At Jackson, Miss., the freedmen generally are making contracts. At Yazoo City since June 1st. 1865, 25,000 bales of cotton have been received.

A body of negroes on the Red River rose in arms about ten days since and tried to murder their overseers, but failing in this, marched to another place and awaited reinforcements, but the militia nabbed them all without serious difficulty, and arrested their accomplices on plantations where arms and ammunition were found secreted in quantities. Before this affair the freedmen had refused to work in that section. The military and militia in Caddo Parish are under arms. Captain Taylor of the Parish militia arrested by the Federal military power was to betried by a military commission, but escaped from jail. The action of the military in rescuing by force of arms from custody the sheriff at Jefferson, Texas, has been sustained by the Federal authorities, and the principal agent ordered

PETROLEUM IN EUROPE.—It is stated that etroleum has been discovered in Hanover and capital is being privately subscribed in England to raise the oil from the wells which are reported to be numerous. The constantly increasing importance of the trade in mineral oils at Marseilles, too, attracts attention to the oil deposits of Europe. It is now considered certain that in a period more or less short, the old continent will not be tributary to America for mileral oils for lighting. Every day new natural reservoirs of petroleum are discovered; and at the same time geologists are beginning to understand oil fields better and the manner in which they are distri buted over the globe. Among the localities which already export petroleum, is Moldo-Wallachia. Havre is the principal French market for petroleum. The Marseilles Semaphore, however, is of opinion that Marseilles is destined to become a large market when the European reservoirs shall be worked on a large scale, and when it can receive the mineral oils oils of Asia by the Isthmus of Suez. There is an intimate connection between the reservoirs of petro eum in Gallacia and Moldo-Wallachia These two oil regions, in fact, only form one, which corresponds to the general line of the Carpathian mountains.—London Ar-

COURTS NISI PRIUS.-Justice Read.-The Pennsylvania Railroad Company et al. vs. The Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company et al.

The argument in this case, as before stated, was opened yesterday by Mr. Cuyler, who after reciting the various acts of Assembly, incorporating the companies defendant, and he contended that in every case the roads were local and design local traffic. Their routes were designated with precision, but the companies had varied from the route, and now cap the climax by proposing to unite, in order to form a grand through route from the far West to New York, leaving Phila-delphia entirely out of the scheme. In regard to the claim of the respondents to connect and thus form a through route, Mr. Cuyler contended that the roads were not so located as to enable them to form the connection recognized by the acts of Assembly. As they cannot thus connect, they must, as indeed they aver they design, build a new road, which has no authority

Mr. Cuyler occupied the attention of the court until the hour of adjournment yesterday.
This morning Mr.Geo. W. Biddle followed
He discussed on behalf of the respondents. He discussed at great length the effect of the agreement of 10th January, 1860, by which the Reading Railroad Company secured an interest in the new enterprise, and by the terms of the contract provided for the city of Philadelphia, and secured the city against discriminations in favor of New York.

Mr. Biddle read in this connection the affidavit of Thomas W. Cunard, Engineer in Chief of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company. It states that "the route to the city of New York via the two rail-roads above named (Western Central railroad and the Lewisburg, Centre and Spruce Creek railroad) will be one hundred miles shorter than the present route to New York used by the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company via Salamanca over the New York and Erie railroad. Upon the two routes proposed by the Atlantic and Great Western Railway Company, one to the city of New York, and the other to the city of Philadelphia, under the contract with the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company and the East Pennsylvania Railroad Company—the station of Port Clinton is a common point to which all freight destined either for New York or Philadelphia is taken; from Port Clinton to New York the distance over the routes we have adopted is one hundred and thirty-seven miles, from Port Clinton to Philadelphia the distance is 78 miles-the difference in distance in favor of Philadelphia is 59 miles

Mr. Biddle contended that self interest alone would induce these parties to use the route to Philadelphia as the shortest route according to the affidavit of the engineer. The difference in favor of Philadelphia is equal to 60 per cent., and that difference is equal to the whole freight across the Atlan-Passing from this Mr. Biddle discussed the legal points involved in the question.

The case is still under argument. According to the arrangement made be-tween the Counsel, Hon. Robt. J. Walker, Judge Black, and George M. Wharton, Esq., will address the court in behalf of the re
