THE GAME OF ORIENT CLIME. The following capital song, composed several years ago, by Rev. P. Marshall, was sung at a recent anniversary of the New Castle Chess Club, England.

AIR-" Old English Gentleman." I'll sirg you a good old song, that relates of a rare old game; Perhaps 'twas play'd in Paradise, far from the East it came, In many a land, in many a clime, by many a changing name, Have . uil three thousand years proclaim'd the everof this fine old game of ancient days, the game of Orient

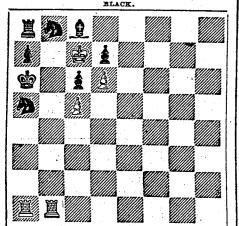

Of chivalry's bright days it tells, with its Knights and Queens and Kings, Of tourneys bold, of castles old, and such romantic things; practices, and much that lasting honor Of courtin brings To warriors brave and statesmen grave, whose praise the nation sings, Of this fine old game of ancient days, this game of Orient

But not alone with Kingly hall or castle is its fate. It loves the humble cottage too, the low as well's the great; Hence, step by step, the plebelan pawn may glory emu-And prove that honest humble worth's the balwark o' the State. This fine old game of ancient days, the game of Orient

It shows how States are govern'd, how mutual aid a blows how blatts he govent, how initial and should be.
How subjects should protect their King, the King from harm be nee;
And how the Queen should love her lord; and the Bishop rule bis see:
And how the Knight should die in fight for his King and liberty.
In this fine old game of ancient days, this game of Orient clime.

Then let us ever cherish it-this game, that, well de-fin'd. fin'd, Reveal, our life's enchequer scene, where the prizes are mankind; And as each circling year revolves, we'll garlands in-tertwine. And wreath our caps to celebrate this glorious game in This fine old game of ancient days, this game of Orient
