolution instructing the City Solicitor to commence proceedings against the Germantown and Norristown railroad for their neglect in not placing flagmen along the route of their road, in accordance with an ordinance of Councils. Agreed to.

Mr. Marcer, Chairman of the Committee on Finance, reported an ordinance appropriating $17,350 to the Trustees of the City Ice Boat, for 1866, which was adopted. Also, an ordinance appropriating $455,850 to the Guardians of the Poor, for 1866. The bill was passed as follows: Hospital Department, $35,650; Insane Department, $8,700; Children's Asylum, $2,450: House generally, $237,550. Manufacturing Department, $37,600; Farm and Blockley Estate, $20,850; Out-door Expenses, $33,090; Reconstruction of Sewerage, &c., $10,000. For the Relief of Out-door Poor: First Poor District, $7,000; Second, $7,000; Third, $8,500; Fourth, $7,500; Fifth, $5,300; Sixth, $6,000; Seventh, $7,000; Eighth, $4,500; Ninth, $3,000; Tenth, $2,000; Eleventh, $2,400.

The amendments reduced the appropriation to $447,350.

Mr. Simpson moved that a committee of five from each chamber be appointed to examine into the affairs of various heads of Departments of the city, and report what alterations, if any, may be necessary for the more economical and better administration of the various departments of the city; and also to report what legislative enactment is necessary for the better regulation of the city government. Agreed to.

Mr. Hetzell offered a resolution instructing the Committee on Law of this Chamber to take into consideration the question whether James M. Gibson, member of Common Council from the Second Ward, holds his seat by authority of law. Adopted.

Mr. Hancock offered a resolution that the Commissioner of City Property be instructed to rent out the Refreshment Saloon at Fairmount Park to John Gravestein, at a rent of of $1,000 per annum.

Mr. Evans moved to strike out the name and sum, and insert that "it be let to the highest bidder" at public outcry, after advertisement in two papers.

The amendment was agreed to, and the resolution as amended was adopted.

Mr. Willis submitted a resolution instructing the Commissioner of City Property to inquire by what authority the proprietors of ice-houses on the west side of the Schuylkill extend the cutting of the ice to the east shore, and thus prevent persons from passing down the river on the ice. Agreed to.

The resolution from Select Councils in reference to the death of Mr. Patrick O'Rourke, a member of Select Council, were agreed to. Adjourned.

Thanks—a thousand thanks, in the name of our soldiers' widows and orphans, for your kind and liberal contributions. Oh, how many homes have been warmed; how many hearts made glad; how many fed; how many clothed! Still keep the streams of benevolence flowing, and we shall turn them into those homes to gladden and bless those whose husbands and fathers fought and died for us.

Send contributions to Wm. McElwee, "City Pastor," 1341 Lombard street, Philadelphia.

Yours thankfully,
January 9, 1866. CITY PASTOR.

From Fortress Monroe.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 10.—In consequence of the Chesapeake Bay being closed with ice towards Baltimore, mail communication was suspended yesterday. This morning the steamer Thomas Kelso, of the old line, reached here at noon, having left Baltimore at six o'clock last evening. The weather last night slightly moderated, and to-day has not been so cold as the preceding two days. The Elizabeth river at Norfolk is frozen over, and the navigation is suspended.

The steamer Cassandra sailed this afternoon for New York.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 11.—The steamer General Barnes, from New York, bound to Alexandria, having been unable to get up the Potomac, owing to the ice, arrived here this morning.

The steamer Leo, from Savannah, for New York, put in here short of coal. She encountered heavy weather.

The ice in the Elizabeth river is fast breaking up. The James river is still closed with ice above City Point.

The steamers Niagara and Saratoga are ice-bound at Richmond. The double-ender Ascutney has arrived here.

Wreck and Loss of Life.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 11.—The tug St. C. Hall from Philadelphia for Galveston, put in here short of coal, reports that the schooner Retribution was in Hatteras Inlet, with four of her crew hanging on the rigging frozen to death. Two pilots are supposed to have been washed off and drowned. The Retribution was the old tug Uncle Ben, transformed, early in the war, into a privateer, at this port, by the rebel authorities, It is not known where she is now from or whither bound.

Two negroes, supposed to belong to the 37th Colored Regiment, stationed at Fort Fisher, entered the house of Samuel N. Conner, at Middle Sound, at 8 o'clock last night, where were Thomas Picket, Cannon, Miss Picket, Mrs. Carter, and Mrs. Picket. The negroes fired, killing Picket, two shots taking fatal effect. Miss Picket was dangerously wounded in the head, and Mrs. Carter was mortally wounded in the throat. Cannon escaped to the neighbors, and called for assistance. On his return the negroes had escaped. Efforts are being made to arrest them.

XXXIXth CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.—Mr. Wilson (Mass.) offered a joint resolution respecting the three months' extra pay of officers of volunteers when mustered out of service. It provides that section 4 of the act of March 3, 1865, making appropriations for the support of the army for the current year, shall be amended to make provision for three months' pay proper to all officers of volunteers below the rank of brigadier general who have been commissioned since March 3, 1865, who have remained or shall remain in service until mustered out by reason of their services being no longer required. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Nesmith (Oregon) offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the President to communicate information in regard to negotiations with the Republican Government of Mexico in 1861, for the purpose of marching United States troops from Guayamas to Arizona, through Mexican territory.

Mr. Trumbull (Ill.) from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported the bill to enlarge the powers of the Freedmen's Bureau; also, the bill to protect the inhabitants of the United States in their civil rights, and gave notice that he would call them up as soon as printed.

Mr. Wilson (Mass.) offered a resolution, calling for information in regard to the printing of advertisements in the Washington papers; how much is paid for the same, by what law authorized, &c. Adopted.

Mr. Anthony (R. I.), from the Printing Committee, offered a resolution for the printing of 10,000 copies of the diplomatic correspondence. Adopted.

Mr. Sumner (Mass.) called up the resolution in regard to the Industrial Exposition at Paris, which was passed.

The President pro tem. stated that the morning hour having expired, the business before the Senate was the resolution offered by Mr. Howe yesterday, for the appointment of Provisional Governors in the Southern States.

Mr. Johnson (Md.) said he had no reluctance in addressing the Senate on this subject, because of his connection with the Special Committee of fifteen, and because the opinions he was about to state were the opinions he had entertained from the beginning on the subject in question. He understood Mr. Howe to contend that the effect of the hostilities we have been carrying on to suppress an insurrection in certain States and which prevailed some four years, is to extinguish altogether these States, as such, and to reduce the territory of which those States were composed at the time the insurrection broke out to the condition of Territories, and subject the people of these States to be governed under that clause of the Constitution which gives to Congress the power to govern the Territories, or, on the ground that they have been conquered by the United States, that the power to govern them is a right we have derived from the right of conquest, when the conquest is complete.

Mr. Johnson discussed the matter at great length—after which the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—The time of the House was occupied in the discussion of the bill in reference to manhood suffrage in the District of Columbia.
