MARINE BULLETIN. PORT OF PHI

determined to strike a blow and not wait for the blow to be struck. I remember him well during that time, and his argumentations and reasoning were close and pointed. No lawyer could have argued a case, or statesman broached, with broader and better views. He did strike, and you know he took Camp Jackson, and followed it up to this point, thence to Boonville, and so on to Springfield. Up to that point no one can doubt either the wis-dom or energy with which he conducted to more energy with which he conducted his post. Some, it is said, cautioned him to delay, others to withdraw—simply be-cause he cauld not obtain a force adequate to the end in view—to meet the concen-trated force of Price and McCulloch. But Lyon was right. He struck the blow and had he lived you ne'er again in Missouri would have had a foe to contend with, and would have had a not to contend with, and peace would have reigned here from that time. [Applause.] But man proposes and God disposes. We cannot add a mite to his fame nor his station; we cannot change the fact, and must accept it as one of the mysterious dispensetions of it as one of the mysterious dispensations of Providence. But, to-day, which of you would not rather be the dead Lyon in his oniat group in Comparison to the second second quiet grave in Connecticut than to be his opponent, now in a foreign land and the outcast [applause], or that other opponent of his, who, in yonder city, simply tarries for a few brief years, till the grave shall take him up, unknown and unsung. Bet-ter, far better, for Lyon as he is, aud none would exchange with the other parties. [Anpleuse]

[Applause.] Now, my friends, you are here after a great battle, the war and the smoke have cleared away. No longer confusion trouble you. No enemy harasses you; and the duty devolves on you to see to it that those men who have shed their blood and who lie in remote graves are sought for, and that their memories are treasured up, where they memories are treasured up, where they belong, in history. And yet you owe it to your State and to the children who are to your State and to the children who are to come after you, to make sufficient recogni-tion of their services. The life of a man is nothing. It comes to day and goes to mor-row. Its span is the span of a hand; still, it is the span bits of the span of a hand; still, it is the most precious thing that we possess. All men struggle to maintain their lives, and when such a man as Lyon gives up his life unhesitatingly and unfalteringly, he simply consigns himself to your care and the care of those for whom he gave up his life. You, therefore, in honoring him, in honoring his memory, in reviving and reviewing his virtues, simply do that which does honor to yourself, to your State, and to those who are to follow you. I say, therefore, erect your obelisk and inscribe upon it the name and virtues of this man and let your children point to it that they may see the course which leads to the apmay see the course which leads to the ap-probation of men and the honor of his fellow-men. You may of course, do him no good now, but you may do yourselves and children good by commemorating his virtues and creating this tablet to his name. I have, therefore, simply appeared before you to-night to be one of the advocates of this undertaking. I care not myself in

At a Meeting of the Directors of this Bank, held Jan-mary 18, 1868, the following resolutions were unanimous-ly adopted, and ordered to be published: Ecoloced, That the Directors of the National Bank of Germantown, in view of the voluntary withdrawal of CHARLES MAGARGE, Esq., from the Presidency of this institution, take this method of expressing their regret that motives exclusively of personal interest have determined him to retire from the position which he has filed with so much advantage to the interests of the Bank, and so much credit and honor to himself. Ever courteous and affable in his intercourse with the members of the Board individually, he has presided over its financial dispositions in periods of great mo-netary embarrassment, with signal ability and success; he retires from this Board as an officer distinglished for sagacity, energy, and unvarying integrity, and bears with him the high easter and respect of those so long and satifactorily easter and relations his beard as an evidence that the Ordial relations hitherto existing will be maintained, as an earnest of future advantages to induce to the institution by reason of his long and varied experience in financial combinations. Ecolwed That the forging resolutions be published, and that the Secretary berequested to transmit a copy of the same to Mr. Magarge.
