Obsequies of the Late Senator Foot.

WASHINGTON, March 29.-The Senate galleries were densely crowded to day, to witness the ceremonies consequent on the death of Senator Foot. Hundreds of persons were unable to obtain admission owing to the immense congregation of spectators The Senators occupied seats on the left side of the Chamber. At twelve o'clock Lientenant General Grant entered, in company with several other military gentlemen. He was in plain citizen's dress. The Justices of the Supreme Court were announced and took a position on the extreme right. The President of the United States, accompanied by all the members of the Cabinet, excepting Attorney General Speed, next came in and occupied one of the front row of seats; and following these the members of the House of Representatives, pre-ceded by their officers. These having been seated, the corpse was brought into the Chamber, accompanied by the Committee of Arrangements, namely, Senators Doolittle, Anthony, Howard, Her dricks, Sherman and Buckalew, and by the pall-bearers, consisting of Senators Fessen-den, Harris, Johnson, Guthrie, Lane (Ind.), Sumner, all of them wearing white scarfs.

scarfs. The coffin was placed immediately in front of the Secretary's desk. It was covered with black cloth, elaborately and tastefully ornamented with silver; the lid was adorned with choicest flowers, and bore a plate with the inscription of the name of the deceased and the date of his birth and death. The immediate relatives and family friends occupied seats on the left and in the locality of the coffin.

There were present besides those above mentioned, members of the Diplomatic Corps, officers of the army and navy, the Mayor of Washington, Chiefs of Executive Bureaus and many others on the floor of the Senate.

The President of the Senate pro tempore,

"The President of the Senate pro tempore, Mr. Foster, presided. Rev. Dr. Gray, the Chaplain of the Senate, opened the exercises by reading appropriate passages of Scripture, and by a prayer of deep solemnity, in which he feelingly al-luded to the distinguished character of the deceased, and the Christian virtues which adorned his life; and imploring the Divine blessing on the President and his advisers, so that they may derive wisdom from above, the better to discharge the high and responthe better to discharge the high and respon-sible duties resting upon them. The Rev. Byron Sunderland, former chaplain of the Senate, took for his text the following words: "Like as a father. pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him;" and then delivered an address, in the course of which he said that in the providence of God he was the that in the providence of God he was the friend and pastor of the deceased for many years, and now he came as an humble ser-vant of the State of Vermont to tell the simple story of his going out from among us, from the commencement of his last illness to its close.

In order to show the condition of the Senator's mind, his religious faith and hopes, nator's mind, his religious faith and hopes, and his ideas and prospects of a future state, the minister gave an account of the spiritual interviews with his friend, who, on one of the occasions, spoke of his life having been wasted in not having devoted himself to life's greatest end, remarking that he could not be sufficiently thankful to God for giving him pious parents. The conclusion of the narrative was that Senator Foot solemnly dedicated himself to God. and died strong and joyous in the

God, and died strong and joyous in the Christian faith. He had, during the inter-views, said if he had an enemy on earth he was thankful he did not know it, and asked God to forgive him if he had an God to forgive him if he had ever done wrong or injustice to any one.

The accounts given by the minister of the last moments of the deceased with distinguished visitors and friends, affected many of the auditors to terra and auditors to tears, and every one listened with intense interest. The reverend gentleman said, on Wednesday morning, at o'clock, the dying Senator expressed a wish to see once more the light of the sun in the heavens, and the Capitol on which it shone, and where he had so long served the people of his State and country, and where his associates were soon to assemble. They his associates were soon to assemble. They lifted him up; his eyes were already dim; he sunk back on his pillow. The words of the twenty-third Paalm were read and a solemn prayer delivered by one who was the dearest to him on earth. He called her to his side and folded her in his arms, ask-ing: "Can this he deare ?" ing: "Can this be death? Has it come al ready?" Then lying, with eyes of celestial radiance, and lifting up his hands, he said : "I see it; I see the gates wide open; beauti-ful! beautiful!" and without a pang he immediately expired. The minister inculcated the lesson that divine grace vouchsafes and fills the dving scene with memorials the most lasting o all human experience on earth, and asked in conclusion who would not exclaim, in the language of one of old, "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like big." Moyamensing Prison yesterday morning The following evidence was elicited: The following evidence was elicited: Andrew Fleming, sworn-I am a keeper in the prison, and had charge of Christian Berger; on Monday his mother was allowed to see him and gave him an apple, part of which he ate; since then no one has visited him but a minister of the gospel and official visiters; I never knew of his threatening to take his life; yesterday I was at his cell a little after seven o'clock; at dinner time I was there again, and he asked to have more meat; about five o'clock, I again went to the cell, and found him lying on his face on the floor: his face be like his." Rev. Dr. Boynton, the Chaplain of the House, made the concluding prayer, in which he said that Senator Foot was more than a statesman and an honest man, he was a Christian, the noblest exhibition of manhood this side the grave. He then pro-nounced the benediction, and the funeral ceremonies being concluded, a procession was formed in the following order: The Chaplains of Congress for the occa-sion; the Physicians who attended the delying on his face on the floor; his face was a blackish red, and when I lifted him up he could not speak, I remained with him well on to six o'clock; I asked ceased; the Committee of Arrangements and Pall Bearers; the families and friends of the deceased; the Senator and Representatives from the State of Vermont, as mourners; with him well on to six O'ClOCK; I asked him if he had been taking anything, and he said he had not; Dr. Klapp had been sent for and he examined Berger and felt his pulse; before I left him he said Fleming, can you do anything for me; I did not see him again until I found him this morning dond; he was build on the said or we citizens of the State of Vermont: the Ser-geant-at-Arms of the Senate of the United States; the members of the Senate, preceded by the Desident of the Senate and for the Senate of the Senate and the Senate of the Senate and the Senate of the Senate and the Sen by the President of the Senate, protein, and Secretary of the Senate; the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives; the members of the House of Representatives, preceded by its Speaker and Clerk: the President of the United States; the Heads dead; he was lying on his side, head down last week he complained of feeling unwell and said he was worried; he was a hearty of Departments; the Diplomatic Corps; the Judges of the United States; Officers of the Executive Departments; Officers of the Army and Navy; the Mayor of Washing-ton: citizens end stangages Dr. H. The expected approach of cholera to the country during the summer has induced Major General Terry, commanding the de-partment of Virginia, to issue the following order, which is destined to furnish ample means to prevent its visitation in this sec-tion of the State. No delay will be neces-sary to carry into execution the various provisions of the order, which, it is pre-sumed, will go into operation immediately. It is proposed to place a large number of tents on the beach, just beyond the fortress, for the accommodation of small-pox pa-tients, and several hospitals at Newport for the accommodation of simal-pox pa-tients, and several hospitals at Newport News, Va., opened during the war, will be prepared exclusively for the reception of cases of cholera, should any occur. Influence of Social Position on Life. It is said proverbially that poverty favors longevity, because the poor are not subjected to the bad consequences of luxury, and wealth. Dr. Majer shows the folly of the popular dictum. It has been proved by the researches of Benois-ton, De Chatauneuf, De Vilerme, Casper and others that the value of life is less among the impoverished than the rich. Thus, of an equal number of infants of the same age double the number will die of the poorer than of the wealthier class. Where there is the greatest misery, there is the greatest mortality. According to Casper, the mean duration of life among the better classes of Berlin is fifty years, but among the paupers thirty-two years only. The same writer compares the death rate noble houses given in the Almanach De Gotha with the indigent of Berlin, and he shows that of 1,000 infants among the former, 57 die in the first five years; but of the same.number among the latter, 345. Whilst half of the poor only have attained the thirty-second year of life, have of the noble have attained the fifty-second. During epidemics the poorer classes are in an especial manner decimated. That simple well-being prolongs life is demonstrated by the low rate of mortality among persons who "assure" their lives in the assurance offices. A fifth or sixth part of negro slaves die annually. But the mortality among the free negroes who serve in the English colored regiments is only 3 per cent., that of slaves being 17 per cent. The learned professions, followed generally by persons of easy means, have an incontestable influence upon the duration of life. Thus, the mean age of fifty-two French literary men was sixty-nine years. Physicians, according to Dr. Escherich, cannot hope for a long life. At all periods of age they succumb in larger numbers than other professions. But the greatest mortality is during the early periods. Three-fourth die before fifty years of age, and ten-elevenths before sixty. Old men are rare among them.--Half-Yearly Abstract of Medical Science, etc.

CONGRESS-A FRENCH VIEW.-A letter from a French tourist who visited Washington says: "I lost my time in Congress. Firstly, badly heard the orators from the position I occupied, and then Congress is not every day the realm of eloquence. It is said that American eloquence has degenerated, and that formerly it counted real geniuses; at present its greatest merit is an inexhaustible and tiresome facility. There are two man-pers, or rather two pieces of eloquence. First, that of the Senate resembles a conversation interspersed with disputations of an affected gentleness; the empty benches, the thinly occupied galleries, the President half asleep in his seat—all there invites to quiet-ness and to the peaceable expedition of af-fairs. The House, on the contrary, is a tumplingue sea, contrary of the invites galleries filled with people. The number of members is small compared with that of the English House of Commons, or even with the English House of Commons, or even with
