Dr. Thomas W. Evans, of Paris, France, sends us the following Circular; to which we would call the attention of our readers "Penetrated with the idea that the Sani tary Commission of the United States, by mitigating the horrors of war, had resolved one of the most urgent questions of modern times, I was one of the first persons in Europe who endeavored to acquaint the public with the organization and the results of that admirable institution. I first published a book (La Commission Sanitaire, son origine son organization et ses résultats), in which I conscientiously exposed the efforts and the final success of the Sanitary Commission during the gigantic struggle that the United States sustained with unabated courage. Afterwards appeared my French transla-

CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

House.—A bill has passed the house providing for an additional Associate Law

Judge of the Court of Common Pleas for the

A RESOLUTE AND PERSISTENT WOMAN.— The Wheeling (West Virginia) Inteligencer, ago, a young man of finished education and polished manners "wooed and won" the hand and heart of a daughter of a neighbor. Possessed of the girl's affections, under the promise of marriage, the young man worked the ruin of the girl, after which he informed her, in the most heartless manner, that his object having been gained, he would now leave his victim to he scorn of the world and seek his fortune in the far West. He went. The girl followed, and for nine years she kept on his trail, overtaking him but once, in California, where he again fled from her. Eventually he believed her dead, and came back to his native place, dead, and came back to his native place, Judge of his surprise, and of that of the whole community, when he was followed in a short time by the supposed dead girl, who was accompanied by a bright haired girl of some nine years of age. Confronted with the charge of his wrong and deception, and the strong arm of the law having been interested the between was compalled to make voked, the betrayer was compelled to make restitution as much as possible by marrying the girl whom he had so terribly wronged and who had followed him half across continent. The parties are now living as man and wife at the scene of their former

CONDITION OF DRURY LANE THEATRE. Saturday the annual general meeting of the proprietors of the Drury Lane theatre company took place in the saloon of the Theatre Royal. The secretary read the report of the committee. The receipts for the year, including the balance of £1,334 5s. 3d. on the 31st of December, 1864, amount to £9,475 2s. 1d.; the payments amount to £8,356 13s. 7d.; leaving a balance of £1,121 8s. 6d. The receipts comprise the sum of £9,000 from the lessee on rent account for the theatre, and a further sum of £115 for extra performances during the season of 1864-5. The payments comprise the sum of £1,330 17s. 3d, for four quarters' rent to the Duke of Bedford, and £511 12s. for rates and taxes; £2,100 have been paid to the Trustees of the new renters, and all the current expenses have been paid up to Christmas last. The committee refer with pleasure to the continued success of the lessee and the future prospects of the theatre,—London Star.

EFFECTS OF WINE ON DISEASE.-Dr. Gale observes, in his treatise on disease, that the great use of wine in France is supposed to have abated the prevalence of the gravel. In the French colonies, where pure wine is more used than in the English, as well as in Turkey, where Samburg port wine is the principal beverage, not only the gravel are scarcely known. gout but the gravel are scarcely known.
Dr. La Pote relates, as an extraordinary instance of the effects of the Samburg port wine on gout, the case of Dr. Daveran, who was attacked with the gout at the age of 25. and had it severely until he was upwards of 50, with chalk-stones in the joints of his hands and feet, but for four years preceding the time when his case had been given to Dr. La Pote to lay before the public, he had by advice used Samburg port wine, and had no return of the gout afterward.—Lon-

A MYSTERY SOLVED .- A friend informs us, says the Charleston News, that he hired a smart intelligent boy some time ago as house servant, and the bey served him faithfully for a very moderate compensation Our friend was, however, uneasy in mind on one point—the boy dressed much better than his employer, and it was impossible to understand whence the cash came to pur-chase the fine clothes he wore. Visions of missing table spoons, or something of a similar nature, arose painfully in his disturbed mind, and he determined to question the mysterious colored dandy as to how the thing was done. This question was satisfactorily answered thus: "I plays high low-jack wid a party dat don't understand the MONTANA.—If the Spaniards had discovered it, they would have called it El Dorado—the land of gold. If the Puritans had found it, they would have called it Ophir, because "the spall of that land is good." The western Yarkee came upon it, and seeing the Rocky Mountains running through it, called it Montana.

This new territory contains about one

This new territory contains about one hundred and sixty thousand square miles; that is to say, it is nearly four times as big as the State of New York. It is bounded on the west by Idaho, on the south and east by Dakotalt, and on the north by the British possessions. But what is the use of mentioning boundaries which are them-selves unknown to the average reader, who demands in turn: Where is Idaho? Where is Dakotah? To those who studied geo-graphy twenty years ago, it will perhaps be as satisfactory to say, that if you journey north from Montana, you come into British America; and if you cross the territory from east to west, you cross the Rocky Mountains, which run through is western Montana is a wonderful instance of the American faculty for colonizing. In 1861 when the late war broke out, the vast and when the late war broke out, the vast and regularly organized territory now known as Montana was unknown land. It was very thinly peopled with Indians, and it had been visited by a few trappers and missionaries. In 1862, while our armies were the contained to the contained of the contained to t fighting on the Peninsula traces of gold were discovered in Montana, and fortuneseekers began to turn their steps that way In 1865 the territory had already thirty thousand people, and contained three considerable towns—Virginia City, with ter thousand inhabitants; Helena City, with eight thousand, and Diamond City, with four thousand. Also it had a legislature, a code of laws and courts of justice.

One of the most surprising geographical facts about Montana is that it is reached by steamboat from St. Louis. That is to say, the river system of the Great West is on so yast a scale that travelers and facilities. vast a scale that travelers and freight are now transported by steamboat, and without transhipment, from St. Louis to Fort Ben-ton, in the heart of Montana! The result is that freight, in the proper season of navigathat freight, in the proper season of naviga-tion, may be got to Montana quicker than to Denver City. No doubt this cheap mode of communication will be of vast impor-tance to the new territory. We are informed that light-draught to ats are now building at Louisville especially for the Montana trade. These will supersede the boats now used, which are sometimes delayed on the upper waters; and the day will come when Fort Benton, three thousand miles inland from St. Louis, will be reached by steamboats from New Orleans, which will make wive converse of over four thousand two a river course of over four thousand two hundred miles.

The river voyage from St. Louis to Fort Benton is now made in twenty-eight days; and freight is carried at the price of ten cents per pound. Montana is composed of mountains, elevated plains, which are woodless prairies and sheltered valleys. The climate is dry and healthful; there is but little dew in the plains; but the whole region is abundantly watered by unfailing streams flowing from the mountains. It is better supplied with water than any mining region in this country. Along the banks of the streams cotton wood and other light timber are found, and the mountain sides and spurs are covered with heavy growths of pine, firs, &c. The territory lacks hard wood.

The soil is very fertile on the plains and valleys. Threehundred bushels of potatoes have been raised on an acre. The higher plains, however, require irrigation, which is easily done by means of the numerous streams. Vegetables of all kinds grow readily, and of immense size; and wheat promises to do well.

A SINGULAR COTTON CASE.—The Secretary of the Treasury has a curious cotton case underconsideration. Upon the affidavit of one Charles Ring, five hundred and fifty bales of cotton were seized by the Treasury Agents at Greensboro, Georgia, as the property of the late Southern Confederacy. This property is now claimed by one Poullain, formerly of the rebel Gen. Walker's staff, as his private property. Healleges that there is no such man as Ring—that his name is fletitions. So far, Ring has not been found; but it is charged that he has been put out of the way by Poullain. Thus the case stands at present.

DEATH OF A VENTRILOQUIST .- Tuesday last, Mr. Duncan Macmillan, the well known ventriloquist, died at his residence, Bentinck place, Kilmarnock, Scotland, in the 49th year of his age. The immediate cause of his death was bronchitis. Mr. Macmillan has professionally visited, periodically, since 1846, the principal towns in England, where his talents in imitation and vocal illusion have won for him a name that will long be remembered.—Manchester Times, Feb. 14. AT A RECENT MEETING of the Institute of Technology, at Boston, there was an interesting discussion upon the danger of steampipes passing through and in contact with wood. It was shown that the wood, by being constantly heated, assumes the condition, to a greater or less degree, of fine charcoal, a condition the most favorable to spontaneous combustion. The danger is of course greatest when the pipes pass through pine wood.

THE ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND .- Major General Thomas has, in accordance with the request of the late Committee on the Conduct of the War, prepared a narrative of all the operations of the Army of the Cumberland. This will furnish the history of the war under the auspices of that committee. The narrative makes sixteen hundred foolscap pages, and was, on Tuesday, placed in possession of the chairman.

THE JAILOR at St. Johnsbury, Vt., last week, suspecting that two of his prisoners were concocting some plan for escape, made an examination of their cell, and found that they had taken the zinc from under the stove, and melted in the hollow of a stove stove, and metted in the notion of a stove leg, had run a slung shot in the ashes. They were ready to knock down their keeper and make their escape. The timely discovery frustrated their plans,

THE citizens of San Francisco are startled by a project to construct a new water front to their city, the proposition being to make an appropriation of five or six thousand acres of water to be built up and filled in by the operators. The Alta says, if this is done, many present owners of valuable water fronts will find their lot far inland, causing a loss of millions of dollars to the best business portion of the city.

Suicides.—Two suicides have startled the people of Galena, Ill., within a few days—one that of Miss Mary Jane Davis, at Elizabeth, by peison, having been seduced and cruelly abandoned by a young man of that place; and the other, that of Edgar Crocker, recently of the army, at White Oak Springs, Wis from the effects of interpersonal Ha Wis., from the effects of intemperance. He drowned himself in a mineral hole.

A DESCENT was made on a body of smugglers at Bristol, Mass., on Sunday. The goods were in a barn, where the officers found twenty-eight barrels of rum covered up under the hay, and about ninety thousand cigars, in boxes about the size of a sugar box, a bale of cigars, and sixteen demijohns of liquor, near the door, ready for transportation.

MRS. ROWLEY, of Tuscarora, in Steuben county, N. Y., died recently, in the hundredth year of her age. She retained her mental faculties in a remarkable degree, and was active up to the last year. Her direct descendants number nearly two hundred.

THE snow has nearly disappeared from the fields and valleys among the White Mountains. Some freshets have occurred, but none of sufficient violence to wash the roads. From present appearances the season will open earlier than usual.
