THE DAILY EVENING BULLETIN; PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 17, 1866.

Marriages in China.

Rev. Justus Doolittle's work on the "Social Life of the Chinese," gives the following account of the Chinese courtships and marriages:

HOW MARRIAGES ARE BROUGHT ABOUT. To refrain from saying and doing any-thing which will tend to prevent or break off a contemplated marriage be-tween families is considered to be a good thing, or a meritorious course. The two families quite often do not have any direct and infimate knowledge of each others' condition and character. By the employment of go-betweens they endeavor to learn as much about each other as possible before the conclusion of the match. In doing this, the gobetween, if a stranger to them, is obliged to make inquiries of the neighbors of the parties. The neighbors, as soon as they understand that a betrothal is contemplated, never tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth; unless they happen to be intimate riends and relations of the go-between, or one of the parties themselves-acting on the principle of not doing or saying anything which might be the means of preventing the contemplated betrothal. For example, if the girl is ugly-looking or of bad character, she is represented as beautiful or exceedingly virtuous. Even though something seems to be against the lass, still she has many other recommendations, which more than counter balance, etc. If the boy is of bad habits, or stupid, the neighbors report the very reverse. It has become a kind of pro-verb, that neighbors cannot be trusted in what they say in regard to a contemplated betrothal. They seldom, or never tell the truth if it would be apt to lead the go-betweens to look elsewhere for a companion for the girl or boy of their employers.

A WEDDING RECEPTION IN CHINA.

Neighbors, uninvited friends, or even perfect strangers to the parties, if they lease, are allowed to come in and see the bride during the evening of the day of her marriage. This is a very trying ordeal for her, as she may not refuse to be seen by them, nor absent herself from the gaze of the public. She is obliged to stand while a company of spectators observes her appearance and criticises her deportment. They indulge often-times in great liberty of remark about her, which she must hear with composure. She must conduct herself with decorum, neither laughing, nor becoming angry, nor engaging in conversation with any but her assistants, who attend her constantly, and aid her in walking and standing, presenting a placid and unmoved countenance, notwithstanding the witty jokes or the coarse impertinence of the spectators. What at other times would be likely to be regarded as insulting and highly indecent, must be passed over as though she heard it not. Should she allow herself to laugh, or should she forget herself enough to manifest anger, it would be a source of annovance and regret. Her husband generally absents himself from the public room during the evening. It not unfrequently occurs that some of his intimate friends or neighbors stay very late, refusing to depart unless he pledges them a considerable sum of money with which to pay the expense of a feast on the following day. The large candles which were transferred to the bride's room from the reion room at the close of the ceremony of "worshiping heaven and earth," are permitted to burn all day and into the evening if they will. As it is eminently desirable that candles should burn all the night long in the bridal chamber, these are usually during the evening exchanged for another pair, which it is calculated will last until the following morning. These are two feet long, more or less, and of a bright red Usually on one is made, in a color. lively yellow color, a picture of adragon. by the use of gold leaf, or of a liquid preparation called "gold oil;" and on the other the picture of a phœnix, representing respectively the groom and his bride. Sometimes suspicious characters or phrases are written on the candles; these, lighted on the evening of the wedding, and arranged on the table in the bride's room, are desired to burn during the whole night, and as much longer as they will last. It would be considered very unlucky should they be extinguished by accident. Should one or both of them go out during the night, such an event would foretell the untimely death of one or both of the parties. The material of the candles hould not melt and trickle down the sides. This is regarded as a bad omen, the trickling down of the material being thought to resemble the flowing of tears down the cheeks, and betokens, on wedding occasions, that there will be much sorrow in the family of the newly married couple or that they will not live happily together. If the candles should burn out about the same time. it is supposed that the couple will die about the same period in the future; and should one burn much longer than the other, it is feared that one will long survive the other.

jail went down about eight feet, and 1 calculated to begin down low enough to come up slanting under them. I had nothing to eat or drink, and had nearly died for lack of air [the only air that could reach him being the little that passed down through the crevice of the pump box.] I worked steadily all the time I was in there, and hard work it Interest on Premium Notes, 1865. was too. I worked lying on my face, with the iron in my hand above me, scraping the dirt until the weight on my head was all that I could bear, when I backed down and pushed it behind me into the stone filling around the wall. When I got near the surface I found it. hard digging. The ground had been filled in, it was full of stones, and frozen hard. The hole at the surface was so small that I took off my clothing to get through it. "I finally get out into the air about 10. o'clock Wednesday night, having tunneled about twelve feet, and worked at it thirty-two hours of the hardest work I ever did. I was so weak and exhausted when I got out that I had to lie still for some time. At last I got strength enough to climb up the wall and drop into the park. I was then so weak and dizzy that I could not walk, so I crept across the park on my hands and knees. On reaching the street I managed to walk, but you would have thought I was drunk if you had seen me; I staggered so that the sidewalk wasn't wide enough for me."

CENTENARIANS IN EUROPE. -French journalist has made a list of the number of deaths in the year 1865 of persons who attained the age of 100 years and upwards, France not included. England holds a respectable place in the list, having five names out of only 19 collected from the whole world. The following is the list, which might be added to by further investigation: Mrs. Burchell, 100 years, Brighton; Mrs. Isabella Ross, 105 years, Market Weighton; Mrs. Mary Flinn, 100 years, London; Mrs. Margaret Curteis, 103 years, Shal-ton Rectory, Norfolk; Mrs. Sarah Englefield, 101 years, Wakefield; E. Nauwelaers, 103 years, Brussels; Isabelle Somer, 100 years and 8 months, Destelbergen, Belgium; Catherine Van Welle, 101 ears, Alost; Lorenzo Risso, 100 years, Rossighone, Liguria; M. Agathange, for-merly abbot of the Russian Convent of St. George, Crimea, 108 years; the Austrian General, Count Civalart De Happancourt, 100 years; the Indian Warrior, Bloody Hand, 100 years, at Cattaraugus; Madame Angélique Doyer, 113 years, at Quebec; Widow Gaggero, 106 years, at Genoa: Luisa Maria De Oliveira, 107 years, arrondissement de Louza, Portu-gal; Jean Schlagentweitt, 117, Vienna; Jadame Daniel Couture, 1197, Vienna; Madame Daniel Couture, 102 years, Levis, Canada; Rabello De Penafiel, Portugal, 106 years.

The inquest in the case of Mrs. Gilroy, who died from exposure and want of proper treatment on board the ship Neptune, was continued yesterday. The drift of the testi-mony was to the effect that those in charge of the ship had done for her all that they could do under the circumstances. The case is still under investigation, and the examination of witnesses will be resumed this morning at 11 o'clock. An inquest was vesterday held at the New York Hospital over the remains of Patrick Dunlap, whose death, as alleged was caused by stabs inflicted on Friday last, at No. 150 Washington street, by Edward Johnson. On the conclusion of the evidence and the rendition of the jury's verdict to the above effect, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Johnson, who is yet at large.

14,692 52	ber of years. He died in the town of Charlotte, in 1846, worth over half a million dollars.

1846, worth over half a million dollars. Two shafts have been sunk on this property, one o them 80 feet, the other 60 feet, on different veins, averaging from two to three feet in thickness, which yeins still continue on down increasing in width and richness. These shafts are in good order, and -' e can be readily taken out at any time! Other veins have been discovered on this property, and tested and proved to be very rich in gold. The ores of this mine are known as the bown ore and very tich vicing readily and as the brown ore, and very rich, yielding readily $10 per bushel. This is believed to be one of the best and most certain mines in the State, on account of the abundance and quality of the ore, and ease in which it is obtained and reduced. This property has been worked by Major Z. A. Grier from 1840 to the breaking out of the war. This Company have purchased this property, and intend to erect machinery mines in immediate operation. The ma and put the of this mine over the mines of Colorado and Nevada can hardly be estimated. It is imore readily reached, and has abundance of fuel, with cheap labor. It can be worked all the year, and not, as in the case of Col ado and Nevada, be compelled to lie idle for three o our months in consequence of the severity of th This mine having been worked for a long time proved to be a rich paying one. We do not, therefore have to incur the risk there is in an undeveloped pro perty, but can count on large and immediate return on the investments. Having an ore that readily yields 10 per bushel, some estimate can be made of the value of this property. With the present imperfec system of mining in this locality, and absence of pr per machinery, ten tons of this ore can be taken out daily from every shaft opened. Estimating, say 15 bushels to the ton, the daily yield will be $1,500 from one shaft, allowing $300 per day for expens The n oduct will be $1,200 per day; counting 309 working lays to the year, the yearly proceeds will be $360,000, which yield can be largely increased by extending th works. This is considered a very low estimate of th capacity of this mine by experienced miners of that ocality. The Assayer of the United States Mints Charlotte, in speaking of this property, says it has few equals in productiveness in that country, and with proper management and machinery the above pr duct can be doubled CAPITAL STOCK, $500.000.

A Human Mole-Remarkable Escape frem Jail.

A horse-stealer named Hiram Carpenter recently escaped from the Orleans county jail, at Albion, New York, but was retaken. He has given the follow-"I should never have thought about trying to get out, but I heard that my woman was sick, and I got it into my head that she was going to die. I wanted to see her; and I asked them to take me to her house. I was willing to go there in handcuffs and shackles, and a child might have taken me, for I wouldn't have offered to get away. But they kept putting me off, and I made up my mind I would get out and see her or die in trying. So I went at it.

"I raised up the pump-box and found there was a hole in the flagging large enough to pass through. I laid down on my face on the floor and backed into the hole feet first. I found the well plastered near the top, so hanging on with my hands I let myself down as far as I could, and dropped. I had no idea of the depth of the well, or where I should bring up; I only knew that the well was I dropped straight with my face dry. to the west. I found bottom at about twenty feet, landing in mud and water two feet deep. After recovering from the two leet deep. After recovering from the shock of the fall, I took off my boots, tied them around my neck with my handkerchief, and clambered up to with-in about ten or twelve feet of the top. The only tool I had was a piece of iron about six inches long and a half or three-quarters of an inch square. With this I went to work, and after some labor dislodged a stone from the wall: In a very short time I was at work in the dirt. I supposed the foundations of the

It is one of the most useful inventions for domestic ase ever offered to the public. The four is sifted in one-quarter the time (and much better than by any other process) by putting the four in the top of the sifter; then, by turning the crank, the flour passes through the sleve with great rapidity. Clean, very due and light. This Sifter has no India rubber rollers to grind up the dirt, such as bugs, worms, flies, dc. but sifts all articles and leaves the dirt remaining in the sleve; the Sifter is made of tin, is very neat and easy to keep clean. It is the only Sifter now in use that gives BATISFACTION. Every Sifter is warrant-ed. Be surg and ask for Spencer's Patent Tin Sifter. Samples sent to any address on receipt of $1 00.
