Pennsylvania Legislature. CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

SENATE.—The following bills passed:— One incorporating the Pennsylvania Tea Company; another incorporating the Girard House Hotel Company; another allowing the Southern Pennsylvania Railroad to build from Pittsburgh to Connellsville; another taxing the stock of the Catawissa Railroad; another revising the charter of the New Hope and Norristown Railroad.

Adjourned.

House.—The following bills passed:
Allowing the Apprentices! Library Company to fix their quorum. Reorganizing the Pennsylvania Steel Company. Incorporating the Crescent Library. Allowing Frankford and Holmesburg Railroad Company to extend their track to connect with the Philadelphia and Trenton Railroad Company.

Afternoon Session.—An act incorporating the Union Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Northampton was considered. Its pas-sage was urged by Messrs, Quay, Shenk, Thomas and other Republicans in behalf of the Republican caucus, which had pre-viously agreed to sustain the present bill, on the grounds that an existing insurance company in the same county, and which was opposing this bill, had refused during the war to allow any local managers to remain in office. For this reason the Republicans of Northampton had decided to form a new company, and asked the incorporation of the Union Mutual Company. On the other hand Messrs. Myers, Donnelly and other Democrats denied that there were any politics in the matter. The new bill passed to a third reading.

An act to authorize the North Pennsylvania Railroad to borrow money was passed. The General appropriation bill was discussed, and the following items agreed to by the House, viz: The Governor's salary, $4,000; Secretary of Commonwealth, $2,000; Attorney General, $3,000; Auditor General, $2,000; Surveyor General, $1,600; State Treasurer, $1,700; Superintendent of Schools, $1,800. For Soldiers' Orphan Schools, $250, 5000: For Soliders Orphan Schools, $255,000; Judges of Supreme Court, $5,500 each; Salaries of Judges of District Court and Common Pleas, $5,000 each. Efforts were made by country members to revise this, but Messrs. Quay, Ruddiman, Thomas and Davies insisted on $5,000, which was finally agreed to. During the discussion of the South Street Railway supplement, Mr. J. T. Thomas moved an amendment requiring the company to carry passengers through to Gray's Ferry without change of cars and for but one fare. This amendment was lost. Philadelphia members voting yea were Messrs. Adair, Freeborn, Gheghan, Kerns, Quigley, Ruddiman, Sterner, Subers, Thomas and Wallace. Those voting nay were DeHaven, Donnelly, Hood, Lee, Marks and Watt. Absent, Davis and Josephs.
