"The Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost," by Henry Edward, Archbishop of Westminster. D. Appleton & Co., N. Y., 1866." This volume was issued by the firm of D. Appleton & Co., at the same time that it issued Dr. Pusey's "Eirenicon," and is gotten up in the same style. The books go well together, at least for awhile. Dr. Pusey, for a considerable portion of his volume, seeks to prove that the peculiarities of the Roman Church are not so great and so discordant with the doctrines held by the Church of England, as is ordinarily supposed, and Dr. Manning tries, during the whole course of his volume, to establish the claims of the former creed to the acceptance of Protestants. But, Dr. Pusey, in the latter portions of his work, shows most conclusively (so at least the Protestant will think), that the Roman Church has departed from the original and true faith, especially in one point in which Dr. Manning defends her, and hence needs reformation of creed ere she can hope for a restoration of communion. The title of Dr. Manning's volume is at first sight obscure. But he explains it in the progress of his discussion, and we find that the "Temporal Mission of the Holy Ghost" is the phrase by which Catholic writers distinguish between the sending. advent and office of the Holy Ghost, after the day of Pentecost, and the eternal procession of the Spirit from the Father and the Son. It is impossible to read Dr. Manning's book without seeing marks of ability; but at almost every page the Protestant reader will recall facts which seem to him flatly to contradict the premises of the writer, and feel that the author is arguing from data which themselves need to be established The columns of a week-day secular paper ara hardly the place in which such points as this book presents are to be properly handled. We have done all that is required of us in thus stating the general object of the volume, which is for sale by Ashmead &

J. E. Tilton & Co., Boston, have just published a volume that will compel our Whitmans and Vanzants to look to their laurels. The choice confections with which these saccharine artists rejoice the eye and palate have always been wrapped in a certain degree of mystery, so far as the dear public is concerned, and King George's wonder over the apple-dumpling was not greater than has often been excited by the cunning creations of the confectioner. Messrs. Tilton & Co., have lifted the veil and the angels of our household will rush in to study the arcana of that art that appeals to every sweet tooth in the land. The idea of every skilful housekeeper becoming her own confectioner; the thought of domestic sugar-plums and home-made bon-bons: these are tempting indeed. For several years this beautiful volume has been in process of production. New York, Philadelphia, Boston, and all Europe have yielded up their choicest receipts, until jams and jellies, cakes and candies, fruits and flavors, creams and caramels, bon bons and brandy fruits, kisses and compotes, and the whole array of "goodies," become to us, not only in their completeness but also in their elementary forms, familiar as household words. We confess to a curiosity to have this capital domestic manual put to a practical test by our neat-fingered fair friends. The receipts appear to be stated carefully and simply, and there is a commendable caution evinced to prevent the use of materials which have often proved so deleterious in the hands of unscrupulous or ignorant persons. "The Art of Confectionery" is exquisitely gotten up in its mechanical features, and will doubtless meet with a cordial welcome from every enterprising and intelligent housekeeper.

Messrs. Harper & Brothers have just published a volume which will be hailed with deep interest by thousands of American readers. The travels of Dr. Livingstone in Africa have a world-wide renown and everything that concerns this famous explorer is sure of a cordial reception. Since writing his last work on Africa, Dr. Livingstone has spent eight years in the interior of that country, and we have the result of hese later explorations in the handsomet volume now before us. It is entitled "Livingstone's Expedition to The Zambresi," and is a very full report of the state of things in large tracts of country hitherto quite unexplored. Dr. Livingstone, as traveler, philosopher, savant, and Christian missionary, always tells his story with the simplest modesty and the clearest precision, and his narrative carries with it that impress of truthfulness which is so sadly missing in the more sensational productions of Gordon Cumming and Du Chaillu. The light which Dr. Livingstone has so successfully labored to throw upon the inland miseries of African slavery, cannot to tell powerfully upon the action of those civilized nations which still cherish that ancient barbarism. This most interesting book of travels is richly illustrated with original and well-executed engravings, and forms altogether one of the most attractive and valuable works which have issued from the American press for a long time. It is for sale in this city by Peterson & Brothers.

Harper & Brothers have also published the sixth and last volume of Carlyle's "Frederick the Great." Very characteristically, Carlyle completes his history of Frederick in these words:

Frederick in these words:

"I define him to myself as hitherto the Last of the Kings; when the Next will be, is a very long question! But it seems to me as if Nations, probably all Nations, by and by, in their despair—blinded, swallowed like Jonah, in such a whale's belly of things brutish, waste, abominable (for is not Anarchy, or the Rule of what is Baser over what is Nobler, the one life's-misery worth complaining of, and, in fact, the abomination of abominations, springing from and producing all others whatsoever? as if the Nations universally, and England as if the Nations universally, and England too if it hold on, may more and more be-think themselves of such a Man and his Function and Performance, with feelings far other than are possible at present Meanwhile, all I had to say of him is fin ished: that, too, it seems, was a bit of work appointed to bedone. Adieu, good readers; bad also, adieu."

The sixth volume is accompanied by several valuable maps and an engrav-ing of the celebrated picture of Frederick's "Last Review." For sale by Peterson &

"The Song Book;" by John Hullah. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott & Co. London: Macmillan & Co. Probably no one man has ever done so much to popularize music in any country as John Hullah has done in London. His introduction and Anglicizing of Wilhelm's popular system of vocal music have been attended with a success that has made him a National benefacor. What Lowell Mason has been to New England, Hullah has been to Old Hugland in a higher and better degree. The beautiful little volume now before us is a collection of the best standard English, Irish, Scotch and Welsh songs, with their original music, presented in an exquisite boudoir form. The selections have been carefully made and in nearly if not quite every instance, the names of the composers of words and music are given. Mr. Hullah's "Song Book" is a most complete manual of the popular songs of Great Britain, and, as such will possess a wide-spread interest on both sides of the Atlantic.

BERGER'S DEATH WARRANT.—The death BERGER'S DEATH WARRANT.—The death warrant of Christian Berger, convicted of the murder of Miss Mary L. Watts, at Germantown, was read to the condemned man yesterday in his cell in Moyamensing Prison by Sheriff Howell, who was accompanied by J. E. Salter, bis attorney, and W. H. Kern, Esq., ex-Sheriff. When the party entered the cell Berger was standing near the window looking through the bars. He turned around and shook hands with the Sheriff, remarking that he had seen him there once before. Mr. Howell produced the death-warrant, and said:

hefore. Mr. Howell produced the death-warrant, and said.

Mr. Berger, I have come this morning for the purform of the purget of the commonwealth, fixing the time of your execution on the 27th day of April ensuing, between the hours of ten and two o'clock?

The prisoner looked upward and said:

"Yes, I have heard of it; yest rday my father was here, and he communicated the fact to me."

The warrant was then read by Sheriff Howell, in a calm and solemn manner, though with a slightly translous voice. Berger did not seem to be in the least affected—not the slighest emotion was apparent. When the reading was concluded the Sheriff advised the condemnat to prepare to meet his fate. a suring him that he need not entertain any hope of Executive clemency.

him that he need not entertain any hope of Executive clemency.

Berger replied: "My only hope now is in Jesus. My spiritual adviser, the Rev. Mr. hamden, has paid me several visits lately, which I have enjoyed very much."

In reply to a question from Mr. Keru, as to whether he wanted anything, he said that he enjoyed all the comforts he could reasonably expect under the circumstances. The prisoner further remarked that his wife had visited him one day last week for the last time. After some further conversation, Berger shook hands with Messra. Howell and Kern, and was left alone in his cell.

CORONER'S INQUEST.—Coroner Taylor commenced an inquest, yesterday afternoon, upon the body of Mrs. Emetine Schneil The deceased was passing Girard avenue and Vicuna street, on the evening of the 7th. A pistol was fired, and the ball grazed her head, causing a slight wound. Mrs. Schneil died on the 12th, and the attending physician certified that death resulted from a nervous shock. The Coroner was not notified of the case, and the body was taken to Norristown for interment. Yesterday the remains were disinterred, by order of Coroner Taylor, and a post mortem examination was made by Dr. F. B. Shaplelsh who testified that death was caused by congestion and compression of the brain, the result of the bistol shot wound in the back part of the head. The inquest will be resumed on Friday. It is not known who fired the pistol.

A MARVELOUS scientific arrangement to eradicate the most distressing disease, such as Lung, Throat. Ohest Disease, Catarth, Asthma, Deafness, Blindness, and Dyspepsia. Without entering into any detail with regard to the wonderful apparatus. The Atomiser, Constructed by Dr. Von Moschzisker, of 1031 Walmui street we would state that it is oasad on the most scientific principles. There can us no doubt that with it he is enabled to reach the very east of the disease and apply to them such therapeutical means as are most calculated to act benetically and eradicate them. For Lung, Tho at Chest Diseases, Chronic Catarrah, and maladies of the Digestive Organs, its effects are really wonderful. This with the unanimous endorsement of the Faculty and the medical press, proving that it is the only reliable and rational system of treating these diseases. Many ways of inhalation have been flom time to time brought before the Faculty for the special treatment of these diseases, and while all great medical minds have acknowledged that if means could be devised to reach the seat of these diseases by direct application we could overcome the difficulties that have hitherto baffled the professors, "The Atomizer" has alone truly supplied the long-covetedmeans and so realized to the fullest extent the hopes and dreams of medical men who have pondered for years past on the subject.

HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT SARSAPARILLA.

Pure and Healthy Blood Resists Disease.

And whild there may be no occasion for alarm, those of impure blood are most liable to suffer.

IN THE SPRING MONTHS the system neturally undergoes a change, and HELMSOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRAOT OF SARSAPARIL GIVING BLOOM TO THE PALLID CHEEK BEAUTIFYING THE COMPLEXION.

IT ERADICATES ERUPTIVE and ULCERA-TIVE DISEASES of the THEOAT, NOSE, EYES, EYELIDS, SCALP and SKIN, which so disfigure the appearance, PURGING the evil effects of mercury and removing all taints, the remnants of DISEASES hereditary or otherwise, and is taken by ADULTS and CHILDREN with perfect SAFETY.

NOT A FEW of the worst disorders that affect mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect Helmbold's Compound Extract of Sarssparilla. It cleanses and renovates the blood, instils the vigor of health into the system; and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the blood.

Scrofulous, mercurial and syphilitic diseases destroy whatever part they may attack. Thousands die annually from protracted diseases of this class, and from the abuse of mercury. Visit any Lospital, asylum and prisons, and satisty yourself of the truthfulness of the assertion. The system best resists the inroads of these diseases by a indictions combination of Tonica.

ineases by a judicious combination of Tonica HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRAOT SARSAPARILLA Is a Tonic of the greatest value-arresting the medinversale disease after the glands are destroyed, and the bones already affected. This is the testimony of thousands who have used and prescribed it for the

AN INTERESTING LETTER is published in the Medico-Chirurgical Review, on the subject of the extract of carasparilla in veneral affections, by Benjamin Travers, F. R. S., &c. Speaking of Syphilis, and diseases arising from the excess of mercury, he states, "That noremedy it equal to the extract of Surasparilla; its proper is extraordinary, more so than any other drug I am acquainted with. It is in the structural same a tonic with this medicable, attribute, that it is applicable to a state of the system so sunken and yet so irritable carrenders other substances of the tonic class unavailable or injurious.

TWO TABLESPOONFULS of the Extract of Sar-saperilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sariaparilla, or the decoction as usually of the Syrupo i Sarsapariis, or the decection as a stain made.

The decoction is exceeding troublesome, as it is necessary to prepare it fresh every day, and the syrup is still more objectionable as it is weaker than the decoction; for a finid saturated with sugar is susceptible of holding is solution much less extractive matter than water alone, and the syrup is otherwise objectionable, for the patient is frequently nauseated, and his stomach surfeited by the large preportion of sugar he is obliged to take with each dose of Sarsaparilla, and which is of no use whatever, except to keep the decoction from spoiling. Here the advantages and superiority of the Fluid Extract in a comparative view are strikingly manifest.
