Tennessee Union Convention.

NASHVILLE, Feb. 22,-The Union State Convention selected the Hon. Henry Cooper as President. A committee of ten reported resolutions substantially as follows:

Resolved, That the people of Tennessee, excluded from the benefits of the Union upon the unfounded assumption that they are not sufficiently loyal to be admitted to representation in Congress, the delegates to this Convention claiming to be loyal men, place upon record their united testimony against the truth of this imputation of disloyalty made against the people of this State. Upon the surrender of the Southern armies Tennessee accepted the result as a conclusive settlement of the issues involved in the war, the Southern soldiers acknowledged their defeat by laying down their arms and pledged themselves to renounce the conflict and returned to their peaceful avocations and have been distinguished therein by zeal and energy. The delegates to the convention affirm that the people were never more sincerely anxious for the preservation of good order and the restoration of civil law, nor more earnestly united to support and preserve the Constitution and Union against all assaults. They are ready now as in by gone days, or as the people of any other State, to pledge their lives, fortunes and sacred honors in defence of the Constitution and Union. They recognize the late amendment prohibiting involuntary servitude as part of the Constitution, and will give that clause an honest and sincere support. They are prepared to aid in affording to freed persons of color such protection as shall secure to them all the blessings of freedom, and of conceding to them all civil and political rights compatible with the best interests of both races, insisting, however, that this subject belongs exclusively the people of the State, and that the same has not been transferred to Congress by the amendment. They are satisfied that the relations between the two races will be established upon principles of justice mutually beneficial and satisfactory when the extraneous influences are withdrawn. That the States declared to be in rebellion by reason of the war did not cease to be States, and are integral parts of the Union; that the citizens thereof have the right to elect representatives to Congress, and Congress cannot legally exclude them, and each House has the right to decide upon the qualifications of its members: that the people of the respective States have the right to regulate their domestic affairs while con-sistent with the Constitution. We oppose suffrage upon the South, as such policy tends to widen the breach between the North and the South and injures the negro.

That we are opposed to interference with the Constitution at the present time, it being nawise to endeavor to change the fundamental law in the midst of high excitement, and not magnanimous to do so when States have no representation in Congress. They favor the guarantee of the payment of the public debt incurred for the maintenance of the Covernment and the predon and protection and endorse the policy of the President, and especially his recent message relative to the Freedmen's Bureau. Mr. Mullin's substitute for the above resolutions were laid on the table, amid enthusiastic applause, and the report of the committee was adopted with vociferous

Government and the pardon and protection of all the inhabitants of the land in the enjoyment of the protection of life, liberty and property. They say that the present administration of the State Government, though informal in its origin, was estab lished under circumstances which justified its creation, and is entitled to recognition and support; that the measures of the General Government should be temperate, tolerant and just to all, and vindictive towards none. Earnestly striving as they are for the early restoration of the people and the State to their normal relations with the Federal Government, that the people thereof should be relieved of the presence of the military authority, we heartily approve cheering. Speeches were made by Putnam, Jones, Stokes and Bryan, Cooper and Campbell. The Convention then adjourned sine die.

After the adjournment ex-Governor Brown addressed the assembly, fully endorsing the proceedings of the Convention. The colored population celebrated the anniversary of the Emancipation proclamation. A large procession of 20,000 colored persons, after parading, were addressed by Governor Brownlow before the Capitol grounds, who congratulated them upon emancipation. Several speeches were made by prominent orators. Everything passed off quietly and with the most decided suc-

Indiana State Union Convention, INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 22.—The State Convention reassembled at 2 o'clock P. M. The Committee on Permanent Organization reported Governor Baker for President of the Convention.

The following ticket was then nominated: D. R. Williamson for Attorney General; L. C. Trusten, Secretary of State; L. B. Mc-Cardy, Auditor; Major-General Nathan Kimball, Treasurer, and F.W. Pass, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Resolutions were adopted declaring full faith in President Johnson and his Cabinet and the Union members of both Houses of Congress, in the sincere desire and determination of all of them to conduct the affairs of the Government in such a manner as to secure the best interests of the whole people. And we hereby declare that we will sustain them in all constitutional efforts to preserve peace and order and a permanent Union. The second resolution declares that in Andrew Johnson we recognize the patriot, true and tried, and will support him in all constitutional efforts to restore authority, law and order among the people of the States lately in rebellion, on the basis of equal justice to all men, and that we pledge | for the present

SECOND EDITION. to the Administration, Executive and Legisative, one united and hearty co-operation in all wise and prudent measures devised for the security of the Government against rebellion and insurrection in time to come and while endorsing the President we express entire confidence in the Union majority of Congress.

Resolved, That it is the province of the legislative branch of the Government to determine the question of reconstruction, and in the exercise of that power Congress should have in view the loyalty of the people of those States and their devotion to the Constitution and obedience to the laws.
Until the people of these States prove themselves loyal to the Government they should not be restored to the rights enjoyed before not be restored to the rights enjoyed belove the rebellion,

Resolved, That no man who voluntarily participated in the rebellion ought to be admitted to a seat in Congress, and, under the Constitution of the United States, the power to determine the qualifications requisite of electors rests with the States respectively.

Resolved That the union of these States Resolved, That the union of these States has not and cannot be dissolved, except by successful revolution.

Resolved, That justice and duta demand an equalization of bounties to our national defenders. After the adoption of the resolutions, the Convention adjourned.

The Celebration at Louisville. Louisville, Feb. 22.-The day was celebrated by a procession of the 2d U.S. Infantry and Soldiers' and Sailors' Union League.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held to night, in honor of the President's veto. Governor Bramlette presided. Speeches were made by the Governor and other distinguished individuals. Resolutions were adopted requesting the withdrawal of the Bureau from the State, pronouncing the bill unconstitutional, expressing kindness to the freedmen, thanking the president for his veto, advocating the right of States to control their own domestic concerns, opposing the distrust of the people expressed through the Legislature, favoring the constitutional rights of States as of paramount importance, and endorsing the sentiments of the President upon representation and taxation.

Accident on the New Jersey Railroad. NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 23d.—The eight o'clock through Washington train on the New Jersey railroad, being detained by fog on the North river, this morning,ran into a wood train which was switching across the track out of time at East Newark. The locomotives were both demolished, and two cars of the Washington train badly smashed. Three brakesmen were seriously injured, one having both legs shockingly jammed, and another, it is feared, is internally injured. The Washington and other trains were delayed for several hours.

From Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23d.—The new steamer Winchester, laden with petroleum and carrying passengers from Parkersburg to this city, took fire about 10 miles above Wellsville, and was entirely destroyed. It is reported that about 20 lives were lost. It is stated that General J. A. Logan telegraphs that he never authorized the use of his name by the Fenian Assembly here. George Francis Train speaks to-night, on the subject of the President's veto and anti-Angloism.

The letter of the Rev. John Curley has created a sensation-the papers of this city commenting favorably on it.

Miles O'Reilly, in his poem, yesterday, "Till the sick senses would refuse, To longer drink the bloody news."

We thought there were only five senses, but Miles makes six. Gen. Grant paid a visit yesterday to Gurney's Gallery, No. 707 Broadway, and while there the General had five negatives taken of him. At thie rate, the General will soon have no noes left.

The Boston Advertiser says: "It appears by official returns, that in the State of New York there are over 70,000 children between the ages of five and twenty-one who do not attend any school." There are more than that many children in Pennsylvania, between eighteen and twenty-one, who not only attend no school, but who have actually constructed in the children and the control of the con ally served in the army.

The 'Tiser likewise remarks: "A subscriber in Boothbay, Maine, in writing to remit for this paper, says 'We cannot keep house without the Advertiser; my family say they wouldn't give it for a cart load of other papers." Lucky for the strength of the compliment, that that town has a th in it., Such a remark from a Boobay wouldn't count for much.

DISCOVERY OF A MAMMOTH CAVE,-The St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald, of the 15th inst., has rather an incredulous story about the discovery of a mammoth cave just above St. Joseph, that is to rival the famous Mammoth Cave in Kentucky. Explorers have it is said, gone through it for a quarter of a mile, passing through tora quarter of a mile, passing through curiously shaped chambers, sounding a bottomless well, listening to a "gurgling" spring, and feasting the eyes upon "pure white stalactites resembling huge icicles," &c. The story has the Munchausen coloring about it, especially as the "precise legation is to be knot a secret?" as the "precise location is to be kept a secret

This was a feigned issue to test the ownership of certain goods, the contents of a store at Nineteenth and Brown streets, which were levied on by the Sheriff as the property of one Edward North, under an execution of defendant, but which were claimed by the plaintiff as but which were claimed by the plaintiff as his property. From the evidence it appears that the plaintiff was originally the pro-rietor of the store, but sold it to North for $4,000, of which $1,000 was to be paid in cash, and an approved note, with endorsement given for the balance. The cash was paid and the note given, and as security for its payment Keenan was to retain the bill of sale. In the event of its not being noid at maturity it was agreed that ing paid at maturity it was agreed that Keenan should resume possession of the store and goods. Under this sale North went into possession and bought and sold goods there. The note was not paid when it fell due, and Keenan then retook the possession of the store, but in the meantime the defendant had obtained judgment against North. On a judgmentan execution was issued and the goods levied on, it being claimed that they were liable to the execu-tion of his creditor. Jury out. The Commercial National Bank vs. Wayne The Commercial National Bank vs. Wayne and others. Before reported. Verdict for plaintiffs in each case for $5,240 66$.

The Air Line Railroad.

From Washington.

[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] Washington, Feb. 23.—The bank Presidents, who are here to remonstrate with Secretary McCulloch against the decision of United States Treasurer Spinner, in taxing banks on daily gross receipts, without deducting daily payments, had an interview with the Secretary to-day. · Having submitted their objections, he informed them that he would give the matter careful examination and would notify them of his decision at an early day.

Nothing is talked of to-day but the President's speech. The Republicans say but little. They have called a caucus of Senators and members of Congress for tonight, for the purpose of determining their line of policy. Secretary Seward's speech in New York is looked for with interest. The Ways and Means Committee have received the reports of sub-committees on the Tax Commissioners' report; they will adopt hardly any of their suggestions. The Special Committee on the Air Line Railroad to New York will probably not agree upon any of the schemes before them.
