ROGERS.

New Jersey has never borne the reputation of being a particularly mirthful State. There is not much fun in her pine swamps, nor is her sandy soil prolific of humor; the mosquitoes along her somewhat extended sea and bay-coast are rather sharp customers to deal with, and her semi-marine landlords, all the way from Long Branch to Cape May, have always been more remarkable for a propensity to imitate the musical insects just named, by bleeding the rest of mankind, than for any extraordinary fondness for mirthfulness. In our own boyish days Camden and its surroundings used to be considered the abiding place of about as sharp a set of blades as could be found anywhere outside of a cutler's shop, and if a Philadelphian was caught among them, and escaped "skinning," his reputation was established for life. Camden was noted of yore, when it was a village, more, vastly more, for its sharp management in the way of taking in and doing for strangers than for any particularly unctuous humor on the part of its destroy the nation that slavery might prosper. Hear him upon this point-"He was willing to trust the southern States. He believed that the masses of the people of those States, when they were fighting against the flag of the country, were moved by high and conscientious convictions. In the spirit of Christianity, in the spirit which Jesus Christ exercised when he gave up his own life as a propitiation for a fallen world, he was willing to invite the Southern men to come back into the halls of Congress, to participate in the passage of laws to govern the four millions of people who have been rebabilitated within their lines." The fun ceases here, and Mr. Rogers, from being absurd, becomes blasphemous. A certain illustrious citizen of a slave State, in writing upon slavery, many years ago, declared that he "trembled for his country when he re-flected that God was just," and that in the event of a struggle between freedom many years ago, declared that he the event of a struggle between freedom and slavery there was no attribute of Deity to side with the latter. This poor behind-the-age Jerseyman takes the op-iriends. At last, however, both gentlemen posite ground and we scarcely know whether most to laugh at his absurdity or to frown upon his blasphemy. Mr. Rogers is a donkey, and a very spiteful and malignant one into the bargain.

It was, of course, impossible that many of them could hear a word that the speakers uttered, yet they stood there patiently for many hours. Shortly atter 2 30 o'clock, Judge Connolly again called the meeting to order, and said that he had been requested to preside. He then made a tew remarks, and concluded by saying that if every man present would contribute $5 to the cause, the aggregate sum would be sufficient to purchase and equip a privateer. Fenian bonds, he said, were for sale in the Committee-room at the hotel. The Judge then introduced as the first speaker Col. John O'Mahony. The Colonel, on coming forward, was welcomed with a deafening roar of applause. He spoke as follows: Fellow Citizens and Brother Fenians: This is to me a proud yet painful moment. It is proud because I see around me so many irish and American sympathizers here to testify their approval of the course that James Stephens and myself have pursued in building up the Fenian organization. It is a painful moment because I know the urgent necessity of the Brotherhood of means o carry on the war for Irish independence; but I know the generous enthusiasm that animates you, and that those means will be forthcoming promptly. There is now, gen-tlemen, in Ireland an organized Fenian army, notwithstanding the doubts expressed of its existence, officered by veterans who have won their laurels in putting down the rebellion in this country. Resolved, First-We citizens of the United States, native and adopted, hereby tender our heartfelt sympathies to the struggling patriots of Ireland and assure them that they shall from time to time receive from us encouraging words and the sinews of defence to the very extent of our ability. Second-That the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus in Ireland by the Parliament and Crown of England is ipso facto an ac-knowledgment that Ireland is in a state of war, and by all the rules of civilized war fare entitled to the rights of bedigerent Larties.

Third-Accepting these facts as true, we therefore request our Government to ac-knowledge the Irish Republic to be entitled to such rights as belong to belligerents, and that without delay. Fourth—That to James Stephens, the Cen-tre Executive of the Irish Republic, and John O Mahony, the agent of the Irish Re-public in America, we tender our sincere withes that their hones and arbition to face wishes that their hopes and ambition to free their native land from the thraidom of Eng-land may be happily and speedily realized. Fifth—That all moneys collected for the assistance of Ireland be immediately sent to the headquarters of the legitimate organiza-tion of the F. B. in America, of which John O'Mahony is the Head Centre, to be by him forwarded to John Mitchell, in Paris, that such moneys may be applied directly to the cause of Ireland, and not diverted to any other point or any other purpose. Sixth—That as England assumes the right, by virtue of might, to declare war against the Irish people, we, citizens of the United States, reiterate our right to declare our sympathy and support to the cause of Irish nationality, and say God speed to the patriots, and long live the Irish Republic. SUICIDE AT CHICAGO.—Says a Chicago despatch: Coroner Wagner held an inquest on the body of a man named William Thompson, aged sixty-five years, who lived in a room at the rear of 153 Huron street. About three weeks ago he married a woman thirty years his junior, and ever since he has been jealous of her. Last night, after both had gone to bed, the neighbors heard an altercation going on between them, he, as usual, making awful threats. The wife was heard to get out of bed, rush to a window and scream for help. He, in the meantime, seized a loaded musket, and putting the muzzle to his chest, discharged the contents, the ball passing through him and lodging in the outer wall of the house. Verdict-suicide.

UNION STATE CONVENTION.

A Stated Convention will be held in the Hall of the House of Representatives, in Harrisburg, Pa., on WEDNESDAY, THE SEVENTH DAY OF MARCH, A. D. 1866, at 12 o'clock. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported by the friends of the Union.

The ordeal of war has tried the strength of our Government. Its fire has purified the nation. The defence of the nation's life has demonstrated who were its friends. The principles vindicated in the field must be preserved in the councils of the nation. The arch-enemy of freedom must be struck once more. All the friends of our Government and all who were loyal to the cause of the Union in our late struggle are earnestly requested to unite in sending delegates to represent them in said Convention. The multitude within the grounds was probably greatest at about 3 o'clock in the atternoon, for about that hour portentous storm-clouds overcast the sky, and a few shimmering snow-flakes spoke volumes of warning; while to the people from the remote districts of Brooklyn and New Jersey and from Westchester county the immense tide of humanity that continued to pour into the park suggested the necessity of making an early exit. To tarry was, with thsm, manifestly to take their choice of walking home,or of waiting until a late hour of night to find even standing room in the cars; and hence, after they had looked upon the immense gathering as it appeared from the crest of the hill overlooking the park play-grounds, they turned their footsteps homeward. The Colonel then introduced as the next speaker, Capt. John McCafferty, special en-voy from Head Centre Stephens, and the bearer of important despatches. Capt. McCafferty reiterated the assurances made by the previous speaker in regard to the Fenian army, and said that the persons who had turned informers were allowed to go about Dublin unmolested by order of James Stephens, thus showing that the Fe-nian organization was under perfect discipline. Money, he said, was now the only thing wanting to enable the army to strike a blow at the Sassenach from which he could never recover. If the 200,000 people present would only contribute one dollar each, a great impetus might be given to the cause Mr. B. Doran Killian was the next speaker. He said that those who pronounce the Fenian cause unfit for advocacy on this day, belie the Irish soldiers and Irish martyrs. O'Toole, who wore the mitre and bore the crozier, thought the cause a holy cause, and fit for advocacy on any day; his patrotism was not controlled by the days of the week. You have your Sunday pic-nics. and let me tell you they are not better than Sunday mass meetings. There is no more sin in meeting in Jones s Woods than in any other place. If the recording angel should be disposed to place this meeting among the lists of our sins, our martyrs will intercede for us, and efface it from the record. If we want an example for such meetings as these we can find it in the practice of our right reverend friend. In referring to the object of the meeting he said that Ireland was up already; the days of caucuses had passed, and she had the helmet on her head. Half the honor belongs to the English Government, who had urged forward the movement by sus pending the habeas borphs. Referring to Canada, he said we will take nothing that is not our own, but our own we will have. Let Canada alone; we would not take her in we could, which we could'nt. But we don't want her, and no Irishman would consider a thousand acres of land on the banks of imprisonment of four months, he was duly and adopted: Resolved,, That whilst we respect the opinions of Sabbatarians, we hold for our-selves that patriotism is one of the Christian virtues, and that it calls for equalobligations every day of the week.

Geo. F. Train, Esq., followed in a characteristic speech, soon after which the meeting broke up with any number of cheers for the Irish Republic.

At the lesser stands, at each of which wa a fine band of music, the speakers were Messrs. William E. Robinson, (Richelieu;) Jeremiah Kavanagh, of California; George Francis Train, of Omaha; James Gallagher of Albany: Andrew Wynne, of Philadel phia; James McDermott, of the Fenian headquarters: Colonel Murray and General B. F. Mullen, of the First Artillery; J. J Rogers and others. The resolutions and speeches were almost identical with those bich were uttered from the main rostrum, and the sentiment of the multitudes was that of the speakers. At every stand a Fenian broker was stationed with lots of $10 and $20 bonds of the Irish Republic, but the sale of these wares was quite languid.

The Fenians in Troy. TROY, Sunday, March 4.--The largest and most enthusiastic Fenian meeting ever held in this city took place this afternoon, one of the largest halls being crowded to suffocation, the object being to secure subscriptions to the Irish loan. Addresses were delivered by Hon. Thos. B. Carroll, of this city, and Robert Crane, of New York, an Irish patriot of 1848. Their sentiments were that money was wanting. Both speakers were sanguine of aid from Napoleon and Russia. Large subscriptions were made to the loan. Ther is great excitement among the Irish of the city. Meetings are held nightly. It is ru-mored that large collections of arms and ammunition are made in this city.

The Fenians in Vermont. RIVINGTON, Vt., Sunday, March 4.—The Fenian Brotherhood of this city held a grand and exciting meeting on Saturday evening Speeches were made by the Head Centre the District of Vermont and others. Forty-seven members were added to the roll, and a Sisterhood of twenty-three members formed. Preparations are being made for grand celebration here on St. Patrick's Day. All the Circles in the State are expected to take part in the procession. District Centre Louergan has called a convention of Cen tres, to meet Monday evening, to act upon the news received from Head Centre O'Mahony.

Facts and Fancies. The latest Paris bonnet is smaller than ever, only serving to hide the ears and the top of the head. It would take a pretty big onnet to hide the ears of the inventor of the modern fashion.

Philadelphia Markets. IONDAY, March 5 .- The downward movement in Gold continues to flatten trade and depress values generally, besides increasing the distrust which already existed as to the stability of present values. There is not much demand for Cloverseed and the sales are only in small lots at $6:66 50 for good and choice qualities. Timothy ranges from $1 to $1 25. Small sales of Flaxseed at $2 75@2 80. The Flour market is extremely quiet, there being very little demand either for shipment or very little demiand either for shipment or home con-sumption. About 800 barre's were disposed of at $3 25 to $9 B barrel for low grade Penna and choice North ... western extra family-including superfine at $6@6 75, extra at $7@7 50, and fancy from $11 to $12 50. Rye Flour is steady at $1 75 and Corn Meal at $1, but there is nothing doing in either. There is no new feature to present in the Wheat marincre is no new feature to present in the Wheat mar-ket and there is no inquiry except for prime lots, of which about soo bushes sold at $25. White ranges from $2 25 to $2 50. Rye is scarce and held at $5 cents. ( Corn is less active. Bales of 2000 bushels yellow, in store, at 75 cents, and 74 cents afloat. Oats are better; 1700 bushels Penna, in the cars, sold at 50 cents. Whisky is very quiet. Small sales of Penna, and Ohio at $2 25G2 $0.
