His Reception.

[From to-day's N. Y. Tribune. Lieutenant General Grant arrived in the city yesterday, and took rooms at the Mecity yesierusy, and took rooms at the Metropolitan Hotel. In the evening he dined with about 100 members of the Union Club, at their rooms, on the corner of Twenty-first street and Fifth avenue. The dinner was strictly private, and was given by the was strictly private, and was given by the Club as a personal compliment to the General. This evening a reception will take place at the Union League club rooms, on Seventieth street near Broadway, which will probably be worthy both of the club and the distinguished continues. and the distinguished gentleman in whose honor it is given.

This will not only be an appropriate cele bration of the anniversary of the birth of Washington, and a tribute to the hero of Richmond, but it will also be made to serve the purpose of furnishing an opportunity to thirty of our more prominent citizens to present to Gen. Grant, Page's well-known portrait of Gen. Scott, which they some time since purchased with that intention. The preparations for the reception are not yet complete, but, the Club have already suc ceeded in transforming the chaos of yesterday into the miniature paradise of to-day.

The garden formerly belonging to the Club House has been made the site of the new reception hall. The room is about 70 feet in length by 50 in width, with a ceiling 20 feet high. It has been erected during the past week, and yet it does not bear the appearance of any haste, either in design or execution. The walls are covered with muslin and ornamented with stars of gold. For a seiling, the national colors of red, white and blue have been folded lovingly together, radiating from the centre in all directions, and also studded with stars. In the middle of the floor there is a fountain with numerous jets of water that play about a delicate glass representation of the Temple of Liberty. The base of this temple is surrounded with jets of gas, which throw upon the water a brilliant light and make the falling drops to imitate a shower of diamonds.

The fountain is surrounded by an ovalshaped railing, covered with evergreens and enclosing shrub, and flowers and orange trees whose fragrant blossoms per-fume the air and suggest the palace unto which, "could Love fulfil its prayer," the peasant would have led the haughty Deschappelles. Over the fountain is suspended a basket of flowers. The room is lighted by eight chandeliers connected by a continuous wreath of flowers, which makes a canopy of beautiful colors and delicious odors. The walls are decorated with mirrors, festoons of the national colors and bronze statuettes At the north end of the room a platform raised a few inches above the floor has been provided for General Grant and the officers f the Club, and over this hangs the portrait of General Scott.

At the other end of the Reception Hall is a staircase, leading to the drawing rooms and furnishing at the top a balcony for one of the bands of music, which will be present upon the occasion. Beneath this balcony a platform has been raised for the other The floor will be carpeted and will be used after the presentation for dancing purpose, if the guests feel disposed to devote themselves and the time to that amuse ment. Guests will enter from Union Square.

The apartments on each side of the hall hrve been set apart for dressing-rooms.
The staircase which has a double flight from the first floor to the reception-room, is ornamented with flags and shields bearing the names of all the great battles in which our armies were engaged, from Shiloh down to that which gave us Richmond. The drawing-rooms, the library and reading room and the cabinet have been decorated for the occasion, while the third floor has been prepared for the supper-rooms. Thus it will be seen, that in every part the rangements have been complete, and that guests, from the moment of entering, at every step, will find something to gratify both taste and sense.

Gen. Grant will be introduced to the company at about 8½ o'clock by one of the offi-cers of the Club. If he has changed his habit in this respect, or if he has contracted a new one—neither of which is at all likely, by the way—he will probably make a speech. A letter presenting him with the portrait of Gen. Scott will then be handed to him, and he will read his reply. The supper rooms will then be thrown open, and if any introductions be deemed neces sary or proper, they will then take place. Those who desire to dance will have an opportunity. The entire building will be open to the guests, and the entertainment relieved as much as possible of that frigid formality which usually makes affairs of this bird ten prescript to be to tall agreedy formality which usually makes affairs of this kind too unsocial to be at all agreeable. Each member of the Club—800 in num-ber—has been presented with a ticket which will admit only himself. There will, therefore, be no sale of tickets save for the admission of ladies, and these only to mem-bers. The more distinguished military and naval officers of the city, including Admiral Farragut, Gen. Hooker, and others have been invited, and have returned replies of acceptance. The Lieutenant General, we are informed, has expressed his determina-tion to spend the entire evening with the Club, notwithstanding the numerous invi-tations he has received to other places, A crush under the circumstances cannot take place; for if every ticket-holderis improbable—should purchase a ladies ticket, the whole number of guests will not exceed 1.600. for which number there is ample space. The reception promises to be one of the most enjoyable of the season, and besides this it will doubtless be one of the most magnificent.

Gen. Grant paid a visit yesterday to Gurant pai ney's Gallery, No. 707 Broadway, and while there the General had five negatives taken of him, from one of which Messrs. Gurney & Son propose making a life-size portrait in oil, as a "pendant" to the one taken last Evacuation Day of Gen. Scott and painted by Constant Marger. by Constant Mayer.

FAST YOUTHS.—Wm. Henry Lynch Frank Ribant and Francis H. Lane, youths of 15 and 16, were before Alderman Beitler yesterday afternoon, charged with having forged the name of John B. Montgomery to five checks on the Western Bank, one for $153, one for $150, one for $40, one for $110 and another for $136, making a total of $599. Detective Franklin was notified of the forgeries and he succeeded in arresting Lynch, who had collected the money on the last check. The defendant acknowledged to have been implicated in the forgery, and also informed Franklin of the guilt of the other named lads. It seems that Lane was employed in Mr. Samuel's office, on South Fifth street, which communicates with Mr. Montgomery's office. Only a small amount of money has been recovered. The juveniles bought watches, hired carriages, dc., and spent the money recklessly. They were committed to answer.

intionary aspirants who systematically fired the Southern heart:"

"Our Glorious Future."—We see it occasionally in the papers that Howell Cobb and sionally in the papers that flowell Cobb and Joseph E. Brown speak in glowing terms of our "glorious future." Now, if we are going to have such a "glorious future" with the abolition of slavery, why did Cobb and Brown plunge us into such a bloody war to attain this abolition when we might have had it without any war at all?

FRANKLIN INSTITUTE. - The regular monthly meeting of the Franklin Institute was held as usual last evening. After the ordinary business, an ingenious piece of mechanism devised by Mr. J. Moore, for the purpose of illustrating various astronomical phenomena, such as the change of seasons, the moon's phases, eclipses, precession of the equinoxes, &c., was exhibited and explained by that gentleman. The report of the resident segretary Professor report of the resident secretary, Professor Morton, was then read, in which reference was made among other interesting matters to the fact that two hundred and fifty tons of Bessemer steel had been cast in a single block at the works of Messrs. Ireland & Son; that F. H. Wenham, Esq., by a series of microscopical examinations with the use of polarized light, had thoroughly studied the action of various hard bodies on glass, explaining why tubes after being cleaned interiorly were apt to break and how that disaster was to be avoided. A large set of Geissler tubes, imported by Messrs. Queen & Co., were then exhibited These are glass tubes of various beautiful and complicated forms, containing rarified gases, as well as solid and liquid bodies of different characters. When the discharge from a powerful electric apparatus is passed through them, they develop colored ights in a most wonderful and beautiful Thus some of these contained in large globes lily shaped flower cups of luminous emerald, over which poured a flood of purple fire. Others showed a flood of purple fire. Others showed serpents, scrolls, and twisted figures of variegated light, while others contained white powders, which, after being exposed for a moment to the electric ash, continued to glow for some minutes, or, as it were, to reverberate red, yellow, blue and green light. A little box imported by the same firm, and costing but $18, was also exhibited, which contained a little set of these tubes, a Ruhmkorff coil to operate them, as well as a galvanic battery required for the coil.

The process for preparing Schultze's white gunpowder was also given, this being a sort of gun cotton from wood. In connection with this were shown some little sheets of paper, prepared in like manner, which ignited and thrown into the air, burn with a brilliant colored light, without smoke or sh, so that they may be used with safety and convenience in any room. These were presented by Messrs. Queen and Co. Many other interesting subjects were discussed, but our limits prohibit further description. These meetings of the Institute are always full of interest and of valuable information, and no one interested in science should fail to attend them.

PRESS CLUB OF PHILADELPHIA.-This organization held a stated meeting yesterlay afternoon, at its rooms, No. 51 nut street, Vice President Chas. C. Wilson, in the Chair. Mr. William H. Cunnington, of the Inquirer, read an interesting essay. He was an army correspondent, and a companied the Army of the Potomac in a portion of its last campaign. In his essay he detailed the trials and tribulations of army correspondents, how they lived, and the modes adopted for the early transmission of the intelligence of battles and other important events. The life of an army correspondent was varied. While the army was in camp things went on smoothly Comfortable quarters and good meals could be had at or near headquarters. When the army was on the march, there were various difficulties to encounter. The correspondents frequently passed a whole day with-out anything to eat, and at night were compelled to lie out on the ground among the privates, begging a cup of coffee from piece of bacon from another, and a hard cracker from a third, to partly appease their hunger. Sometimes, by means of a great deal of smooth talk, lodgings would be obtained in some farm house, but the poor correspondent would be informed, about the was retiring, that it was probab that the rebels would be in possession of that section of the country before morning. When the army was cut loose from its base, the correspondents had great difficulty in getting their letters through, and many perilous journeys, in which the danger of encountering guerillas was great, were made. Mr. Cunnington related several in-cidents of his experience, and his essay was highly interesting.

The usual discussion followed the reading of the essay.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES .- The commencement exercises of the Mt. Vernon Grammar School took place yesterday after-noon at the school house, Catharine street, above Third. A large number of parents of pupils and friends of education were present. pupils and friends of education were present. The singing of the pupils, under the charge of Mr. Bower, was beautiful. Several recitations by pupils, prepared by Miss Murdoch, were received by the audience with marked satisfaction. The awarding of "Distinguished" and "Meritorious" certificates to those who had been recently ademitted to the High Schools and to the safe. mitted to the High Schools, and to those of the schools who had been promoted from subordinate divisions with very high aver-ages gratified every one present. The boys subordinate divisions with very high averages gratified every one present. The boys presented to their teacher, Mr. Schock, several pieces of silver-ware, which he gracefully received, and in reply made a neat speech. The girls presented to their teacher, Mrs. McManus, a set of dinner castors, which was received in her behalf by the former Principal of the boy's department, who called attention to the brilliant results achieved by this lady, her class being the largest admitted at the recent High School examination. The whole affair was creditable to all concerned.

GENERAL SCHURZ ON "THE PROBLEM OF THE DAY."—The lecture to be delivered at Concert Hall this evening, by General Carl Schurz, will no doubt be one of marked ability: Being a close observer, deep thinker and a bold and independent advocate of human rights, irrespective of race or color, he will doubtless present his views in the most vivid light. The Social, Civil and Statistical Association could scarcely have found a more able and earnest advocate in the cause of impartial liberty than General Carl Schurz, and there is no room to doubt that he will have a full house. This course of lectures thus far, in point of numbers and interest, has been highly successful; and it bids fair to continue so. The season tickets for the four remaining lectures in GENERAL SCHURZ ON "THE PROBLEM ttckets for the four remaining lectures in the course have been put down to $1; single admission,35 cents. In addition to the eminent speakers engaged in this course, the Black Swan, with her very rare musical powers, adds no small share of interest to he entertainments.

AMUSEMENTS. THE ARCH.—It was a refreshing thing to sit in the Arch last evening, notwithstanding the vast crowd, and enjoyed the five acts which constitute "Sam." The play is worthy of Boucicault and is somewhat in his style, there not being much originality, but a great deal of tact displayed in its concoction. The plot is ingenious and capitally worked out, while nearly every one of the dramatis personæ has a good 'character-part.'' Chanfrau's Sam is as perfect a deineation of a certain class of people whom one meets constantly "in society" as can be imagined. Parsloe's Dick Jenkinsini might have been imported from any circus, after having gone through a Turkish bath to cleanse him from the grosser smack of the saw-dust ring. Miss Logan, whose power as an actress we have always doubted, displayed spirit, piquancy and good taste in her personation of the Honorable Miss Laura Roslyn. The stock company was ably represented, Messrs. Marlowe and Mackay having good parts and doing them excellently, as did Mrs. Thayer. The scenery was of course excellent and appropriate, as it always is at Mrs. Drew's charming theatre, and Mr. Dodworth's music was much better than it has been on certain occasions we could mention. will be the attraction at the Arch for some time to come. To-morrow Mr. Chanfrau takes a benefit

THE CHESTNUT,-"The Ice Witch" will be played this afternoon and this evening. It is drawing immense houses.

THE WALNUT.—Patriotism will be combined with fun at the Walnut to-night. Clarke appears in "The Sentry of the Night" and in "Babes in the Wood." There will be a grand patriotic tableau and song, and the entertainment will wind up with "The Lonely Man of the Ocean." To-morrow Clarke takes his benefit, when a new comedy will be presented. GROVER'S OPERATIC FAREWELL.-The Friendly element which is so evenly dif-fused through Philadelphia society prevents, we are glad to say, any one of us having a particularly "savage breast;" but even if any of us had, the music which Mr. Grover promises us would have sufficient "charms to soothe" it. When it is remembered that all the new and old attractions are to be compressed into a season of ten nights, the old adage that the best goods ome in the smallest bundles will recur. Mr. Grover has wrapped up an immen number of operatic valuables in the small space of a fortnight. The scene at Trump-ler's, Seventh and Chestnut, where the sale of tickets is progressing, is extremely animated.

MR. S. K. MURDOCH'S READINGS.-This evening at Assembly Building Mr. S. K. Lurdoch gives his patriotic readings, and the Peak Family will also give a delightful entertainment in the same connection. The regramme will be found in our advertising olumns. Signor BLITZ has day and evening per-rmances to-day. THE AMERICAN THEATRE has a lively oliday programme for this evening. SANFORD, the Ethiopian, is at home, and ve hear that a testimonial is now being got o for him to come off at one of our theatres hortly. We anticipate a splendid testimo-ial for this veteran minstrel manager.
