and space, I could only generalize. RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 9, 1866.—Really, I have nothing to write about, save the visit of the Emperor to the Monitor Monadnock, which took place to-day. At eleven o'clock his imperial Majesty's yacht arrived nearly elongistic torto which alongside, towing a row-boat, into which his Majesty and suite entered and thence transferred themselves to the Monadnock,

On the imperial party entering the small boat the vessels of war and the forts belched forth a salute. It is unnecessary to stat that in this the American war vessels had the lion's share. His Majesty was accom-panied by his son-in-law, the Conde d'Eu, and his officers of State and of his hold. He was received by Commodore Rodgers and Lieutenant Commander Bunce, commanding the Monadnock-the yards of the several vessels of war in the port being manned.

bort being mainted. His Majesty passed around the vessel on deck, followed by his suite and courtiers. After this his Majesty inspected the interior of the two turrets, and listened with much attention to the explanations given him in regard to the system of pointing the guns. The furrets were made to revolve and two guns were fired therefrom, in illustration (the explanations made. It may be observed that the charge of powder was only fiftee pounds, while the full charge is sixty pounds

After exploring the mysteries of the engine room and lower deeps the imperia party partook of refreshments in the cabin of Captain Bunce, when sentiments of re-spect between the two nations were interchanged. His Majesty and attendants left under another salvo of artillery, after a pleasant visit of about two hours. His Majesty expressed himself highly satisfied with his visit. Officers of the Monadnock inform me that she behaved splendidly all the way out. The Monadnock left Fortress Monroe on the 2d of November, and arrived at St. Thomas on the 10th, having experienced a heavy gale to the eastward of the Gulf off Cape Hatteras, in which she parted her rudder chain, which necessitated the steering of her by the engines, she hav-ing been in tow of the Tuscarora, which, making bad weather, had to abandon the Monadnock, in order to save herself. The Vanderbilt, which accompanied the Tusca-rora and the Monadnock, was driven out of sight by the fury of the gale. At one time it was supposed that the Monadnock would have gone down, like the original Monitor. At daylight, however, the Vanderbilt appeared in sight, and communicated with the

CITY BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, -The anniversary of the birth of Washington having been declared a legal holiday, to morrow, will be pretty generally observed in this city. The public offices, banks, insurance offices and many places of business will be closed. The Post Office will be open only until noon. The celebration of the day will be more spirited than it has been for several years. A number of military organizations will parade during the day. The Washington Grays and National Guards have already completed their arrangements for the turn out, and the First Regiment Gray Reserves will hold a meeting on the subject this evening. It will be quite a novelty to our citizens to see these old organizations again on the streets. The Soldiers of the War of 1812 will hold their usual meeting in the Supreme Court room at ten o'clock in the morning. The Military Order of the Loyal League of the United States will hold a meeting a noon at the Academy of Music. The pro gramme for the occasion was published in

The Hibernia Steam Fire Engine, which hes been on duty in Washington for several years, is expected to reach the city at 2 o'clock P. M., and arrangements have been made for a reception by the Department of this city. There will be a large and very fine turn-out.

AURORA BOREALIS .-- Last night there was a very beautiful display of northern lights. The entire heavens were illuminated from eleven o'clock until daylight, and the spec tacle was really grand-almost equal in brilliancy to that which occurred in the fall of 1859. During the prevalence of the phe-nomena, messages were transmitted over the lines of the American and Western Union Telegraph Companies without the aid of batteries. This can only be done when the air is highly charged with magnetic electricity.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY,-The annual election for officers of this institution was heid last evening and resulted as follows-President, T. Morris Perot; Vice President, John D. The inter-ment took place at Lower Merion Baptist ment took place at Lower Merion Baptist Church. The funeral was attended by an immense concourse of persons and the ser-vices were solemn and impressive. The deceased was widely known and respected and the motive for the murder, as well as the identity of the perpetrator of the crime is a profound mystery.

DECEASED .-- We regret to learn that Mr. Joseph J. Redner, a well-known stock broker, died of congestion of the brain, at his residence, No. 324 South Twenty-first street, this morning. Though a very active business man, Mr. Redner was only in his thirtieth year, and his untimely death will cause deep sorrow among a wide circle of friends. His illness dated but from Thursday last. The funeral will take place next Saturday afternoon.

In the Broadway M. E. Church. in the evening, Rev. D. W. Bartine is to give a lecture on "Washington and Lincoln," for the benefit of the Church. Since the Rev. Mr. Walton has been Pastor of that Church about forty new members have been added to it, which bids falr to resultin much good, several persons having already signified a derire to become members.

SANITARY,-The Sanitary Committee of Camden are now busy in attending to the learing of the streets, alleys and lanes, where a superabundance of filth and offal as accumulated during the winter. measure is highly necessary in view of the apprehended approach of the cholera during the coming warm spring and hot sum-mer months. Every family also should see that their own premises are thoroughly purified and kept in a clean condition. CANDIDATES .- The candidates for the different city and ward nominations begin to multiply rapidly in both parties. For city marshal there are three in the field on the Union side, Messrs, J. W. Campbell James W. Ayres and S. C. Sloan, all good men; and for Mayor, P. C. Budd, E. J. Toram, J. R. Thompson, T. M. K. Lee, Sr., L. Repshur, Capt. Hufty, and others. The delegate meetings will be held on Friday James W. Ayres and S. C. Sloan, al evening.

ATTEMPT TO ROB .- Last night a bold attempt was made to rob a dwelling house on Taylor's avenue, below Fourth street. The burglar succeeded in effecting an entrance, but was compelled to abandon his project before securing his desired booty.

GREAT PLUM-PUDDING FEAST .- A few days ago, says an English paper, nearly one thousand persons had a "grand plum-pud-ding feast" at Aughton, a village a few miles from Lancaster. The feast is held every twenty-one years, and originated at the commencement of the present century in this way. A firm carrying on the business of basket and hamper making at Aughton broad, and two feet deep. The boiler at-tracted considerable attention in a village consisting of only ten houses: and a rough but practical joker in the place, possessing strong gastronomic proclivities, said it would boil a rare pudding. The owners, being of a hospitable disposition, took the hint, and caused a most Titanic pudding to be made in it, and distributed among their neighbors. Since that time, the plum-pudding feast has been kept up by the inhabitants every twenty-one years. At the feast which has ust taken place one plum-pudding of the modest weight of three hundred pounds. and three weighing seventy pounds each were placed upon the table and consumed, as report says, "in about three hours." After this great "slaughter" of pudding, the company, about one thousand in number, enjoyed themselves in a variety of old English games, sports, &c., which, it is to be hoped, prevented the serious indigestion which might be expected.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

In the year 1845, the writer embarked in the Drug Business in the city of Philadelphia, and while thus engaged, made several experiments in regard to the must desirable mode of preparing Fluid Extracts. My efforts being successful-the articles being approved and psed by the Medical faculty—I was desirons of placing them before the puolic, but hesitated for some time before concluding to resort to newspaper adver-tising, knowing of the preladices that existed in the minds of many against using advertised Mcdicines; but through the advice of friends and those who had used my preparations, this objection was overcome. Commenting in a dmall way, after 18 years' exer-tions, the popularity of my articles has extended to all parts of the United States, and widely throughout fo-reign countries—and this in the face of much opposi-tion. Every means has been resorted to by unprinci-pled dealers since their merit and succes have been known—such as advertising larger bottles atless price, censuring all other preparations, and even copying my adventisements—but I am happy to state that out of the many who have resorted to this, none have been successful. Under these conditions contracts were freely made with the freedmen on liberal terms. When money wages are paid, the rates vary from $8 to $15 per month in specie, including quarters, food, fuel, clothing and medical attendance. In many instances, instead of wages, a portion of the crop, ranging from one-quarter, according to the cial condition of each case, is pledged to the laborers, and the instances are not unfre-quent where, in addition to this high percentage of the expected crop, the planter boards and lodges his workmen gratis. The Commissioner states that Texas is without a parallel for inducements held out to the freedmen's labor. He also states that at least nine-tenths of the former slave population are under contract for a year, and that theft, idleness and vagrancy have most become things of the past. In the bole State, and out of 400,000 freedmen, only about 67 are now receiving Government ent support. The Commissioner also states that during the month of January there has been more agricultural labor performed, and more mple preparations made for the harvest, than ever before during the same time in the States. He says that some 50,000 plantation hands could at once find work, bread and good wages in the rich cotton bottoms and fair uplands of the With regard to the sanitary condi-State. tion of the freedmen there are great deficiencies in medical supplies.

His friends will never tire of its repetition, and their ap-plause and calls for him between the acts are as hearty as when he first assumed the character. Mr. Walcot and Mr. Fawcett played their parts admirably. Miss Carr was excellent, as usual, in her representation of Mrs. de Boots. Miss Germon acted the injured, innocent and pensive Mrs. Featherly to the life, and her pretty Mar-seilles morning dress and rich silk evening dress formed a contrast which pleased the eye and the sense of fitness. Miss Graham, on the contrary, entirely mistook the char-acter of the impulsive, warm-hearted widow, and appeared in her drawing-room n the morning arrayed in silk and camel's hair fringe, point lace, light kid gloves, and received her friend who came for sympathy with the air of a cold woman of the world vho was prepared for any advantage that might offer. Her monotones would have xpressed the reproaches of Mrs. Featherly, while Miss Germon's vivacity would come nearer the idea of a gay young widow. "Nicholas Nickleby" concluded the performance, and Mr. Clarke acted Newman Noggs with feeling and taste. "The drunkard's last drink" was given with exquisite pathos; it was equal to Gough's wonderful touches. Messrs, Walcot, Griffiths, Fawcett and Taylor, and Misses Carr and Germon contributed to the interest of the play and supported Mr. Clarke with judgment. The Walnut deserves the liberal patronage it receives nightly. A good bill is offered to-night. MR. OWEN FAWCETT.-We understand that the lively, talented and popular low comedian of the Walnut, Mr. Owen Fawcett, will shortly take his first benefit in his native city. He has advanced steadily in the good opinion of all those who attend the Walnut, and has shown marked improvement with each new character he has essayed. He is still very young, but his delineations are so careful and perfect that he can claim fellowship with the most mano doubt that his benefit will be a signal triumph, particularly when the youth of the actor is considered, and the brief period during which he has trod the boards of the theatre to which he is attached.
