News from New Mexico. SAN FRANCISCO, March 7, 1866.—The Flag has advices from Fort Mason, New Mexico. stating that the imperial commander at Magdalena, Sonora, with a band of Indians, seized a freight train belonging to American citizens, and prohibited further transportation by American citizens Col. Lewis, commanding at Fort Luis, has been served with a demand by the imperial commanders for property taken in action by the liberals and sold to American ints. The demand has been sent to headquarters. These orders embolden the imperialists to invade American soil to plunder and murder inoffensive persons. Generals McDowell and Mason refuse to allow Col. Lewis and his men to retaliate.

THE PRESS CLUB.—At the stated meeting of the Press Club of Philadelphia yesterday afternoon an essay was read by Mr. Wm. Anderson, of the Inquirer. His subject was "The Experience of a Philadelphia Naval Correspondent." The essayist gave descriptions of the two attacks on Fort , and spoke of the positions occupied by the correspondents during those memorable engagements, the rivalry between the New Yorkers and Philadelphians, and the modes adopted to get early information North. The reporters were treated with the utmost courtesy by all the naval officers they came in contact with. They were assigned a special vessel in the first tion, but during the engagement they became scattered among the fleet, as vessel was required for other service. correspondents shared the dangers of the gallant officers and sailors, and sometimes made narrow escapes. At one time a Whitworth ball struck the deck of the ves Anderson was standing, knocking him several feet and covering him with splinters. During the fighting the correspondents frequently assisted in minor matters about ship, such as giving signals, passing orders. &c. After the contest the reporters were given accommodations on the despatch boats, and every facility was afforded them tive reports to Washington. Many incidents were given of the trials and dangers passed through by correspondents in going from one vessel to another, and the descriptions of the awkwardness of the inexperienced newspaper men in getting up the sides of sels, compared with the spry move ments of the Jack Tars, were very lively and amusing. The whole essay was highly interesting, and was followed by the usual discussion among the members.

The library of the club, which is the result of voluntary contributions from mem-bers and others, now reaches nearly one theusand volumes. The books are principally such as are useful to the newspaper profession, and some of them are quite rare. New donations are constantly received by the Board of Directors, and the library now being classified, under the personal supervision of Thompson Westcott, Esq. the President of the Board. The latest additions are full sets of the Pennsylvania Archives and the Colonial Records, which were furnished by Wein Forney, Esq., the State Librarian, under the direction of Governor Curtin.

CENTENNARY GELEBRATION.—The local preachers of the M. E. Church held a grand Centennary Celebration in Sansom Street Hall last evening. All the tables were filled at an early hour, and a more intelligent and happy crowd seldom surround the festive board. Supper being ended, to which ample justice had been done, the religious exercises were opened. The Rev. Wm. Rhoads occupied the chair. The 46th

Psalm was read by the Rev. Richard Holt after which the Rev. T. T. Tasker offered prayer. The President of the evening then made an opening address, replete with eloquent passages, which were warmly ap-We regret that our space is so limited that we cannot give the speech to our readers, its beauty would be marred by

An original hymn written for the occasion by Mr. James Nicholson, of Wharton Street Church, was then sung by the vast audience who joined in it in good old fashioned Methodist style.

After this the meeting was thrown open for voluntary speeches of five minutes in length which the still the five minutes in the still the st length, which, said the Chairman, applies to all except to Bishops. Bishop Simpson being present was called out and addressed the audience in an address showing the beauty and usefulness of not only a working ministry but of a working laity.

The Bishop's eloquent address was interrupted with frequent rapturous applause. The hymn, "See how great a flame aspires," &c., was then sung.

After the singing of this hymn the meeting was again thrown open for voluntary speaking, which was continued during the evening, intermingled with occasional sing-ing. This meeting of so influential a body of Christian ministers conducted with so much good judgment and spirit cannot fail ry of Methodism.

Mr. Henry Bickley is the contractor for the district north of Market street, and Messrs. Smith & Hill for the southern district. The con-tracts just made by the Mayor are under authority of a law which limits the sum to be expended to $95,000 per annum for a term of five years, payable monthly in equal portions, after the work is done. GOLD AND SILVER BULLION BRICKS .-Nuggets and ingots of gold are beginning to ome in from the western mines. The superintendents of many companies have ing or bringing on the precious dust, and one can see and feel these convincing arguments that there is money in the gold and silver mining business. Those who would feel it in their pockets must secure a stock interest in some good enterprise of this kind. The North American Mining Company, of fice 327 Walnut street, is undoubtedly a safe and good one in which to embark. This Company has nearly two miles of silver ledges, and will probably be in a dividend-paying condition before next January.
