[Special Despatch to the Bulletin.] WASHINGTON, March 6.—Governor Boutwell, from the Committee on Reconstruction to-day submitted the evidence thus far taken in the States of Georgia, far taken in the States of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas. The most important is the tes-timony of General Thomas, who testified that he had received information from truthful and reliable persons that there are organizations in the South hostile to the Government of the United States. He had promised the parties not to make known their names. It included persons in every State in the South. The evidence was not sufficient to warrant any arrest nor was not sufficient to warrant any arrest, nor did he believe it would be necessary to make any arrest, as the military power was suffi-cient to destroy any such organization, should it attempt any action. General Grierson's testimony is also im-portant. He said there was a manifest desire to involve this country in war with sire to involve this country in war with France, in regard to Mexico. In case of such an event, the people in the South would join hands with the foreign enemy against the United States. He said there were exceptions to this vrule, of course. The testimony is very voluminous and contains a great variety of matter, all of which is important, as bearing upon the condition, of affairs in the several States. It will have a very marked effect in the North, and will strengthen the hands of Congress in the attitude which they assume as regards the disloyalty of the South South.

his amendment, which he did, as follows

And provided further, that no part of the money appropriated by this or any other act, shall be applied to the pay or subsis-tence of any Cadet from any State declared to be in rebellion against the Government of the United States, appointed after the 1st day of January, 1866, until such State shall have been returned to its original relations to the Union under and by virtue of an act or joint resolution of Congress, for that case made and provided. Mr. Blaine (Me.) opposed the amendment, and sent up to the Clerk's desk and had read a substitute which he proposed to offer to the amendment, as follows: That no part of the money hereby appropriated shall be applied to the support or pay of any Cadets hereafter appointed not in conformity with the express provisions of the law regulating appointments of Cadets Mr. Blaine stated that his substitute was

Mr. Blane stated that his substitute was verbatim et literatim taken from the West Point Appropriation bill approved April 30th, 1864, designed to cure the evil of foisting upon Southern districts boys from the Northern States, Thirty-eight or forty Northern boys had been sent to West Point, and colonized as if appointed from the Southern States sent there in vio. from the Southern States, sent there in violation of law. There were no vacancies now for one-third of the Southern Districts. The places had been filled by Northern boys, appointed as if from the South and it would remain filled till 1867 or South and it would remain filed till 180/ or 1868. The President had authority to make ten appointments annually and the adop-tion of this amendment would be saying to the President in substance, tion "We cannot trust you to ap-point a single cadet from the South. If you desired to nominate a son of Governor Brownlow or of John Minor Botts you cannot do it."

This amendment would cut off from the President the power to appoint a boy from the South, even though his father and all his male relations had fallen in the service

His mate relations had failed in the service of the country. He considered the amendment most il-liberal, narrow and prejudicial to every-thing like good feeling. It could only be justified on the ground taken by the gentle-man from Bonsylvenia (M. Stervice) man from Pennsylvania (Mr. Stevens.) hat every person in the eleven States was an alien enemy. Not believing but that a Southern man who had been loyal to the Government was entitled to its protection and patronage, he should vote a most decided negative on the amendment.

most decided negative on the amendment. Mr. Conkling (N. Y.) inquired whether the amendment or the substitute suggested would disturb the boys whom the gentle-man from Maine described as having been

Mr. Blaine—No, sir, neither amendment affects them. My substitute merely pre-vents any further colonization from the North and leaves the question just where the law leaves it to-day.
