Investigation Before Coroner Wildey— Possibly a Clue to the Perpetrators— Verdict of the Jury, &c.

[From the New York Herald.]

Coroner Wildey yesterday afternoon held an inquest at 420 West Thirty-fifth street on the body of Philip Kraemer, late the private watchman in the employ of Messrs. Heinemann & Silverman, manufacturers of silk trimmings, at Nos. 417, 419 and 421 West Thirty-fifth street, who was brutally murdered by burglars early on the morning of Thusday last, as previously reported After breaking in one of the front basement windows the burglars cautiously proceeded up stairs, and meeting with the watchman in the office on the second floor, committed a murderous assault on him. As his calothing was much discovered and covered a murderous assault on him. As his clothing was much disarranged and covered with blood, it is thought the deceased made a powerful resistance, but by the use of jimmies, or other like instruments; with which they beat him on the head, he was speedily reduced to submission, after which the murderers secured such plunder as they could conveniently carry, and made their assessment without exciting suspicion.

escape without exciting suspicion. On examining the room where the watch man was murdered the ceiling and side-walls were found to be sprinkled with walls which is supposed to come from the weapons used by the murderers. Blood also traced down the stairs to the was also traced down the stairs to the window from which they escaped. Below will be found a copy of the testimony elicited and the verdict of the jury:
Gustave Unger, before sworn, deposes and says: I reside at 423 West Thirty-fifth street; I am engaged in the manufacture of silk trimmings at Nos. 417, 419 and 421. West Thirty-fifth street; deceased was in my employ as watchman; I last saw him at six o'clock last Wednesday evening; he remained from six o'clock in the evening till seven o'clock the next morning; hi duties were to walk around, through and watch the factory; the next I saw of him was Thursday morning at six o'clock; I saw him lying on the floor in the office; my attention was called to deceased by Frederick Kramer, the fireman; he said there was something wrong, as he could not get in, and the watchman did not come out; Kramer got in at the window of the factory, and found deceased lying on the floor covered with blood; I got out of bed, and going in, saw deceased lying on the floor; I found that my place had been broken in and robbed of silk goods amounting to $2,000 in value; the burglars broke in the basement window and went up the front steps into the office; deceased generally sat in the front room, where he could got a view of the office nd back room. Frederick Kramer, residing at No. 404 Ninth avenue, being sworn, says: I am a silk weaver; I left deceased in the factory on Wednesday evening last, about 6 o'clock; I came there at 6 o'clock the next morning and pushed against the door; I could not get in, when Mr. Unger told me to get in at the basement window: I went up stairs and found deceased lying on his face; I spoke to him and pushed him, when he made a noise, but did not speak; I called Mr. Unger, who came in immediately; I went at once who came in inimediately; I went at once for the doctor; the basement window was about an inch open when I got in; I saw a depeased's pistol lying in a paper box on a bench in one corner of the room; I saw a club on a table; there was blood on the floor where deceased lay.

George W. Walling, being sworn, says—I am captain of police of the Twentieth Precinct; I have made an examination of the premises where deceased was killed; the parties that entered the place must have jumped over the iron railing around the basement windows and tried the shutters; there were nine of the windows; on the one nearest Ninth avenue the bolt had not been fastened; these shutters were found open and the window raised; after entering and the window raised; after entering an old window, through which they passed; after that they must have traveled the entire length of the building, and gone up a flight of stairs; then returned on the next floor again through the building, and entered the office where deceased was found he must have either been asleep when the parties entered, and knocked on the head then, or he must have heard the noise, and on going to ascertain the cause, have been attacked; they must have got out by another window than the one they entered; I have been unable to discover any clue to the persons who entered the building except that sons who entered the building except that at about half-past five o'clock on Thursday morning four men got into a Tenth avenue car, corner of Thirty-fifth street, each having bundles in their possession; these men got out corner of Albany and West streets.

One of said parties is about five feet ten inches in height, smooth face, twenty-six to thirty years of age, rather stout built, had one of his hands bound up (believed to be the left hand), which is supposed to have been injured while getting over the iron been injured while getting over the iron railing in front of the manufactory; was dressed in dark clothes and wore either a fur or plush cap; another of the men was about five feet six inches in height, with black mustache and imperial, and word a soft fel hat, dark English walking coat and drab pants; was about twenty-three or twenty-four years of age and very good looking. 'Another of the suspected murderers was about five feet five inches in height, twenty two years of age, slim built, had on a dark coat and a black velvet cap. The fourth man cannot be described except that he wore a felt bat.

Wooster Beach, Jr., M. D., being sworn, says: I have made a post mortem examination of the body now lying dead at this place; it was of good muscular development and well nourished; there were marks of searce violence on the body, particularly and well nourished; there were marks of severe violence on the body, particularly about the head; on the face and scalp were twenty-one wounds of various sizes and depths, but evidently all inflicted with the same instrument, probably a heavy bar of iron with square corners; on both hands were cuts and bruises; the skin of the right brushle was rubbed off else of two functions. knuckles was rubbed off, also of two fingers; on opening into the cavity of the skull there was a severe compound fracture of the oc-cipital bone a little to the right of the median line and near its junction with the parietal bone; there was a counter fracture of the base of the skull, on the opposite side of the head; considerable hemorrhage had taken place beneath the dure mater, and between that membrane and the skull; death, in my opinion, was caused by the shock to the system from the injury to the head, together with the compression of the who rendered the following verdict:

"That Philip Kraemer, the deceased, came to his death by fracture of the skull with some blunt instrument at the hands of some person or persons unknown to them.

The jury further recommend to the Kraemer of the skull with the commendation of the skull with some blunt instrument at the hands of some person or persons unknown to them. some person or persons unknown to them.
The jury further recommend to his Honor the Mayor to offer a suitable reward for the apprehension of the guilty parties."
Deceased was about 38 years of age, and a native of Germany. The gentlemen by whom deceased was employed have offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers.

BAR, SHEET AND RAILROAD IRON MANU-FACTORIES OF PITTSBURGH.—The manufacture of bar, sheet and railroad iron in the Middle States, in 1860, employed one hundred and thirty-four establishments, having, collectively, a capital of $13,627,863, or nearly as much as was employed in all the States of the Union in 1860. They wrought up 437,850 tons of blooms, pigs, etc., costing, with other materials, $12,071,969, and employed 13 151 persons, at an annual cost for ployed 13,151 persons, at an annual cost for labor of $4,320,848. Pennsylvania had eighty-seven establishments, of which num-ber Pittsburgh had thirteen, with an invested capital of $3,380,000, employing two thousand three hundred and thirty-three men, and yielding annually $3,761,683.— Pittsburgh Chronicle.
