CLOSE OF YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS. SENATE.—The following bills passed:

Preventing the hunting of deer with dogs in Millin and Juniata counties. in Mifflin and Juniata counties.

Regulating tolls on incorporated toll bridges on the Juniata river.

Supplementary actincorporating the Lancaster and Ephrata Turnpike Company.

Incorporating the Exeter Bridge Company of Berks county.

of Berks county.
Continuing the title of the Eclectic Medical College. Supplement to the act incorporating the Penn Township Insurance Company, for the insurance of horses and the detection of horse thieves.

Incorporating the Bethlehem Zinc Company. Incorporating the Gaston and Simpson

Mining Cempany.

Repealing the supplement to the Coal Hollow Coal Company act of incorporation.

Changing the name of the Wigel Run Improvement Company to that of the Enterprovement Company to that of the Enter-prise Coal Company.

The bill regulating the opening of the polls at elections, except in Philadelphia and Allegheny, was objected to. Also, the one refunding the collateral inheritance tax paid by the executors of Eliza Howard Burd. Also, the one for the improvement of the Columbia dam in the Susquehanna river.

Also, the one incorporating the Pithole and Erie Railroad Company.

Also, the one relative to the hunting of rabbits with ferrets in Lancaster county. Adjourned until 3½ P. M.

Motions to strike out York and Union counties were lost—the former by a vote of 42 ayes to 49 noes, and the latter by 41 ayes Mr. Boyle moved to make the bill a general one, which the Chairman ruled out of At the hour of 1 the House adjourned.

The Navy.

The Secretary of the Navy, in a letter to Mr. Grimes, Chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, suggests the initiation of legislation to ameliorate the condition of seamen; that their condition in the merchant service is more deplorable than that of any portion of our countrymen, and addresses itself to the consideration of the humane and patriotic for reformation, but admits that measures for their relief do not legitimately pertain to the Navy Department. He says that the man-of-war's men have courage, patience and endurance, will and in a remarkable degree, and that his defects are attributable to the neglect of the Government, which holds out to the en-listed man so few inducements to excite his ambition, leaves him without education, religious instruction, expectation of promo-tion, provision for old age, or for the sup-port of a wife and children, and consigns nim in his last days to the hospital or naval asvlum. He recommends the establishment of a home for their declining years, or an allowance of retired pay after twenty years in service. To secure something of the intelligence, trustworthiness and sobriety of those who volunteered for the war, he would have established school ships at the princi-pal seaports, where they may be taught the rudiments of an English education and the duties of a sailor. Of these, about sixty should, each year, be transferred to the Naval Academy; those next in proficiency can be made warrant officers, and the third grade can be made petty officers, the re-mainder sailors. This will open to apprentices the highest honors in the naval service and invite a better class of boys to enlist. He maintains the great superiority of this over the present system, among which only one-fifth are successful, and the remainder leave the service after putting the Government of the service after putting the covernment. ment to much expense. He explains the failure of the law of 1837, from its committing the Government to the anomaly of educating boys for the naval service without any place or promise of promotion. Under it a few of the brightest were selected as midshipmen, but meeting prejudices, incident to radical changes in any profession, they dropped out of the navy in disgrace, and the tradition came down that it was Impossible to make an officer of a sailor, but some of them afterwards attained distinction in the merchant service, and others made an honorable record as officers of volunteers in the war. The Secretary expresses his belief that this prejudice is passing away, and that the legislation proposed will elevate a class upon whom we must greatly depend for our prosperity and welfare.

Easton, March 28.—The trustees of Lafayette College met to-day and organized a scientific course. Mr. A. Pardee, of Hazleton, gave $100,000 and Mr. William A. Daton, gave $100,000 and Mr. William A. Davison, of Philadelphia, endowed the chair of chemistry. Among the new Professors elected were Rev. Geo. Junkin, D. D., late President of Washington College; Rev. Henry Osborn, LL. D., formerly of Roanoke College; Professor Thomas Porter of Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.; Rey. Dr. Burrows, President of the San Francisco College, California; Professor C.H. Hitchcock, of Amherst College; and Major H. T. Lee, Fourth New York Artillery. The citizens of Easton subscribed the funds to erect the additional buildings required.

The Arctic Voyager Hall. New York, March 28.—An opportunity is now offered to the friends of Captain C. F. Hall who may wish to communicate with him to do so. A vessel will sail for Repulse Bay about the middle of April, the captain for the captain of the of which will gladly take out all parcels, letters, &c., entrusted to him. Persons wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity may send their packages to B. S. Osbon, No. 132 Nassau street, Room 23, any time before April 20th, and he will see that they are forwarded.
