The Withdrawal of the French Troops from Mexico. WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 .- [Special to the Tribune.]-Letters have just been received here from Paris, confirming in every important particular the information concerning the intentions of the Emperor of France with regard to Mexico which I gave you some time ago. The Emperor is ready to withdraw his forces from Mexico with the least possible delay, demanding nothing of the Government of the United States except that it meanwhile remain neutral between the belligerent parties, according to the assurances frequently given and reiterated by this Government during the last three years. The Emperor of France does not ask for the recognition of Maximilian, nor insist upon any other treaty stipulations. The statement put forth by the Paris Presse, that an Extraordinary Commissioner has been sent to Mexico to make preparations for the evacuation, is confirmed by the letters here received. I have good reasons for believing that the State Department is already in possession of official information to this effect, and it is to be hoped that such information will soon be laid before the public. The statement here given came from a most trustworthy source, and may be looked upon as absolutely trustworthy. The Bio Grande. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 2.—Gen. SENTENCE OF CHRISTIAN BERGER. Remarks of Judge Allison

OVER AND TERMINER—Judges Allison and Ludlow.—This morning Christian Ber-ger was brought into court to receive sen-tence. The fact became known and in a few minutes the court room was densel crowded, and great anxiety was manifeste to obtain a view of the prisoner. Alone in the dock, he was the object of close scrutiny, but he bore it with the same stolldity and unconcern that has characterized his demeanor throughout the trial. His eyes wandered about the court room without betraying any excitement, and, to all appearances, he was the least concerned of any person in the court room.

The motion for a new trial and an arrest of judgment was overruled. District Attorney Mann next moved for the judgment of the Court.

The prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced. He replied quietly that he had nothing to say.

Judge Allison then said:

You have had addressed to you by the

You have had addressed to you by the Court, through its officers the usual question, and perhaps the necessary question to be propounded to a prisoner occupying the solemn position you do at this time, before proceeding to pass the judgment of the law.

It would be unnecessary for me to make any special allusion to your case. It can only be too fresh and too vivid in your recollection to require me to detail the facts of the murder of Mary L. Watts, for which you now stand convicted by the verdict of the jury. Your trial occupied some five days—beginning on Monday and terminating on Friday. You were defended—I mean it as no empty compliment—with zeal, industry and empty compliment—with zeal, industry and with marked ability. Your counseldid everything for you that any counsel could have been expected to do under the circumstances in which they were placed. Selected as they were by you, and after that selection, assigned by the court to discharge the responsible duty of guarding your life in the peril it was, and see, if you were convicted, that it was in accordance with the law of the land they have ably discharged their whole land, they have ably discharged their whole duty. Every question that could be raised in your favor has been raised; every exception to the items of evidence; every question tion to the items of evidence; every question in regard to the case, as it was applicable to your case was fully and fairly presented by them. The jury who tried you, tried you with patience and with deliberation. It was a jury of your own selection. They were the twelve men taken from the body of the county and placed in that box to pass upon the question as to whether you were guilty or not guilty of the charge contained in the bill of indictment No. 738 of the December session, 1866, of this court. That bill charged you with the murder of Mary L. Watts, and after a partial consideration of your case after the tial consideration of your case after the counsel had been heard at every stage of the progress of the trial, and after they had presented a closing scene to the Court, all that could be said in your favor—every comment upon the testimony that would be likely to receive a favorable consideration at the hands of the jury, that jury found you guilty of the murder of the deceased. With that we have only to say; and it may be said now without any prejudice to any person, we do not see how the jury could have arrived at any other conclusion. The circumstances as they were proved by the Commonwealth pointed—some of them at least—with un-erring certainty towards yourself. You were found in the immediate neighborhood on the morning upon which Mary L. Watts lost her life. The circumstances which pointed to you, the want of money, and the possession of money a few hours after the murder, and that which you said and did in regard to this charge, and the mass of this evidence were all of such character when taken together to make up a connected and compacted whole case upon which the jury, after a fair consideration, said you were guilty. With that finding our judgment concurs. We cannot see in the case as presented any reason for disturbing the verdict and with this conclusion in our mind it becomes necessary that we should pass the sentence of death.

The Judges then arose, and Judge Allison, in the midst of a profound silence, con-

The sentence of the court is that Christian Berger, the prisoner at the bar, be taken from hence to the jail yard of the county of Philadelphia, from whence he came, and from thence to the place of execution, and that he be there hanged by the neck until he is dead, and may God have mercy on your soul. The prisoner exhibited no emotion during the judge's address, and at the conclusion of the sentence he was removed.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.-Martin Evers and Hugh Weir were before Ald. Hutchinson this morning, upon the charge of assault and battery and attempted highway robbery. It seems that last evening an old gentleman, named Thompson, slipped and fell on the ice at Seventeenth and Coates streets. A couple of young ladies, who noticed the accident, told the defendants to help Mr. Thompson up. Evers and Weir then went to the assistance of the fallen man and succeeded in getting him upon his feet. One of them then knock him down again and stamped on him, while the other put his hands in his pockets. A young girlobserved the outrage and gave the alarm. The rascals then ran, were pursued by Officer's Stull and Speer, and were afterwards arrested in a tavern at Hugh Weir were before Ald. Hutchinson and were afterwards arrested in a tavern at Seventeenth and Coates streets. This mornseventeenth and coates streets. This morning at the hearing they were fully identified by the young ladies as the men who had assaulted Mr. Thompson. It was also in evidence that during the evening they had robbed a soldier and had stopped a wagon and beaten the driver in the same neighborhood. They were committed in default of $2,000 bail for trial.

A Long CHASE.-A Fifteenth Ward policeman had a warrant for the arrest of a colored man named Henry Gahn, for assault and battery. He went to Gahn's house, near Fifteenth and Parrish streets, yesterday afternoon and while there Gahn stepped out of the basement. The officer pursued. The fugitive scaled several fences and the officer did the same. Finally the colored man went through an opening in a fence which the policemen was unable to get through. Gahn continued to run till he got to Eleventh street and Girard avenue where he was captured by a Twentieth Ward officer. During his flight he knocked down a citizen who attempted to stop him.

ANNUAL STATEMENT .- Very many of our readers will be interested in the annual statement of the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company, published in another column, in conformity with the requirements of the laws of Pennsylvania. This Company is increasing in business and assets with wonderful rapidity. Increasing its capital annually by more than two millions of dollars, and now issuing at the rate of about ten thousand policies a year. The wise will certainly avail themselves of the superior advantages of this successful and popular institution. Walter H. Tilden, 404 Walnut street, is the agent, and is always happy in explaining its peculiar merits.

JUVENILE THIEVES .- Alderman Toland had before him, this morning, three boys named John Walsh, Robert Clancy and Wm. Clancy, charged with larceny. It is alleged that they went to the North Pennsylvania Railroad depot, at Front and Willow streets, broke open a box and abstracted several pairs of books and shoes, They are also said to have stolen some shoes from the front of a store on Second street, above Brown. Walsh was sent to the House of Refuge, and the others were held to answer at court.

LARCENY OF MONEY, Before Alderman Allen, this morning, John Noble, James Corcoran and Charles Clark were charged with the larceny of money. A colored man went into the tayern of John Corcoran. Thirty-sixth and Market streets, to get note changed. The defendants were there James Corcoran offered to change the bill, and took possession of it. The note was, passed from one to the other, and the colored man got neither it nor the change. The accused were committed to answer.

ACCIDENT.-This morning the prison van was upset while turning around at the Twenty-fourth Ward police station. The yehicle fell on Joseph Hackett, the driver, injuring his foot and ankle severely. There were five prisoners—four men and one woman—inside at the time. They were all jumbled up together, but none of them sustained any injury.

HEAVY ROBBERY.-Dougherty's rag establishment, on Bedford street, below Seventh, was entered last evening during the temporary absence at the attendant, and was robbed of five watches and a large amount of money. Among the latter were some gold and silver and coupon notes.

ROBBERY IN THE NINETEENTH WARD.-Beltz's store, on Frankford road, above York street, was entered early this morning, by means of "nippers," and was robbed of several articles of clothing.

WOODEN BUILDINGS .- Yesterday the High Constables ordered three frame buildings taken down, the structures having been erected contrary to an ordinance of the city. SUPPOSED LARGENY .- Samuel Brown was arrested this morning, by Lieut. Hampton, on suspicion of having stolen two saddles worth about $150, which he was offering for sale for $15. Brown was caught at Second and Shippen streets and was locked up for

[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.]
WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Special Committe on the debts of the loyal States have decided upon a plan of reimbursing said States for moneys expended during the rebellion in raising troops. The whole number of men furnished by each State is to be estimated on a three-years basis, allowing fifty dollars for each man. To pay this, twenty-year bonds, bearing five per cent. interest, are to be issued to each State, said bonds to be held by the States for ten years, and during that time not to be put in the market for sale.
